WILL SACRIFICE HIS HOME.

In all the dirty mess and muss of the Holly Rollers, killing of Creffield, trial of Mitchell and finally the killing of Mitchell by his sister Esther, the conduct of one person has shown out like a beacon in a storm. O. V. Hurt of Corvallis, the father of Mrs. Creffield, has been an example of a true man who has remained true and manly under the worst load of trouble conceivable.

His home was broken up by the infamous Creffield, his daughter has reviled him, but now when her need is greatest, when she has hardly a friend, he offers to sacrifice his little home at Corvallis to provide money for her defense.

He displaced Creffield and fought against his infamous doctrines and influence; his testimony went farthest toward clearing Mitchell; he knows his daughter was an accomplice to Mitchell's murder, but see the great heart of the man in writing to Mrs. Creffield's attorney:
"I am greatly upset by the shock," states the letter, "but there is nothing in view of the circumstances, that I can do but offer assistance to my deluded daughter. My little home here will only bring about $500 on a mortgage, but I am willing to sacrifice it for my daughter's sake. If the two women are tried together, I am willing to back both of them."

The following just tribute to Mr. Hurt appeared editorially in the Oregonian:
"Any dissatisfied and unhappy citizen who thinks that he has a rough time in his daily life, and that the world doesn't treat him well, should pause long enough to consider the case of Mr. O. V. Hurt, of Corvallis. It is not necessary to enter into details as to the recent history of the Hurt family, for every one knows it; and every one feels that few men have deserved more and got less from the hands of fortune or Providence, than Mr. Hurt. Yet he has complained not at all, but has met each new vicissitude with remarkable fortitude and rare devotion to his high conception of his duty. The members of his family have thought little of Mr. Hurt, but they have received much from him—far more than many another husband and father in like circumstances could or would have given. Now he is going to see that his misguided daughter, who abandoned and reviled him, has proper legal defense in her trial at Seattle. It is a fine thing for him to do—just as his entire conduct throughout his terrible trouble, or series of troubles, has been something really beautiful and noble."

FOUR DIVISIONS OF GOVERNMENT IN OREGON.
Now Mr. U'Ren proposes to draft a law regulating the use of money in political campaigns. Will it be enacted? Of course it will, says the Oregonian. In Oregon the state government is divided into four departments—the executive, judicial, legislative and Mr. U'Ren—and it is still an open question which exerts the most power. One fact must be considered in making comparisons: That the Legislature does not dare to repeal the acts of Mr. U'Ren, the executive has no opportunity to veto them, and thus far the judiciary has upheld all his laws and constitutional amendments. On the contrary, Mr. U'Ren has boldly clobbered the wings of the executive and legislative departments and when he gets time will doubtless put some shackles on the Supreme Court. To date, the indications are that Mr. U'Ren outweighs any one, and perhaps all three, of the other departments.

thought he was a candidate for president two years ago. But there are others. "Jim" Hill, the big railroad magnate, was in Portland the other day and the Oregonian had a picture with his name above it on the front page, but if it wasn't an old cut of Fred Douglass, the negro orator, then appearances are surely deceiving. In the same issue, the Oregonian had a picture of the old U. S. S. Charleston for the new cruiser of that name.

The ice trusts are being investigated all over the country. The revelation by the ice king of Kansas City, that it costs only $1.75 a ton to manufacture ice and deliver it, is causing prosecuting attorneys to sit up and take notice. Ice that costs the factory less than $2 a ton put in customer's refrigerators should certainly be sold at less than a cent a pound.

Another land grafter has been convicted in Oregon. That state has been hit hard by the revelations of the land steals, and the last of the prosecutions has not yet been reached. The President and Secretary Hitchcock have given orders to the federal officials to let no guilty man escape.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In the naval battle of Santiago the loss of the United States was one man killed. In the peaceful celebration of July 4, 1906, the number killed was over eighty. Peace hath its carnage, compared with which that of some famous battles is small indeed.

Mr. Bryan's speech on the white man's burden sounds mightily like a general endorsement of what the United States government is doing in the Philippines.

An advance is announced in the peppermint market, which is merely another way of saying that Kentucky performed its duty at the recent home coming.

Dr. Baker's "sunshine" religion is the right kind, but will be unpopular with the people who are never happy unless they are miserable.

With his usual luck President Roosevelt got an allowance for traveling expenses just as the passes were being withdrawn.

EDITOR AS EVANGELIST

The Borealis Utters Solemn Warning to Heedless Young Men of Aurora.

The Borealis, whose bright beams weekly rejoice the people of Aurora, has viewed with alarm the indifference to religious matters by the rising generation, and last week that paper contained a solemn warning which we republish, headlines and all just as it appeared in the scintillating Borealis:
PAUSE, PAUSE, YOUNG MAN
LET THE TRUTH SINK INTO YOUR SOUL.
Drink From the Fountain of Knowledge Before It Is Too Late.

The Adventists are conducting their meetings in the English language this week, and the frey eloquence of the reverend gentlemen is burning messages of truth into the hearts of our people which will no doubt take root and produce a crop of dissent and subjects for discussion for many a long winter evening. This Sunday business seems to be a source of much worry to some good people they want to know which day the Creator rested and which day he wants us to rest and fall down before him in adoration. They believe, and rightly that God Almighty should have his choice in days for us to worship him so long as the Devil has us the other six, and we have noticed that some of those who worked hardest for God on Sunday, worked hardest for the Devil the other six days to keep the question equalled.

WOMAN, WOMAN, LOVELY WOMAN!
Woman's Wives.
When a man's wife suddenly puts her arms about his neck just before making a touch, it's a case of being grieved for money.—Chicago News.
Don't waste tears on the 60-pound Seaford (Del.) girl who became the bride of a giant weighing more than 300. In the end she will probably twist him around her little finger.—New York Herald.
A woman is more precocious than a man—but she gets over it quicker.—Life.
How a Queen Proposed.
Reigning queens, by the rules of etiquette, must make the proposal of marriage to their consorts elect. As a young woman the late Queen of England was embarrassed at the prospect of proposing to Prince Albert. This is how she arranged matters: She summoned Albert to her boudoir, where he found her alone. After some desultory talk due to her shyness, she suddenly said:
"Could you forsake your country for me?"
The prince answered by clasping her in his arms.

the teaching here promulgated, but will pass on into the darkness of their own ignorance.
Ah, young man open wide the doors of your intellect and drink from the fountain of knowledge always and everywhere whether it be in the magnificence of a stone columned church that cost millions, or in the lowly tented tabernacle of our Adventist brethren.

EVERYBODY IN OREGON CITY KNOWS HUNTLEY BROS.

Have Confidence When He Tells You Pepsikola Tablets Do Cure Indigestion.

Possibly you may think our only reason for praising these tablets is because of the small profit we make on each 25 cent box, but how little satisfaction there would be in recommending a remedy that would disappoint you and thereby lose your trade.

This thing of selling a worthless article is mighty poor business policy. Square dealing always pays best and when we tell you what Pepsikola tablets will do, our confidence is based on our own personal experience in selling them here in Oregon City year after year.

There isn't a remedy in this store that we recommend more highly and unless Pepsikola tablets really do what we claim for them how utterly useless our efforts would be.

For coated tongue, sour stomach, wind belching, fullness after eating, heart burn, sleeplessness, weakened energy, and other symptoms of indigestion we recommend them with every confidence and always refund the 25c should you fail to receive the benefits expected.

WOMAN, WOMAN, LOVELY WOMAN!

Strange But True.
It is easier for a girl in a beautiful white gown to stand on a palm-banked stage on commencement day and thrill a vast audience with eloquent words about the nobility and courage that meet life boldly, than it is for her, on a sultry summer afternoon, to spend gracefully and calmly over a red-hot stove and help her mother get lunch ready.

Woman's Rights.
While it is impracticable to consider the law in detail, generalizing it may be said that woman now possesses (1) complete control of her person and of her property, real and personal; (2) freedom to enter into contracts; (3) the right to sue for injuries to her character, person or property; (4) the joint custody of her children, though this is a recent development and it must be admitted that the expected states far outnumber those where the rule is in force; (5) in four states the right of equal suffrage and in twenty-two others and two territories a restricted right, applicable only to school affairs.

PUSH AND PUBLICITY.

Push has made American men what they are today. It is the great American spirit condensed into a monosyllable. Hand in hand with push goes publicity as a motive power toward success. The two are so close that it is difficult to know them apart. The man of push is a champion of publicity. If he has a good thing he wishes the public to know about it. If he has goods to sell there must be push and publicity if he would convert those goods into income. What is the use of having the goods to sell if no one knows of them. How are the buyers to be found? Push and publicity will provide the articles to be sold and the persons to buy them. Push and publicity are the antidotes of stagnation and starvation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A TRAGIC FINISH.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child's finger could have stopped, to become a ruinous break devastating an entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth Melver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little child to go unnoticed until a tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life." Guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at Howell & Jones' drug store, 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.
