NO THIRD TERM.

President Roosevelt characterizes as "absolute nonsense" the talk of nominating him for another term. He asks that he be taken at his word. Unless some unforeseen contingency should arise, he is out of the running and the quicker Roosevelt men accept that fact the better the chance of nominating someone who will continue the Roosevelt policy.

The Oregonian recently sent letters to editors of papers over the state asking not for the personal preference of those editors, but for the sentiment in the community where they resided. The Oregonian then so handled the replies in publishing and commenting on them, as to make them appear the personal views of the writers.

The sentiment of Oregon City and Clackamas county, so far as we have been able to hear, is that Roosevelt is more popular than ever. There is, however, a number of strong Roosevelt men who are in favor of taking the President at his word, and do not believe in forcing the nomination on him. Their number is growing, and this latest utterance of the President will cause rapid additions to the number.

Roosevelt's hold on the people is founded principally on two things: Faith in his honesty and belief in his strength to combat the forces of corporate evil. This is no one man country; it would not go to the dogs if Roosevelt should die. The last few years have unearthed a number of honest men—La Follette, Hughes, Folk, Henev, Taft, Cummins, Johnson and others, and surely among the Republicans in the list of honest men one can be found with a backbone sufficiently strong to be trusted even in the White House.

The President will deliver an address at Indianapolis on Decoration day when he will outline his policies and say his final word on the third term agitation.

The machine in Ohio is solid for Foraker but it knows the voters are for Taft. The state chairman has just announced there will be no primary in that state to see whether Taft or Foraker shall be Ohio's favorite for the presidency.

Mayor Lane received a great tribute Saturday when a large majority of the Democratic voters wrote his name on the ballot and thus nominated him over Thomas, whose name was the only one printed on the ballot as Democratic candidate for mayor.

Abe Ruef asks for change of venue, giving as a reason that the city of San Francisco is prejudiced against him. If Henev is not badly mistaken, the prejudice is not hard to account for.

The attention of the council, mayor and business men is respectfully invited to the action Saturday of Maple Lane grange on the matter of a public wharf in Oregon City.

The Michigan house of representatives has passed a direct primary law. One by one the states will follow the example of Oregon.

OVERLOOKING SOME LEADERS.

The Salem Capital Journal criticizes Mr. Pease's article in the Pacific Monthly on the initiative and referendum because of the total omission of credit due to a number of leaders who helped in its adoption. The Salem paper says:

"For illustration, there was once a leader in the Oregon legislature by the name of Senator George C. Brownell, whom we have surely not all forgotten.

"We had always supposed, until we had read this article, that he had something to do in a material way, with the adoption of the initiative and referendum resolution, which passed the senate in 1899 and 1901, but we see that from a close examination of the Pease article that we have been mistaken, and that Brownell never had anything to do with it at all.

"The resolution was introduced in the house by Hon. J. L. Kruse, a strong friend of his, and a member of the house from Clackamas county.

"This article in no way refers to him, although he was the author of the resolution.

"The record of this resolution can be found in the Senate Journal of 1899 at page 315, also in the index of the Senate Journal at page 95

"At page 383 of the Senate Journal of 1899 will be found the vote upon this resolution, showing who voted for it.

"The journal does not show, however, but the fact remains, that Brownell made the leading speech in favor of its adoption by the senate that year.

"In 1901 he was still a member of the senate and the resolution came up for its second passage through the legislature and reached the senate January 16, 1901, and on page 46 of the Senate Journal of 1901, the record shows that Senator Brownell moved the adoption of this resolution, and also gives the vote.

"He made a lengthy argument in favor of it, and had the management of it on the floor at this time.

"We remember that during all the years that he was a member of the senate, that he always earnestly supported this measure, and we also remember that he earnestly supported the primary law.

"This article by Mr. Pease shows a malicious design and intention upon the part of its author to ignore, not only Brownell, but others who made it possible to secure the adoption and passage of this measure through the legislature of this state.

"Men like J. B. Waldo and R. P. Boise of Marion county, also had much to do with this great reform.

"It is not fair to assume that this was accidental, because his support of this measure has been generally known, and the record of the senate was within the reach of Mr. Pease, and within the knowledge of others.

"It is amusing that men are given credit in the article of Mr. Pease, for the adoption of this legislation who had absolutely no influence and did nothing in its behalf at the time that the real fight was on, except Messrs. Jackson, U'Ren, Wood and Jonathan Bourne, Jr.

"Of course, Senator Mitchell is now dead, and it is the custom of some when a man is dead and cannot speak, to ignore what he did for the good of his state when he was alive, but we have letters in our possession and other evidence, which conclusively shows that, without his influence and energetic aid and support, the resolution would not have been passed through the legislature of 1901."

HOW TO RUN A NEWSPAPER.

When a man goes astray Keep it out.
 When a critic roasts a play Keep it out.
 When two men in anger clash; When a merchant goes to smash; When a cashier steals the cash— Keep it out.
 When they quarrel in a church Keep it out.
 When a teacher wields a birch Keep it out.
 When nine women fair to see Whisper something over tea— Print it? Goodness gracious me! "Keep it out."
 When two statesmen make a deal Keep it out.
 When another tries to steal Keep it out.
 Stories thin and stories tall; Good and bad and big and small— Anything that's new at all— Here'em shout: "Keep it out."

Relief from Rheumatic Pains.

I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Roland Curry, a patrolman, of Key West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by Howell & Jones.

PASTURING OF COW STARTS LIVELY ROW

Saturday evening the police were called out to settle a disturbance in the north end of the city, and as an aftermath one Delashmut was forced to pay a fine of $10 of Livy tStipp as result of his behavior. The trouble was started over a cow belonging to the defendant, who according to the plaintiff, Mr. Englebrecht, was always turning her into his pasture. Englebrecht has often remonstrated with his neighbor, but to no avail, and Saturday night when the cow was turned in, the old man essayed to drive her out. Delashmut was not going to stand for seeing the bovine maltreated, and attacked the elder man. Soon members of both families became mixed in the fracas, and by the time the police arrived both of the principals were in a sadly battered condition.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

There is probably no medicine made that is relied upon with more implicit confidence than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. During the third of a century in which it has been in use, people have learned that it is the one remedy that never fails. When reduced with water and sweetened it is pleasant to take. For sale by Howell & Jones.

PIONEER OF 1849.

Warren N. Vaughn, oldest pioneer of Tillamook county, died April 29, aged 84 years. He came across the plains in 1849, arriving in Oregon City in October. Mr. Vaughn went on to California, but being unsuccessful in finding gold returned to Oregon and located at Dayton. He went to the Tillamook section in 1852.

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size, Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N.Y. The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

Gives More Light Gem High Efficiency Electric Lamp.

This new line of high candle-power lamps signalizes an important development in the use of electric light, and marks a notable advance in the betterment of illumination. The actual gain is 20 per cent better efficiency than is at present obtained from the highest efficiency incandescent lamps.

High Efficiency Lamp with Distributing Holophane Reflector.

Appreciating the great gain in lighting secured by the use of proper reflectors, there has been designed for use with the new lamps a special line of Holophane Pagoda shades, which, when used with the new lamps form a brilliant and highly effective lighting combination. Two kinds of reflectors are provided, the distributing or "D" form which is shown above, and which is recommended where wide areas are to be illuminated, and the concentrating or "C" form of reflector which is admirably adapted for use in show-window lighting or wherever a concentration of light is desirable.

The GEM lamp with its Holophane Glass reflector forms a brilliant lighting combination and merits the attention of store keepers and all those interested in the improvement of lighting facilities.
