

BEST EVER CHAUTAUQUA

Long List of Superior Attractions Given in 1907 Program Booklet.

MAKING REAL GHOSTS

Dr. Krebs, Who Returns to Gladstone This Year, Relates Story That Points No Moral.

The program of the 1907 Willamette chautauqua came from The Star Press this week. The complete list of attractions is alluring and the talent this year is of unusual excellence. In fact many think the present session promises to be the best of all.

The chautauqua is an institution that Clackamas county should and does take great pride in. Even looked at from a material point of view, it is the largest and most successful public affair in the county. But the other, the intellectual profit and diversion side, is the more important and it rests with our own people whether they derive profit from the assembly.

Every community in the county should buy at least one block of ten season tickets, and by the way, by buying them before July 8 a saving of $5 may be effected. Under the rule adopted by the board the price of a season ticket is $2.50, but if ten are bought at one time they are sold for $20 or $2 each. A club of ten can easily be made up in any community, the ten names and $20 sent to E. G. Caulfield, treasurer of the association, and $5 saved by that method.

Secretary Cross says those wishing tents should apply to him at once and have them reserved.

A name in the program is a welcome one to all who heard Dr. Stanley L. Krebs when he delighted chautauqua audiences a few years ago. Dr. Krebs will lecture on July 9 and 10. He is an eminent psychologist. The following story he tells on how to "make a real ghost," would hardly be classified even as a study in the occult, but it certainly comes under the head humorous:

The doctor tells of a practical joke played with startling effect upon a fellow student at college.

The doctor was taking a post-graduate course in chemistry and was dissolving stick phosphorus in olive oil for a chemical experiment. The solution when rubbed on the hands and face produces a blue lambent flame which flickers up and down, and plays harmlessly around the features.

One night four classmates were assembled in the doctor's room, telling ghost stories. At midnight one of them went across the hall to his own room and to bed, explaining before he left that his chum was out at a dance and would not get in until late and hence he would have to leave the door of his room unlocked.

Half an hour after he was gone, the doctor and his two guests robed themselves in bed sheets, rubbed the phosphorus solution on their faces and hands, and, in stocking feet, noiselessly entered Smith's room, ranged themselves in a row of grinning, wide-eyed, fiery ghosts alongside his bed, and poked the sleeping Smith. Smith turned his head, gave one unearthly howl or groan, and quick as a flash, curled himself all up in a throbbing ball in the middle of the bed and pulled the cover over his head.

As silently as they had entered, the ghosts left.

Smith said nothing about it the next morning at the breakfast table, nor for some ten days afterwards.

About that time the boys were again in the doctor's room, when the conversation was turned on "ghosts." "Oh, fellows!" exclaimed Smith, "do you remember when we were discussing the subject here about ten days ago?"

They all remembered. "Well," continued Smith, "that night I had a very vivid dream. Fact is, I could have taken an oath to its reality. But of course it was only a dream."

"What was it?" they all asked in chorus.

"I dreamed that three devils, all affame, came direct from hell and stood beside my bed, and"

Here Krebs breaks off the story.

JOBS THAT START WITH VACATIONS

The principal duty of an employee of Uncle Sam, after drawing his salary, is to take his vacation. Now that is the government's view of the employee's duty, not that of the employee. This was illustrated in the postoffice here recently. The city carriers were appointed December 1. They are entitled to 1 1/4 days' vacation for each month of employment before July 1, PROVIDED they take that vacation prior to July 1. In other words an employee of Uncle Sam is not entitled to a vacation unless he takes it before he earns it.

This ruling, so in harmony with most of the post office department's rulings, was made known by telegram to Postmaster Randall a few days ago, and it has taken some strenuous efforts to provide vacations for the boys. Charlie Fuge is having his 8 days off during which William H. Cummings, his substitute, carries the love letters to girls on Fuge's route. John Etchison began "work" on his vacation, Tuesday, and Wm. C. Crawford will act as his substitute.

PROGRAM ST-JOHNS SCHOOL GRADUATION

CLASS OF SEVEN WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS AT OPERA HOUSE.

The commencement exercises of St. John's school will be held Thursday evening at Shively's hall. A class of seven, Mae C. Christensen, Mary E. C. Weber, Lavade M. Freeman, Florence M. Draper, Anna M. Michels, Joseph A. Muench and Joseph M. Justin will be graduated from the institution this year. During the past year this school has made rapid strides in growth, and at present there are classes held in the rear room of the Catholic church and in the residence of Father Hillebrand. The enrollment of the school would have been still larger had there been any accommodations for more scholars, but the teachers were forced to refuse many who desired to attend. By the opening of the term next year, there will be room in the McLoughlin Institute for a great many more scholars than are attending at present. The program for the commencement exercises is especially good this time, and speaks highly for the children who are to participate as well as the for the teachers. The pupils of this school are noted for their musical abilities and there will be several musical numbers of high order on the program, which follows:

My Own United States.....School Overture, "Lustspiel,"....Keler Bela
Misses Mae Christensen, Annie Michels, Lavada Freeman.
Song, "The Postman's Whistle,".....Juniors
Rose Drill and March...21 Little Girls
Essay, "Character Sketch of Assyrians,"...Miss Annie M. Michels
Duet, "Kaloola,".....A. J. Weidt
Mandolin, Joseph A. Muench; Piano, Joseph M. Justin.
Essay, "Our Earth in Relation to the Sun",...Miss Florence M. Draper
Indian Club Drill.....Five Boys
"Pride of the Ball".....
First Mandolin, E. Telford; 2nd mandolin, F. Trovenger; guitar, M. Flanagan; piano, S. Clancy.
Vocal Quartette, "Come Where the Lillies Bloom".....Class '07
Valedictory...Miss Mary E. C. Weber

Drying preparations simply develop dry catarrh; they dry up the secretions, which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid all drying inhalants, fumes, smokes and snuffs and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and will cure catarrh or cold in the head easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c. size. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain, does not irritate or cause sneezing. It spreads itself over an irritated and angry surface, relieving immediately the painful inflammation. With Ely's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

SAW CUTS AN ARTERY

Serious Accident Befals Geo. May, Tuesday, Who is Nearly Blind.

DISPLAYS GRIT

Works While Wound is Bleeding—Faints from Loss of Blood On Way to Doctor's Office.

While sawing cordwood on the Hood claim, on the Molalla road, Tuesday just before noon, George May was struck on the thigh by his saw, severing an artery and causing much loss of blood.

May is nearly blind, but insists on supporting himself. He had just measured off a length on the log he was sawing, and was lifting the saw over his shoulder, when the saw slipped out of his left hand, and swung downwards, the teeth striking the anterior surface of the left thigh and puncturing an artery.

May did not think the wound was serious and went ahead with his work till noon, when after eating his meal he noticed the wound was still bleeding, and he staid at home to attend to it. He tied several bandages on the cut but as none of them allayed the flow of blood, he realized that the wound was serious, and was brought to this city for medical aid. Just before he reached the office of Dr. Norris, May fainted from loss of blood and had to be carried upstairs by bystanders. Dr. Norris soon had the flow of blood under his control and dressed the wound.

The man is confined to a room in the Electric hotel and says that he is resting much easier and ready to return to work, but the doctor will not listen to the last of this.
