U. OF O. FRIENDS MISTAKE.

The University of Oregon referendum petitions ar to be fought in the courts because of some alleged technical error in the heading. That course is not only a mistake on the part of who signed those petitions have an unqualified right to do so, and to have their petitions given every consideration, including that of having small, immaterial technical defects ignored. We are glad to see that Attorney General Crawford gives the opinion that the alleged defects are not vital, and we hope the courts will decide the same way.
