

TO SELL LIQUOR IN ABERNETHY PRECINCT

AUGUST ERICKSON FILES PETITION IN COUNTY COURT—REMONSTRANCE.

August Erickson, the Portland saloonist and theatrical manager, has applied to the county court for a license to sell liquor in Abernethy precinct. It is presumed that if granted a license he would open the saloon on his place about a mile up the Clackamas above the S. F. bridge.

The people of Parkplace, Gladstone and Clackamas, and in fact the whole vicinity, are up in arms and have signed a remonstrance against the granting of the license that is said to far outnumber the petition. C. W. Parrish filed it with the court Monday morning.

Grave fears are entertained by the residents of Abernethy precinct that a saloon there would be simply a road house frequented by the Portland sporting element. If the proposed closing of saloons in Portland is carried into effect, suburban resorts where liquor is sold will be overrun on that day by mobs from the metropolis.

HONOLULU GIRLS ARE COMING HERE

Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered of Portland was the guest of Mrs. Eva Emery Dye, Monday. Mrs. Weathered is editor of the "Western Tour," a magazine for the western country encouraging eastern emigration. She has just returned from two months in Honolulu, where she chaperoned a party of eighteen California girls.

Next month she will again go to the Hawaiian Islands, and on her return will be accompanied by a crowd of young ladies of those islands sent out by the "Evening Bulletin," the leading American daily there. These native girls are all college bred, and are musicians of note. With Mrs. Weathered they will make an eight weeks' trip on the Pacific coast. Their longest stay will be in Portland, as that is her home, but they expect to be in Oregon City one day and one evening. On that evening it has been planned to give them a reception at the First Congregational church.

Brownell, Dr. Grill, Muriel Stevens, Rodocanachie, Mrs. J. C. Zinser, William Allen Richardson, Mrs. J. W. Norris.

WINNERS OF PRIZES.

With wild flowers and strawberries holding the places of honor, the Clackamas County Strawberry Fair and Rose Show drew to a close Saturday night. The attendance during the fair was very large, several hundred availing themselves of the opportunity to see a collection of the choicest roses and berries grown in Clackamas county. Great interest was manifested in the exhibit of wild flowers, especially among the school children, who vied with each other in the work of collecting the many beautiful varieties growing here. The judges of the flower contest were: Mesdames J. W. Norris, T. A. Pope, W. E. Pratt, M. M. Charman and Mrs. Arthur Warner. The list of prize winners follows:

Dr. Sommer prize, Ruth Notz of Clackamas, 57 varieties. Lewellyn Adams prize, Harold Waldron, 47 varieties.

George A. Harding prize, Mrs. E. B. Andrews, 5 varieties. Frank Busch prize, J. M. Mark, 33 varieties.

Those who won special mention were: Miss Violet Johnson for wild fringe; Miss Martha Parker, lilacs; August Rakei, rhododendrons; Clara Schoenborn, Mount Balin.

The ladies in charge of the show secured the services of Thomas H. Howell of Center and Prof. F. P. Stauffer, of Portland high school, two of the best known botanists on the Pacific coast, for Saturday afternoon, to give the correct botanical name to every specimen exhibited. This feature of the show attracted widespread attention, and the botanists were followed by a throng of eager listeners.

A great many strawberry growers were present Saturday, and all expressed themselves as being favorably impressed with the berry exhibit. The berries certainly did make a fine showing, and many a mouth watered as they gazed on the boxes and baskets in which they were exhibited. Clark Seedlings formed the largest part of the exhibit, but there were also Magoons, Chas. Downeys, Improved Oregons, Dornans, Warfields and Jerseys, the last named variety being the culmination of three years' experimenting on the part of W. B. (Jersey) Stafford of Mount Pleasant. The judges of the strawberry exhibits were chosen from members of Portland commission houses, who, buying berries from all parts of the state, are in a position to judge of the merits of the various berries. The judges were: W. B. Glafke of the W. B. Glafke company; T. Pearson of Pearson, Page & Company, and F. H. Page, junior member of the firm of Page & Son.

These men spoke very highly of the merits of the Clackamas county berries. Mr. Pearson and Mr. Page made strong arguments as to why the local growers should organize, as by experimenting they would be able to find the berry best adapted to the soil and climate, and thereafter specialize on that particular plant. Both alluded to the better prices berries will command if they are packed neatly. The prizes for strawberries were awarded as follows:

First prize for commercial value and fine quality, C. P. Andrews, Mount Pleasant, Clark Seedlings.

Second prize for same, Albert Notz, Clackamas, same berries.

For Magoon exhibit, A. F. Ford.

For packing for commercial use, A. H. Finnegan of Canemah, New Improved Oregon.

For exhibit of Warfields, C. W. Swallow, of Maple Lane.

For largest and best collection from a distance, C. J. Roth of Canby.

Those who won special mention were: Dornans, A. H. Finnegan; Clackamas Seedlings, R. K. Hartnell; Jerseys, W. B. Stafford; Magoons, J. R. Hunt and Thomas Hage.

Reception For Judges.

J. E. Jack, F. T. Barlow and T. J. Gary of Willamette were the reception committee representing the retail grocers of Oregon City, who tendered a reception to and banqueted the strawberry judges, their wives and other representatives from Portland commission firms, at the close of the strawberry and flower show in Willamette hall, Saturday evening. This committee met the Portland delegation at Gladstone.

Brief addresses were made by the judges. Mr. Page complimented the Clackamas county berry growers and offered some good advice on the cultivation of berries. Mr. Glafke said there was no reason why a little later Clackamas county could not compete successfully with Hood River in a berry exhibit. Mr. Pearson urged the growers to organize at once. He gave some valuable directions on packing and crating, and said the attractive way in which they had been arranged in the crate had won prizes for some unknown berries in this show. He said Hood River made a specialty of Clark Seedlings, and he considered the ones grown in Clackamas as fine as those of that variety at Hood River.

Fair and Show Notes.

Judge Thomas F. Ryan has a bed of the large Dornan berry, the exhibit of which by A. H. Finnegan of Canemah attracted so much attention at the berry show. He considers them about the finest berry out. They certainly showed their keeping qualities when everything around them was fading. They were as fresh Saturday evening as when brought in. Unlike most very large berries, they are firm all the way through. The Dornan berry is fine for putting up as well as putting down, because the seeds are so little in evidence.

HAWKEYE LIKES OREGON.

A former Iowa man writing from Salem back to an Iowa paper said: Since we landed in the Willamette valley on September, 21, 1906, we haven't seen a time we wished to retrace our steps toward old Iowa, not that we don't yet honor and have a very tender feeling for the banner state of the Union, yet we find in our short stay here advantages and attractions better suited to our liking by far than Iowa. True enough it rains some here, usually from October 1 to April 1, but not old-fashioned Iowa pour-downs, and best of all not electric storms at any time during the year to cause men to shudder and look for a place of safety. No accounts in the papers of a bunch of stock, or somebody's barn or residence being struck by lightning and perhaps one or more instantly killed. No snow drifts, blizzards, nor anything of the kind to contend with in this coast country of flowers and grass and vegetables growing the year around.

MAKE EVERY DAY COUNT—no matter how bad the weather. You cannot afford to be without a TOWER'S WATERPROOF OILED SUIT OR SLICKER. When you buy look for the SIGN OF THE FISH.

WILL HOLD COUNTY FAIR

Secretary Cross Offers Free Use of Chautauqua Grounds for Exposition of Products of Clackamas.

The board of trade wasted no time in talk Friday night on the public dock proposition. Everybody says it is a good thing. Everybody says it is badly needed in Oregon City. It will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000, and save that much several times over every year in freight rates. The board therefore very properly engaged in no discussion, but appointed Frank Busch, T. F. Ryan, D. C. Ely, G. B. Dimick and A. L. Beattie as a committee to get the cash, and form the company ready for building. It may be built by the board of trade, supplementary articles of incorporation being filed to enable the board to own and operate the dock. The money will be raised by public subscription.

The meeting was slily attended, but those there meant business. It was voted to file formal complaint with the state railroad commission against the S. P. for not providing any loading facilities at Oregon City. This was the result of the visit of Commissioner Atchison to this city on complaint of country sawmill owners. The city has been put off with promises for years, but promises will not be accepted any longer. The committee to prepare the complaint and push it to hearing consists of George C. Brownell, W. A. Huntley and H. A. Galloway.

For a County Fair.

Secretary H. E. Cross of the Chautauqua Assembly offered the free use of the assembly grounds, 75 acres, for a county fair. He made the offer, he said, not to force the grounds upon the board, for he would as earnestly support a fair held elsewhere, but he thought that fine site should be of more use to Oregon City. The suggestion met with general approval and it was resolved to have a Clackamas county fair this fall, probably following the state fair. An executive committee of five will be appointed later to take up the project and are empowered to make all necessary preliminary organization and arrangement.

On motion voted that the board of trade establish headquarters at the Chautauqua assembly, and that a committee of three be appointed to take charge of said matter, and for the purpose of fitting up the same, said committee to expend not to exceed $25.

The following were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Oregon Development League at Portland, June 21 and 22: President, C. H. Dye; secretary, T. F. Ryan; H. E. Cross, W. A. Huntley, A. Knapp, O. W. Eastham, W. E. Carl, J. E. Hedges, B. C. Curry, W. E. J. Vick, W. H. Schooley and L. E. Jones.

T. F. Ryan, W. A. Huntley and D. C. Ely were continued as a committee to consult with and assist the Oswald & Hull furniture firm to secure a satisfactory site in or near Oregon City. Owing to certain land owners putting a prohibitive price on unused lots, there is danger of the factory going to Albany. If it can't be retained in Oregon City, an effort will be made to have it located at Gladstone.

A. Knapp brought up the question of lower rates between Oregon City and Portland. The talk revealed that the whole matter was up to the council, and the sense of those present was to grant no more franchises to the P. R. L. & P. Co., or subsidiary companies, unless low and equitable rates were given.

Invitation to participate in the Portland rose show was declined. No one noticed any Portlanders helping Oregon City shows.

J. M. Sawtell of Molalla was in Oregon City, Friday.

COST OF MOUNT PLEASANT ROAD

The petition to council from the Mt. Pleasant Civic Improvement club asks that the city macadamize the plank road from Fifth and Jackson to the city limits, to a width of 20 feet.

Councilman Meyer of the street committee said the road was in a bad condition, and this was also the testimony of Mayor Caulfield and Councilman Knapp. Mr. Telford, builder of the county experimental road out there, gave figures on the cost. So far it has amounted to $11.30 a rod. The road is 12 feet wide and 20 rods long. He says there was not enough gravel put on, only 3 inches when it should have from 4 to six inches. There is from five to six inches of rock. When the road is completed the cost will not exceed $12 a rod.

The road asked for in the petition would be about 2100 feet in length and 20 feet wide instead of 12, as is the county experimental road. Taking Mr. Telford's figures as a basis, it would bring the cost of the proposed improvement up to about $2,600.

FORGER ARRESTED BY WASHINGTON SHERIFF.

J. R. Henderson, alias J. B. Robinson, time keeper for the basin work contractor, was arrested about noon Saturday, by Sheriff J. S. Haviland of Walla Walla, Wash., on a charge of forgery.

Henderson came to Oregon City about 6 or 7 months ago and secured work in the woolen mill under the name of J. B. Robinson. He went to work for the contractor on the basin work about two weeks ago. He is about 39 years of age and is an ex-member of the 51st Iowa infantry, and served in the Philippines as quartermaster sergeant.

He is charged with forging checks to the amount of $50. Wine and women were his downfall, said Sheriff Haviland. The authorities heard of him through some Walla Walla man who came to Oregon City and saw and recognized Henderson.
