The rate to Oregon City from St. Louis and other Mississippi river points below St. Paul, and from Iowa and Missouri is only $30; from Chicago the rate is $33, and points east at proportionately low rates.

The different commercial bodies in this state that are sending out literature, have adopted the very sensible plan of giving the rate to their towns. For instance Pendleton makes her advertising effective when she puts $22.50 in big type, as the rate from all points in Kansas and Nebraska to ment by making it $25, briefly describ- to Oregon. ing the beauties of the trip.

state of Oregon, and only one-half of its surface is land that can be cultivated, or about 20,000 square miles, and it supports a population of 30,000,with as great a population to the square mile, would support 60,000,tury and during the life of some now ly settled as Java, Japan or China is at this time. The Willamette valley will then be occupied as sites for residences and manufacturies, on account of its even and mild-climate, each inhabitant occupying not more than a block or a single lot of the size of those in the present townsites. Agriculture will be carried on mostly east of the Cascade Mountains and east of the Rocky Mountains, in regions where the climate is colder in winter and warmer in summer, making the land less desirable and therefore less valuable for residence purposes. The various products of the farm will be shipped to this region, where, on account of the pleasant climate, the greatest population will be attracted. This will make a building lot almost anywhere in the Willamette valley or in the surrounding foothills and mountains as valuable as a large farm is now, and will build up one of the greatest commercial cities of the world where ocean and freshwater navigation meet at the junction of the Columbia and Willamette rivers all the way from the falls to the mouth of the Willamette.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longlvity.
