SOME REASONS.

Why Oregon City People Should Follow This Valuable Advice.

Because the proof is in Oregon City. You can easily investigate it. Not necessary to experiment. With some untried remedy. Profit by the experience of a citizen.

Harry M. Shaw, linotype operator at the Enterprise Office, and living at 605 E. Fifth Street, Oregon City, Oregon, says: "Sitting for 8 hours a day bent over a type setting machine finally rendered my back so lame and sore that I had to go to a physician. But did not get any noticeable benefit from the treatment. Three years ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box and began using them. They gave me the first relief I had been able to obtain and finally gave me complete relief from every trace of pain.

THE OPENING DAY

CHAUTAUQUA WILL BEGIN NEXT TUESDAY.

Various Are the Entertaining Features of This Year's Assembly.

Next Tuesday opens the Thirteenth Annual Session of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua at Gladstone Park. Already at this writing more tent spaces have been engaged than ever before so early in the history of the Park, and Mr. Cross says the interest as indicated by letters is more general than ever before known.

Mrs. Burkholder is in town arranging for Kindergarten Headquarters where she expects to have accommodations for sixty little tots. Mrs. Clara Waldo, Lecturer of the Oregon State Grange, has re-engaged her old double tent spaces and added a third larger accommodation.

Mrs. Essie J. Shane, of Portland, has arranged already for W. C. T. U. headquarters and Mrs. O. v. White has been sent by Philomath College to take charge of their headquarters.

Mrs. Brodie reports a better musical sentiment than she has ever known and thinks the Fourth of July training will mark the beginning of a new musical enthusiasm in Clackamas county. Few realize what the Chautauqua has been silently doing for this county and state during the last dozen years. More young people have entered colleges, and have become interested in making something of themselves than in any twenty or forty previous years, and the culture and refinement of the best centers of education has deeply rooted itself in this county that boasts no college of its own.

Opening Day, Tuesday, July 10, 1906. MORNING.

EVERYBODY IN OREGON CITY KNOWS HUNTLEY BROS.

Have Confidence When He Tells You Pepsikola Tablets Do Cure Indigestion.

Possibly you may think our only reason for praising these tablets is because of the small profit we make on each 25 cent box, but how little satisfaction there would be in recommending a remedy that would disappoint you and thereby lose your trade.

This thing of selling a worthless article is mighty poor business policy. Square dealing always pays best and when we tell you what Pepsikola tablets will do, our confidence is based on our own personal experience in selling them here in Oregon City year after year.

There isn't a remedy in this store that we recommend more highly and unless Pepsikola tablets really do what we claim for them how utterly useless our efforts would be.

For coated tongue, sour stomach, wind belching, fullness after eating, heart burn, sleeplessness, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion we recommend them with every confidence and always refund the 25c should you fail to receive the benefits expected.

PROFILES.

The idea of profile likenesses was discovered purely through chance. In 330 B. C. Antigonus had his picture drawn, and as he had only one eye, a profile view was made to conceal this deformity.

Plain Clothes Men.

In a small South American state which had recently undergone a change of administration the new potentate summoned an artist and ordered new designs for all the official uniforms.

"I wish showy costumes—very showy," he said, "for the people are impressed by them. I have here some sketches that I myself have made. Look them over and be guided by these ideas as far as possible."

The artist examined the sketches carefully.

"This," he said, turning the pages, "is evidently for the navy and this for the army, but, if you please, what is this—a long plume on a three cornered hat, yellow dress coat trimmed with purple, and—"

"That," replied the chief of state gravely, "is for the secret police."

Be Kind Today.

Less spent on the dead and more spent on the living would bring about many happy results. Hearts are breaking, loved ones wait and tears flow all because of the withholding of kind words unspoken and letters never sent. The aged father and mother far off in the country would often be cheered did the son or daughter more frequently send them a letter. Behold the sad mistakes of others, their remorse, and profit by the same before it is too late. Today, now, speak the loving word, send the tender message, write the letter you put off day by day, and don't wait until you forget it or until bitter memories haunt you.

A Brazilian Household Pet.

Brazilians train a snake called the gtoiba as a rat catcher. It is fifteen feet long, is harmless to the human being, becomes quite a household pet, is lazy in the daytime, but at night roams about the house in quest of its prey—rats. These animals it promptly kills by twisting their necks. When Brazilians have to pass from room to room in the dark they first put on their slippers. It would not be pleasant to plant one's bare feet on a cold slimy snake of that size.

Weak Human Nature.

From many selections from Marcus Aurelius we choose this as showing his keen insight into this weak human nature of ours: "I have often wondered how it is that every man loves himself more than all the rest of men, but yet sets less value on his own opinion of himself than on the opinion of others."

Gave the Sun Permission to Set. "One of the odd things that I saw in a trip up the east coast of Africa was the permission given each day by one of the kings for the sun to set," said a man who made a trip to South Africa.

"At one of the ports where we stopped the soldiers were drawn up on the parade ground before the royal palace as the sun was setting. With pomp and ceremony the ruler advanced to the front of the balcony on the second floor and majestically waved his hand toward the sun.

"One of his subjects explained to me that it was the royal sanction for the sun to set. When asked as to whether the ruler gave his permission for the sun to rise in the morning the man replied that the sun must always rise before the ruler, but that it could never go down unless the royal hand waved approval. The king who did this was the sultan of Zanzibar.

"I hardly believe that he himself was sincere in thinking his permission necessary, for he was educated for four years at Harrow college in England, but the performance was to increase the belief among the subjects in his divine origin."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

CLOCKS.

The invention of clocks is by no means a modern one. Clocks which were run by weights were used by the Saracens at the time of the Crusades, and some authorities state that they were invented by Pacificus as early as the ninth century.

As to machines which struck the hours and clocks must have been used in Italy about the end of the thirteenth century. The oldest clock of which there is any certain record was erected in a tower in the palace of Charles V. of France in 1364.
