AS WELL GET BUSY WITH COUGAR BOUNTY

Molalla, Jan. 14.-Mid-winter and cold enough.

Some tramp is doing this neighborhood by night. As yet no one has got near enough to him to see whether he has any "Shoe strings" or not. Saturday night Mrs. B. F. Harless was frightened by some one banging and kicking at the door. She phoned for help, but by the time assistance arrived the nocturnal prowler had taken to the barn where he was lost track of. Sunday night some thought that there was a man in town. Guess all the women looked under the bed. The farmers at Damascus are trying to raise a breeze in some way thousand dollars worth of some kinds of products off of one acre of Oregon land. Well, this is getting high value on one acre. If any soil can produce this value per acre, Oregon can do it. Editor, would it not be a good plan to encourage farmers to give their experience on the raising of different farm products to the Enterprise? By this means farmers could aid each other in important information.

It would seem that the grange has aken partly to politics and building grange halls so they can have what they call a good time and also having legislated that some kind of men could be half members of the grange.

The legislature meets today to make and repeal laws. It would be the treatment. a wise thing to repeal our present game law, and enact a bounty law, paying $10 bounty on congars. Anyone that is posted in the destructive work of the cougar knows that it takes about 50-deer a year to run one cougar. Tax dogs $1,(female dogs $5), sheep and goats 5 cents each and pay a bounty of $10 on wolves in Clackamas county. Our representatives When you require an Abstract of Title may as well get busy to think over these things.
