MEETING OF SYNOD

Evangelical Lutherans Hold Annual Session

WILL UNITE WITH CALIFORNIA FOR A SEMINARY.

Rev. Leas, of Portland, is Re-elected President for Fifth Time.

The Pacific Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church was held in this city last Wednesday to Sunday inclusive. The election of officers resulted in the choice of Rev. J. A. Lens, of Portland, for president to succeed himself. This is the sixth time Rev. Leas has been elected presiding officer of the Pacific Synod. Rev. Emil Miller of San Jose, Cal., was elected secretary, and Rev. Theophil Schoenberg, of Bellingham, Washington, was chosen treasurer. The president's report was heard and referred to a committee. The treasurer, unable to be present, sent his report with the delegate from Seattle; this report showed a healthy growth in the cause of missions, the offerings for this purpose being larger than ever before. The president of the California Synod, Rev. W. E. Crouser, attended the synod in this city as a representative from his synod and seminary committee.

The most impressive service took place Thursday evening when Rev. F. W. Bussard, theological candidate, was ordained, Rev J. A. Leas, president of the synod, conducted the ordination services. Rev. Walter Irving Eck, of Vancouver, officiated at the liturgical service and the charge was delivered by Rev. W. Stover, of Tacoma, who based his sermon upon II amothy, iv, 1 and 2, and Rev. Emil Meyer, of San Jose, administered the sacrament of the Lord's supper. Rev Mr. Bussard will take charge of a mission at Salt Lake City.

Friday a paper on "The Faith that Saves," by Rev. C. F. Bochner, of Camas. Washington, was well received and called for an animated discussion. The substance of the paper was presented in four thoses which were ordered by the Synod to be printed in its minutes. A paper on "The Mis-sions and Their Needs," prepared and the collision, ran up Singer Hill.

fire fighting equipment of the volunteer department. It is no less durable than its bulky predecessor, but is considerably lighter in weight and can be handled with greater ease. The Hooks are more than proud of the city and they believe that time will demonstrate that the $825 paid by the city for the truck, was well expended. C. N. Greenman, the veteran expressman, is one of the ploneer firemen of Hawaiian Band and Glee Club-State the city, and recalls that prior to the use of the old hook and ladder truck, the city owned one of the old-fashloned hand-pumps, which was known as McLoughlin No. 1. At the time the now discarded truck was acquired, Col. W. L. White was chief of the department. Mr. Greenman became a member of the department in March 1871 although before that time he was always in evidence at fires, and in the seven years following, he was absent from roll call but twice.

The new truck comes direct from the factory at Elmira, N. Y. Its equipment consists of one 40-foot extension trusset ladder, one 24-foot, one 20-foot, one 16-foot, all single ladders; one 10-foot roof ladder; poles and pikepicks, two crowbars, 12 rubber bucktorches, one signal lamp and one gong.
