CANEMAH ROAD CLOSED.

Main street is closed at the flouring mill while the O. W. P. & Ry. company is making repairs to the Canemah road, and in the meantime the people who travel back and forth are compelled to take to the bluff. This condition will prevail for about three weeks. The trolley cars run only as far as the mill.

Fishracks in the Clackamas.

The work of placing fish racks in the Clackamas river below the Cazadero dam, was started too late to hold the fish this season. The racks were constructed by W. W. Smith, deputy fish warden, and Charles Roadermel, and are of a substantial pattern.

OLD RECORDS TAKE UP VALUABLE SPACE

At the session of the commissioners court, last week, a communication was read from County Clerk Greenman relative to the storage of old plats and records that are of no particular value. No action was taken by the court.

There are old records all over the courthouse that are taking up room that is needed for present day business. Mr. Greenman suggested that those records be stored in the basement in the room now used for what is left of the Lewis and Clark exposition exhibit, which is in poor condition. Some of the articles on display have been taken away.

MORE GRIST FOR THE DIVORCE MILL

George H. Crook has filed suit in the Circuit court for a divorce from his wife, Lucy E. Crook, to whom he was married on May 1, 1878. Both are said to be residents of Clackamas county but he charges she wilfully deserted him over a year ago.

Emma Rosalie Woodward has commenced suit for a decree of divorce from James W. Woodward, and asks to be permitted to resume her maiden name of Emma Rosalie Stinsonman.

FOR CLACKAMAS' FAIR DAUGHTERS

Her Ideal Hammock.
A hammock of the ideal kind, in the summer maiden's view, is only big enough for one—but strong enough for two.

Big Hat the Thing.
Ladies with check skirts must get plain cloth jackets to wear with them, as that is the latest Paris fancy. The skirts fit tight at the hips and a seam down the front is ornamented with a row of buttons.

Plain Clothes Jackets.
The big hat is to be the hat of the coming season, and it is to be an extraordinary big hat too, if all accounts are true. It will be trimmed in regular picture style, and many will rejoice for there is, after all, no hat that is quite as becoming to the average woman.

VACANCIES IN CORPS OF TEACHERS FILLED

MRS. PEARL CARTLIDGE AND MISS IDA SMITH ELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD.

Mrs. Pearl Gregory Cartlidge of this city and Miss Ida Mae Smith of Salem were elected Tuesday night by the school board to fill vacancies in the corps of teachers of the Oregon City public schools. Miss Smith has been teaching for the past three years in the primary grade of Buena Vista and in the Peoria school of Linn county. She holds a diploma from the Oregon Agricultural college at Corvallis and was warmly recommended by Miss Addie E. Clark, who has been superintendent of city schools for the past three years. Mrs. Cartlidge graduated from the Williamsport, Indiana, High school in 1895, and later took a course of study in Earlham college, Richmond, and De Pauw university, Greencastle, graduating from the latter institution in 1900 with the degree of Ph. B. She is the wife of H. B. Cartlidge, foreman in the Enterprise office.

The city schools will open for the fall term Monday, September 24, and Superintendent W. C. McKee is expected here from Eugene in the near future to make the grade assignments.

BIG PRUNE DRIER ON CLARKE'S RANCH

Will Hold 800 Trays and Have Capacity of Two Tons of Fruit Daily.

A 40-stack drier that will hold 800 trays is being erected on the I. L. Clarke ranch at Clarkes, and work is being pushed to have it completed in time to take care of the splendid crop on the 25 acre orchard.

The drier is the patent of Hampton of Canby, who is superintending its erection. It will have four furnaces and a capacity of two tons of fruit a day.

Mr. Clarke reports the prune prospects splendid. The hops are also promising well though he is not certain yet of the quality. He does not believe in growers contracting their crops and says it hurts the market. The big profits of these hop contractors are just so much money out of the growers' pockets.

MORE ARE CAUGHT IN U. S. JURY NET

A new venire of 125 names was issued Tuesday in the Federal court at Portland from which juries for land fraud cases will be selected. The names of the following from Clackamas county and its borders appear in the list: John W. Cooke, Oregon City; Henry McGugin, Sandy; Wm. Stone, Viola; Frances Feller, Butteville; W. T. Grinn, Hubbard; Eli Burkholder and Henry Krause, Aurora. The cases against C. D. Barnard and C. C. Zachany are now on trial.

Bound for the Zoo.

Dressed in the latest and most approved motorcycling costume, with goggles all complete, the motorcyclist gayly toot-tooted his way by Regent's park toward the Zoo. Suddenly he slackened, dismounted and said to a small, grubby urchin: "I say, my boy, am I right for the Zoo?" The boy gasped at so strange a sight and thought it must be some new animal for the gardens.

"You may be all right if they have a spare cage," he said, when he could find his tongue, "but you' ha' stood a far better chance if you'd 'ad a tail!"

It is the Laws that Changed.

In 1660 an act was passed by the general court in Massachusetts prohibiting the wearing of "short sleeves to the elbow," all garments being required to cover the arms to the wrists, while knots of ribbon and other frivolous were absolutely forbidden. Women could wear buckles on their shoes, but that was the only ornament the old blue law permitted. Women have not changed much in 200 years, but the laws have.

Rinds for the Complexion.

Watermelon rinds are said to be excellent for the complexion, to be rubbed on after exposure to the sun. A slice of ripe tomato is also declared to be excellent for sun blisters, and the economical girl can get her complexion aided from the kitchen.

LARGE CLASS TAKING THE EXAMINATION

SIXTY-FIVE APPLICANTS TRYING FOR STATE OR COUNTY CERTIFICATES TO TEACH.

Six applicants are taking the examination for state certificates.

The examinations began Wednesday and that for county certificates will close Friday evening, and for state certificates will close Saturday evening.

The board of examiners is County Superintendent of Schools J. C. Zinsler, Professor T. J. Gary of the Willamette school, and Professor L. A. Read of the Parkplace school.

Library lists have been made up by 40 districts out of 120 in Clackamas county and the remaining districts will have their books apportioned by the state library commission. These books will be a great addition to the libraries of the schools in this county and are the result of a half-mill tax levied under the direction of the state legislature.

HOOD RIVER FRUIT EQUALED AT DODGE

Quality of Apples Raised On The Upper Clackamas Is Unsurpassed.

Anton Habelt of Dodge, was in the city Saturday on business, and gave encouraging report of the fruit prospects in that section.

There is a constantly increasing acreage of orchards, and the quality of the fruit is superb, equal to if not superior to the best in the famed Hood River valley.

Frank Busch of Oregon City owns a thousand acres of land near Dodge, on which a young and thrifty orchard gives great promise.

IT'S "MADE TO ORDER" IN OREGON

Summer Weather Is Fine and Dandy, Say Official Reports.

Following is the general summary by the Weather Bureau, of Oregon weather for the week ending August 7:

The drought continues in all parts of the state, the only precipitation reported being light showers in some of the coast counties and in the Powder River valley in the Blue mountains. In the Willamette valley and the coast counties the forenoons were generally cool and cloudy and the afternoons warm and clear. In the remaining portion of the State, both the mornings and the afternoons were generally clear. There has been an increase in the number of forest fires and the atmosphere, in consequence, is becoming somewhat smoky, although, except in the immediate neighborhood of the fires, the smoke is not dense. The mean temperature averaged about normal and the week was considerably cooler than the preceding one. In southern Oregon the mornings were unusually cool, and the afternoon temperatures averaged nearly three degrees above normal. In the counties east of the Cascade mountains both the night and the day temperatures averaged slightly over a degree above normal. The prevailing winds were northwesterly.

Assault and Battery Charge.

Leo Sherzinger of Clackamas was arrested Wednesday by Constable Ely on a charge of assault and battery. His trial is set for Saturday.
