The report of the state board of health saying the Willamette and Columbia rivers are infected with typhoid fever germs, does not cause any alarm here, as the city's water supply is thoroughly filtered and the water from the mains is pure as shown by repeated analysis by experts.

A Washington dispatch says rural free delivery is ordered to start October 16 on Oregon City route No. 6. Postmaster Randall has received no notification to the effect though the news is probably authentic. Number 6 is the route that will supply Canemah and then double back and supply the suburbs on the north.

Eli Branson, of McMinnville, who operated a saw mill in the early 50's on the site now occupied by the paper mills, is going to return here with his family and end his days at the place he settled when he first came to Oregon in 1851. He visited here recently in the home of F. Colwell, and started negotiations toward the purchase of a home.

Wanted, Farm team, harness and wagon cheap for cash. Inquire of C. T. Tooze, Gladstone, Ore. 3673

The ladies of St. John's Catholic church gave another of their successful ice cream socials on the lawn at the church Friday evening. Music was supplied by the German band of Portland, and selections were rendered by a male chorus. Delicious refreshments were served by charmingly gowned young women, and the affair was a very profitable one. There was no admission charged to the grounds. The net proceeds will go towards paying for the improvements on the church property.

A defective flue was the cause of a slight blaze Wednesday morning about 9 o'clock on the roof of the building occupied by J. E. Seeley's grocery, corner Seventh and Center streets. The fire was put out by the use of the hand extinguishers. An alarm was turned in and Fountain Hose and Hook &

Ladder companies were soon there ready if they had been needed, also Hose No. 3. A fire of old papers in the store stove ignited moss around the chimney. Damage small.

Dr. T. E. Beard has sold his practice to Dr. Love, and will turn over his office on September 1st. He also disposed of his residence to Dr. Love, who will take possession about middle of September. Dr. Beard will retire from the profession of medicine, which he finds too binding, and contemplates joining his brother who has a farm on the outskirts of Oregon City in the growing of fruit. This will make a vacancy in the office of county coroner.—Grants Pass Observer.

Captain J. B. Emery, an old California forty-niner, and an Oregon pioneer, spent Monday in the city, the guest of relatives, C. H. Dye and Mrs. Eva Emery Dye. Mr. Emery has been connected with the postal service on the Columbia river for more than a quarter of a century. He was an intimate friend of many of the old pioneers, including Governor Joe Lane, Judge Deady, Jesse Applegate and others. While in the city he visited Rose Farm and called on Mrs. O'Neill, as for many years he was associated with her deceased husband in the steamboat business on the Columbia river.

The Knapp's store room, corner Tenth and Main streets, has been leased for three years by Carter & Conlin of Vancouver, Wash., who are having it made ready for the reception of a large stock of dry goods, shoes and men's furnishings early in September. They own a large store at Vancouver and another at Washougal, Wash., their stores being known far and near by the trademark C. C. J. B. Carter, who, by the way, is no relation to the senior member of the firm, is superintending the arrangement of the store, and the junior partner, Mrs. Conlin, will probably have charge of the store here.

A Feat Indeed.

Susie had tried the teacher's patience sorely, and when the latter looked up and saw the little girl chewing gum, with her feet sprawling into the aisle, she said:

"Susie Jones, take that gum out of your mouth and put your feet in!"

There's No "Gas" About This.

Municipal gas in Nottingham, England, is about 60 cents per thousand cubic feet, while Widnes, a town of 30,000 in Lancashire, sells it to its people at 35 cents per 1000 cubic feet. The Oregonian's Washington correspondent remarks, "here is something for Portlanders to ponder over." If it is, then there are thousands of other similar examples in municipal water systems, street car systems, electric light systems, coal and fuel systems, that Portlanders and all others should ponder over, says the Mt. Scott News. But what good does it do to ponder? It does not in the least serve to elicit less abuse of the "brainless crank" who advocates municipal ownership from prosperous and all-wise "men of influence" in Portland and every other city. The success of municipal ownership of municipal necessities depends only upon proper administration. With honest men in control the principle is, in very many successful examples both at home and abroad, a thorough success and a vast lessening of expense. It is not something to ponder over. It is merely something for smart alecks to sneer over until the people get backbone enough to act for their mutual welfare.

Poisons Are Healthful.

In a new work on food preservatives Dr. R. C. Eccles, one of the highest authorities on ferments, as reviewed in Current Literature, says that too much, rather than too little, restrictive law is what ails us these days. Dr. Eccles points out that canned goods and bottled edibles are protected from dangerous deterioration only by the use of such preservatives as public opinion has been led to condemn—sulphur, he said, salicylic acid, benzoic acid, formaldehyde, naphthols, hydrogen peroxide, and the like. As to the common presumption that home-made goods survive without preservatives, he asserts that these seldom equal in quality and flavor those put up by the manufacturers. The cases of ptomaine poisoning so often reported are traced by him to the absence of these much-abused preservatives. Dr. Eccles says there is no evidence to support the frequent assertion that kidney troubles result from the elimination of the preserving acids taken with canned meats. He says that during the period the use of canned meats have greatly increased the public health has been at its best.

Reliable and Seasonable Recipes

Delicious Ice Cream.

Make a custard of one quart of milk and the yolks of two eggs. Add quarter of a box of good gelatine, sweeten to taste and season with vanilla. Let it cool, then take one quart of rich cream, make it very sweet and froth it with a cream churn. Then take off the froth and beat it in the custard. Put all together and freeze.

A Rich Apple Charlotte.

Cut some not too thin strips of stale bread, take off the crusts and dip them in clarified butter and line a buttered mold or cake tin with them, making them fit very neatly. Peel and core six or eight large apples; stew them till quite soft with four ounces of butter, sugar to taste and add the juice of a lemon. When cool, lay a few spoonfuls in the mold, with a spoonful of apricot jam; then have a layer of the strips of bread dipped in butter, another of the fruit, and so on till the mold is filled, of course finishing off with the strips of bread laid quite closely. Bake in a brisk oven, turn it out of the mold very carefully, sprinkle it with sugar and garnish with little heaps of apricot jam and red currant jelly.

Apple Custard.

Three cupfuls of stewed and strained apples, two cupfuls of sugar. When cold beat five eggs light, stir alternately into a quart of milk with the apples, pour into a pudding dish and bake. To be eaten when cold.

Dora Leonard's Lemon Pie.

Grate one lemon, mixing juice with grated rind; add one cup of water, one cup sugar, yolks of two eggs, lump of butter size of an egg, one slice of bread grated very fine. After baking, beat the whites of the eggs with four table-spoons of sugar, spread over the top of the pie and return to the oven till slightly browned.

Peach Pudding.

Chop the peaches into a bowl and add a generous quantity of sugar; then set away until a thick syrup has been drawn. To this add beaten eggs in the proportion of two eggs to a pint of fruit, reserving the whites of two eggs for meringue. Add half the quantity of milk there is of fruit and two rolled crackers for each pint of the mixture. Mix, pour into an earthen dish and slip into a quick oven. Rapidly beat the whites with a heaping teaspoonful of soft white sugar to each, put at once on pudding and return to oven until the meringue is a delicate brown. Serve cold.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN

Olive Oil is Good Tonic.

Girls who are inclined to be thin should eat plenty of olive oil. Eaten with green vegetables, such as lettuce, cucumbers, cold asparagus and other "greens," it is very good, as the vegetables themselves clear the skin and thus help in the beautifying process. Thin girls make a mistake when they play golf or tennis or anything that requires violent exercise.

How She Cured Freckles.

An old French grandmother used to make a bleach for her face when she was a girl that other girls may like. Thickened milk was strained and into the liquid a slice of large green cucumber was dropped and the whole boiled until pulpy. After standing an hour it was placed in a bottle, the settlings thrown away. A tablespoonful of alcohol, twenty drops tincture of benzoin and any perfume desired added, and it was applied at night, drying on the surface, the face then being anointed with cream.
