San Jose Scale is not Confined to Fruit Trees Alone But May be on Others.

FOUND ON SHADE TREES

Samuel Roake Finds Twig of Vine Maple Covered With Terror of Fruit Growers—May Not Affect Shade Trees.

Some of the local horticulturists are becoming stirred up over the knowledge that the San Jose scale is not confined to fruit trees alone, but may be found on shade trees as well.

Samuel Roake found Monday a twig of vine maple that was infested with the scale. The parasite was unmistakable, and the nature of the wood showed plainly that it was not from a fruit tree. Whether the scale will damage other than fruit trees is a discussed question. No counter parasite has been found, and the only way known so far to get rid of it is by spraying. The spray itself does not kill the parasite, but the generation of a certain gas by chemicals contained in the spraying is fatal to the enemy. The time and atmospheric conditions are important too, and the temperature must be warm to have the treatment effective.

Whether the scale is detrimental to shade trees or not, the fact remains that it can spread from them as well as from other trees, and they must be sprayed to keep the infection from spreading to orchards where it may do damage. The rapidity with which the pest multiplies, estimated at about one million an hour, is a cause for much concern on the part of those who have trees that they wish to preserve.

Mr. Roake wishes to have the attention of all who have trees called to the fact that the scale may be found on any tree, and for the sake of the fruit industry he thinks that more than usual care should be taken to prevent the fruit trees from being infested.

RECITES HER TROUBLES

A sensational divorce suit has been filed with the county clerk of Clackamas county by May Shea, who wants to be separated from her husband, Daniel Shea, of Portland.

The complaint alleges that the couple were married at Fairview, Multnomah county, a suburb of Portland, Sept. 11, 1887. Two children were born to them, of whom one, Fred G. Shea is living, and the other, Bessie Shea died in 1906.

Mrs. Shea says that her husband's cruelty has made it impossible for her to live with him any longer, and the complaint recites numerous instances where he is said to have been cross and morose to her, and to have used abusive language, calling her by opprobrious epithets. At one time she complains that he said he had degraded himself by marrying her. She admits that she has been afflicted with eczema, and says that this has been a thorn in the flesh of her husband. He is said to have referred to her face as a "rotten old mug" and to have stated that he married her only out of sympathy because no other man would take her. The recital continues the ill treatment she is said to have received at his hands, and states that he has accused her of adultery and of improper relations with other men at numerous times.

He is said to have beat and kicked her and to have made himself so disagreeable to her that she was compelled to leave her home. She states that after she left, he did not contribute to her support nor to the support of the boy whom she took with her, beyond about $25 a year which he gave her for the support of the children.

Mrs. Shea asks for a divorce and the custody of the twelve-year old boy. She states that he has property of considerable value, and is well able to pay alimony for her support, wherefore she asks the court for a decree compelling him to pay $20 a month to her. She also asks a restraining order compelling him to keep away from her, for she says that at various times he has threatened to kill her and she is afraid. She also wants him to put up $150 attorney's fees.

MAN IS MISSING SINCE NOVEMBER

Albert Pasold of Molalla Starts to Visit His Mine - Has Not Been Heard From.

Last November Albert Pasold of Molalla left for his mine thirty-five miles up the Molalla and southeast of Tabor Rock. Since then no trace has been found of him, nor has he sent any word as to his whereabouts.

Next week a searching party consisting of Dee Wright, Frank Pasold and Indian Frank will leave to see if they can find some trace of him. When he left he had provisions only for a short time, and did not take his gun. It is feared that some accident may have befallen him or that he may have become lost in the snow and starved to death.

His brother Frank has twice made an attempt to locate him, but succeeded in going only as far as a hunting cabin near High camp, where the deep snows hindered further progress. It is thought that by this time the snows may be sufficiently melted to allow the party to proceed further up the Molalla, and they will make all possible efforts to find the man.

This is not the first time that Pasold has been gone from home for long intervals. It is said that his custom every winter is to go into the woods hunting or trapping, or to visit his mine. He has never been gone so long as this without some word reaching his family, however, and they are very anxious about him.

WANTS TO INSPECT SHEEP.

W. S. Eddy of this city has his eye on the new office created by the last legislature when it provided for the position of sheep inspector. He went to Salem Friday night to see about the appointment and to present his qualifications as a veterinarian. It is said the office carries a salary of $3000 and an expense allowance of $1500 a year.

BIG JOB IN IDAHO

County Surveyor is Awarded Contract for Work by Government

County Surveyor S. A. D. Hungate has been awarded a big contract from the government for work to be done on the Lemhi Indian reservation in eastern Idaho next summer.

The Indians who have been living on this reservation are to be moved to the Fort Hall reservation in Idaho, and the land is to be sub-divided and the boundaries established. Later it will probably be thrown open for settlement. This reservation is in the extreme eastern part of the state next to the Montana line.

Mr. Hungate will leave about the first of May for his work, taking with him the force of surveyors from here, some half dozen in number. He states that the work will be in pleasant country, although a trifle rough in places. The altitude is high, and part of the reservation extends into the mountains.

H. H. Johnson has been over the land, and has made field notes of the country which are now being transcribed by Miss Margaret Mulvey for use when Mr. Hungate starts his work. It is estimated that the cost of the work will be about $7750. During the absence of the county surveyor, the office will be in charge of H. H. Johnson.

LEAVES TO TESTIFY.

Will Walker left Tuesday morning for San Francisco where he will testify against the captain of the whaling ship on which he had a thrilling experience.

Young Walker signed articles for six months, but found that he was in for a voyage that lasted some four years. The captain turned out to be a cruel man, and the crew had a bad time of it. On their return the captain was brought up in the United States court for cruelty, and Walker will be required to give testimony against him. He thinks the case will be transferred to a court in the east. If so, Walker will have to go too.

FIFTY-SEVEN PAGE DEED IS RECORDED

O. W. P. Transfers All Property in Clackamas County to P. R. L. & P. Co.

County Recorder C. E. Ramsby placed on record Thursday, one of the largest deeds recorded in this county for some time. The deed contains fifty-seven pages of closely typewritten matter and conveys the property in Clackamas county of the Oregon Water Power & Railroad company to the Portland Railroad, Light & Power company in consideration of one dollar.

Last December the O. W. P. company was merged into the larger corporation and the recording of the deed ends the deal. The larger company now controls the electric power situation of Oregon City as well as of Portland. By the terms of the deed, the consolidated company is in possession of all the riparian rights, water rights, franchises, privileges and rights of way; and all light and power business, all power plants and all real estate formerly owned by the former company.

GETS THIRTY DAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

George Gilbert Alias Clifford Sentenced for Larceny from Employer.

George Gilbert, alias C. R. Clifford, the man who stole the suit case and watch chain from the house of his employer G. Criteser of New Era, was given a hearing in the justice court Tuesday morning.

Gilbert fled to Salem after the theft and was arrested in that city by Chief of Police Gibson on a telegraphic description sent him by Chief of Police Burns of this city.

Wishing to be lenient with Gilbert, or Clifford, Mr. Criteser withdrew his charge of larceny from a dwelling and substituted one of simple larceny. The prisoner pleaded guilty to simple larceny and was sentenced to 30 days' imprisonment in the county jail.

Health in the Canal Zone.

The high wages paid made it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Many are restrained, however, by the fear of fevers and malaria. It is the knowing ones—those who have used Electric Bitters, who go there without this fear, well knowing they are safe from malarious influence with Electric Bitter on hand. Cures blood poison, too, biliousness, weakness and all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Guaranteed by Howell and Jones, druggists, 50c.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Both Agreeable and Effective.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. R. W. S. Pelham, a merchant of Kirksville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and my customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by Howell & Jones.

Gives More Light Gem High Efficiency Electric Lamp.

This new line of high candle-power lamps signalizes an important development in the use of electric light, and marks a notable advance in the betterment of illumination. The actual gain is 20 per cent better efficiency than is at present obtained from the highest efficiency incandescent lamps.

High Efficiency Lamp with Distributing Holophane Reflector.

Appreciating the great gain in lighting secured by the use of proper reflectors, there has been designed for use with the new lamps a special line of Holophane Pagoda shades, which, when used with the new lamps form a brilliant and highly effective lighting combination.

Two kinds of reflectors are provided, the distributing or "D" form which is shown above, and which is recommended where wide areas are to be illuminated, and the concentrating or "C" form of reflector which is admirably adapted for use in show-window lighting or wherever a concentration of light is desirable.

The GEM lamp with its Holophane Glass reflector forms a brilliant lighting combination and merits the attention of store keepers and all those interested in the improvement of lighting facilities.
