

GRAND PARADE WILL BE FEATURE OF THE FOURTH

Voting On Candidates for Goddess of Liberty—Three Are Entered

BIG PRIZES FOR RACES

City Gives $250 for Hose Team Contests—Water Sports and Dive From Suspension Bridge.

Great preparations are being made by the various committees, and all indications point to this being the grandest celebration of the birth of the good old U. S. A. that was ever held in Clackamas county. Two bands will furnish music for the day. One of these will be the Oregon City band of twenty pieces and the committee is negotiating with several other good bands.

The parade will be one of the striking features of this year's celebration, and several prizes will be given for the largest family and other unique features. The Liberty car is under the charge of Mrs. Rosina Fouts, and will be one of the most prominent features of the parade. The young lady to take the part of the Goddess will be elected by voting, and ballot boxes have been installed in Huntley's, Howell & Jones, Charman's, George A. Harding's, J. A. Tufts', Frank Busch's, V. Harris', John Adams', and Walter Little's. The revenue from the votes will be used to defray the expenses of the Liberty car. At the present three popular young ladies of this city have given their consent to become candidates in the contest: Misses Beryl Long, Gussie Humphrey and Kathryn Mathies. All of these young ladies are well known here, and a close race is expected. Others may be named later on. The votes will be counted twice a week, and the Star will keep the public posted as to the standing of the candidates.

Many of the lodges in the city will participate in the parade, and if their uniforms arrive in time, Separate Company G will also join in the procession. The $250 donated by the city has been turned over to the committee on hose races as prizes for that department. J. A. McGlashan is chairman of this committee, and he expects to make definite arrangements at the meeting in Fountain hall tonight.

The foot races have been placed in charge of Howard Latourette, and he announces them to be as follows: 100-yard dash, free for all, first prize $7.50; second, $2.50; 120-yard hurdle race, first prize, $7.50, second $2.50; 200-yard Highlander wooden shoe costume race, first prize $7.50; second $2.50; 100-yard fat men's race, first prize $7.50, second $2.50; 100-yard dash for boys 14 and under, first prize $3.00, second $1.50.

The water sports will be the direction of Sam Stow, and he is busy arranging a program of boat and swimming races and log rolling contests. A well known young man residing in this city says that he will dive off the suspension bridge for a suitable purse. His name is withheld at his request. There will be a grand display of fireworks in the evening.

under the direction of Dr. W. E. Carl. The pieces will be displayed from a barge to be anchored near the falls, which will act as a reflector and greatly beautify the display.

A grand ball will be held in the Armory on that night. Parsons' orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the occasion. As there will be no big celebrations in other parts of the county, it is expected that a large number from neighboring towns will attend.

HUNDREDS OF EXHIBITS AT STRAWBERRY FAIR-ROSE SHOW

First Clackamas County Fruit and Flower Show Is Great Success - Complete List of Exhibitors and Names of the Fortunate Prize Winners

Saturday was strawberry and wild flower day at the Clackamas Strawberry Fair and Rose Show. The showing of flowers is very large, the exhibit tables being covered with bouquets of fox gloves, Marguerites, anemone, buttercups, tansy, lobelia, columbines, mock oranges, blue bells, Clackamas lilies and other equally fragrant and beautiful plants. It was thought by many that little or no interest would be taken in the exhibit of the uncultivated flowers, but young and old alike are enthusiastic over the display. Two eminent botanists, Thomas Howell of Center and F. P. Stauffer of Portland high school gave the correct botanical name to each specimen on exhibit. This interested nearly every one and the botanists were eagerly listened to. The prizes in the wild flower contest were:

First, the Dr. Sommer prize, complete Brownie camera and outfit.

Second, the L. Adams prize, handsome clock.

Third, the George A. Harding claimed attention of people everywhere.

Fourth, the Frank Busch prize, a flower holder.

The strawberries are also attracting a great deal of attention, and there is no doubt that many seeing the fine large berries raised in this county will also put out plants, and in time make this county noted for the size and quality of its strawberries. The prizes offered in this contest are as follows:

First, the loving cup donated by the retail grocers of Oregon City.

Second, the fruit basket donated by the Canby Strawberry Growers' Association.

Third, the Utopian vase donated by Huntley Bros.

Fourth, a dozen silver spoons donated by the Clackamas Growers.

The girls of the "You Go I Go club" served Saturday afternoon and evening and sang several selections. Miss Edna Daulton played throughout the entire session. Mr. Holman of Portland, who was to have made an address Friday evening, was unavoidably absent. Interesting talks were made by Captain J. P. Shaw and Mayor E. G. Caulfield. The audience was delighted with a solo, "Roses," by Miss Edith Cheney, and piano solos by Miss Martha Frances Draper and Miss Edna Daulton. Saturday the wild flowers claimed attention and were truly beautiful, some of them to people accustomed to a more rigorous climate than that of Clackamas county, would come under the head of cultivated flowers.

No one with an appreciation of the beautiful can afford to miss the treat, that the display of flowers and fruits affords in Willamette hall. Even those who every day remark on the loveliness of the roses that have been blooming in the yards, did not realize their true beauty until the choicest were gathered into bouquets, each in its own distinct class. At one side of the hall in front is a table containing a variety of beautiful ferns. There are six long tables of roses, seven dining tables with decorations of roses and a partition made of roses dividing the dining hall from the exhibit room. The air is laden with the sweet perfume of roses. Across the front of the stage, forming an exquisite archway, is a curtain of fish netting with red roses carelessly scattered through it. Some have been pinned on the reverse side of the curtain and show a faintly veiled effect that is artistic. A basket of deep red roses is suspended in the center of the drapery. The effect of the stage is especially pretty at night, with the light shining through.

The Clark seedling strawberry, that secured a prize, are large, dark red berries of a perfectly uniform size. Next to these berries on the table are the Improved New Oregon, and they will soon be improved to be equal to the Clarks, having almost reached that stage now.

Rose Awards.

The first day of the Clackamas County Strawberry Fair and Rose Show showed the great interest that the community is taking in the subject of raising choice flowers, and served to bring together people who have been noted for the beautiful flowers adorning their homes, and those who have worked heretofore unnoticed. By some people it was said that you would be able to count the number of exhibitors on your fingers, but on entering the room in which the show is being held, one is surprised to see the names of friends attached to the clusters of well shaped and beautifully tinted flowers. It is the hope of the women in charge of the rose department of the show that out of this, their initial effort, will grow a society for the lovers of roses that will be a credit and a source of pride to the entire county. A society whose events will become as important to the residents of Oregon City and Clackamas county as Thanksgiving and the Fourth of July. It will be the intention of this society to so stimulate the love of flowers in the hearts of the residents of this city that the town will present the appearance of a vast rose garden.

The roses were judged Friday afternoon by a committee consisting of Mrs. L. M. Lamberton of Portland, Mrs. Jane Bingham of Canemah and James Wilkenson of Gladstone. The following were the awards:
