SOCIAL AND LODGES

Oregon City Assembly No. 7, United Artisans, received the banner as the largest assembly with triumph Thursday evening. Visitors were present from Canby, Salem and Portland assemblies. Speeches were made by Supreme officers Dr. Eshelman, master artisan, Robert G. Morrow, supreme superintendent; and Dr. J. B. Olmsted, supreme medical director. Mrs. Watts, one of the state organizers, represented Salem and brought back the banner, which was presented by Supreme Master Artisan Eshelman. The speech of acceptance for the Oregon City assembly was made by Judge Gordon E. Hayes. One of the most interesting speeches of the evening was made by Past Master Artisan George Everhart. Two vocal duets by Mrs. Elmer Cooper and Miss Florence Price, and an instrumental solo by Miss Pearl Curran gave a pleasing variety to the program and were well received. Supper was served at 6:30 and was an enjoyed feature.

After supper the crowd went to the Armory where Parsons' orchestra furnished music for dancing. The affair was well conducted, and considering the short notice given, there was a good crowd in attendance. The dance was to have been held in the pavilion at Canemah park, and to have been for Artisans only, but the rain caused the committee to change it to the armory, and to admit others than members.

The sixth birthday of Master Lawrence Hull was most happily celebrated at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Hull, of North Main street, Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 5 o'clock. Games that little people like best were played but the feature of the day was the luncheon. The decorations of the table were in green and yellow. Little peanut chinames, dressed in yellow and green were given as souvenirs. The paper napkins had a border of Japanese pictures in yellow and green. A large bouquet of nasturtiums carried out the effect in a pretty way. The birthday cake in the center of the table had three yellow and three green candles. There were little cakes with tiny china dolls in the center, lots of homemade candy and other things dear to the hearts of the children. Among the little guests were Maude and Ruth Fry, Lillian and Herbert Harris, Emerson Hoey, Margaret Galloway, Kenneth Soesbe, Carl, Arthur and Marie Rothe, Pansy, Ruth and Meade Oswald, Gertrude Kennedy and Bernice Curl and Hazel Walling of Portland.

A delightful evening was spent by the Gipsy club in a meeting with Miss Marjorie Caulfield Thursday evening.
