DOWN TOWN GROWING BUSINESS CENTER

"Watch us Grow," is the attention-directing slogan of the live business men at the Tenth street crossing of Main street. The opening of the big C C store has increased the attractions of that growing section of town, which a number of local prophets maintain will be the business center within a very few years.

The C C store occupies the entire first floor of the Knap building and the stock consists of drygoods, shoes, and men's furnishings. The store is in charge of Mrs. Conlin, one of the partners of the firm of Carter & Conlin, that own stores at Vancouver and Washougal, Wash. and Oregon City.

Among the other large establishments at the growing Tenth street corner are the Smith Hardware company with a big stock of hardware and implements; the Gadke plumbing and tinning shop, and the Lymp gallery. The Cheney gallery just north of the Smith company store, will reopen in a few days.

OBITUARY.

Died, at her home in Oregon City, September 1, 1906, Ruth Ann Frost, aged 70 years and 6 days.

Mrs. Frost was born in Athens county, Ohio, August 26th, 1836, and in 1852 was united in marriage in her native state to the late David G. Frost, who preceded her in death four years ago. In 1888 with her family she removed to Oberlin, Kansas, residing there four years, thence came to Oregon, locating in Oregon City. She is survived by four sons, as follows: Clarence A., D. E. and A. E., all of this city, and A. M. Frost of Portland. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the home and burial in Mountain View cemetery, Rev. J. F. Ghormley, pastor of the Central Christian church of Portland, conducting the services.

After many months of suffering she calmly waited for the summons of her Lord and master, and her countenance was wreathed with a peaceful smile as her spirit passed from earth to heaven. In her death the family has lost an affectionate and loving mother, the church a devoted christian, the community a consistent and exemplary character.

The death of a mother; ah, here is a bereavement which the child alone can feel. Who can forget a mother? None. The memory of a mother's death is as fadeless as the deep impress of a mother's love upon our hearts. As often as we resort to her grave, we must leave behind the tribute of our tears.

"In sure and steadfast hope to rise, And claim her mansion in the skies, A Christian here her flesh laid down, The cross exchanging for a crown." E. D.

Dissolution of Partnership. The firm of Albright & Klooster has this day dissolved partnership by mutual consent, Mr. Klooster retiring. Mr. Albright will continue the business at the same place, corner Fifth and Main streets, and will continue to conduct a first-class market in every way. Old and new customers alike will find courteous and fair treatment.

Real Farming at Garfield. Gideon Krigbaum, one of the old and prosperous farmers in the Garfield neighborhood, was in town on Tuesday, said last week's Estacada News. He has just completed threshing his grain, and reported a bounteous harvest of 1500 bushels of grain from twenty-three acres of tilled land. That is a yield of fifty-five bushels to the acre and shows what can be done by intensified farming in the Garfield country.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK
