THE OREGON TRAIL.

Words by Miss Mary O. Douthit, of Portland. If you'd go where health and modest

. wealth In goodly measure wait, Where big crops grow, blights ne'er we know.

Rocks yield their golden weight. Where rains ne'er fail, nor cyclones spoil,

Then take the Oregon trail.

Chorus: Ho, ho, for the Oregon trail! For the Oregon trail, ho, ho! If you would have joy for ever, And die, no, never, Then take the Oregon trail.

For old Mt. Hood, no, never would Lay down his crest of white. Aloft he lifts his hoary head And marks the Oregon trail.

turn, of Eugene, and will take an out. There's something for you, bold hunter, too,

With your trusty rod and gun, For speckled trout in the waters flout, And grouse in the pine grass run. And grizzly bear and big mute deer Along the Oregon trail.

THE OREGON GRAPE. Dye, music by Father Dominie.

Sing ho, heigh ho, for the Oregon grape,

Heigh ho, for the Oregon holly, Her beauty blooms through all our rooms

HAVE SAME BIRTHDAYS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bowman celebrated their birthdays last week at their home in New Era. He was 78 years and she 68 years of age. Both are spry for their ages. They are pioneers of Oregon, having come west in 1870.
