

LOCAL BRIEFS

J. M. Gray has sold his place at Oak Grove to James W. Church.

A special meeting to talk of road improvement will be held at Viola Saturday.

A Japanese crew of wood choppers is turning out thirty cords of wood per day near Gresham.

Next Saturday will be children's day at the Clackamas County Fair. Children will be admitted free on that occasion.

Saturday night, October 5, the Aurora band will give another one of their popular social dances in Miller's hall, Aurora.

The annual meeting of the South Clackamas County Bountty Club will be held at Molalla Monday, October 7, at 1:30 p. m.

John Barnes, charged with making a disturbance on an Oregon City car, near Oak Grove, one day last week, was fined $50 and costs by Justice Kelso, of Milwaukie.

A noxious weed known as the Tipton weed has made its appearance near Butteville, says the Aurora Borealis. This weed is said to destroy pasture land very quickly.

The Council of Estacada has ordered a large amount of road planking purchased and will have the principal streets of that town planked as soon as the work can be done.

J. W. Gracie of Milwaukie, who was in the city closing contracts for large shipments of potatoes and onions, returned home yesterday.—Statesman, Salem.

G. F. Smithless, of Manor, Wash., raised apples of the Gloria Monday variety that four of them weighed two pounds each and measured over sixteen inches in circumference.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Clark, who left here about four years ago and settled at Milwaukie, have returned and will reside here. Mr. Clark says he has come back and will stay here until he crosses the Great Divide.—Clatskanie Chief.

County Clerk Greenman has issued more than 500 hunting licenses this season, and Monday 74 licenses were obtained. One man from Canby a few days ago came down and purchased 24 licenses for himself and his neighbors.

Willamette Falls Camp, No. 148, Woodmen of the World, will hold an adjourned meeting Saturday night for the initiation of candidates. About 20 applicants will be required to wield the ax used in the initiation of choppers.

Pomona Grange will meet at Abernethy on Wednesday, October 9. All are requested to bring their baskets well filled as a change in meeting place does not permit of preparations to feed a large crowd. Session will be called at 10:30 a. m.

The Fourth grade room in the East-ham building has been moved, on account of noisy conditions surrounding the old location, to what has been known as the library. The light in the new room will also be much better.

Rev. R. C. Blackwell returns to Oregon City for another year as pastor of the M. E. church here. As Rev. Blackwell has been doing a good work in this city it goes without saying that his congregation will be glad to welcome him back.

As a result of the work of the Portland East Side Improvement Association, there is a strong probability that a new passenger depot will soon be built at the northwest corner of East Morrison and East First streets, East Portland.

Friends in Oregon City are pained to hear of the death of E. F. Martin at Nome. His wife and daughter, Mrs. Sade White, were with him in Alaska. The family formerly resided here. Mrs. E. J. McKiltrick, of Portland, is a daughter of the deceased.

Mrs. Mae E. Mayger, of Portland, has been elected teacher of the third, fourth and fifth grades in the Bolton building of the West Oregon City schools. Construction of additional room to the building is now in progress, and school will commence Monday, October 7.

Five of the largest apples ever grown anywhere are on display in the show window at Howell & Jones' store, the product of the farm of Frank Forsburg. They are the Wolf River variety and very handsome. The display will be taken to the Fair next week.

School at the McLoughlin Institute opened Monday with a fair attendance. The pupils are loud in praise of their new quarters. The six large study and recitation rooms contrast pleasantly with the old school room, while the ample playgrounds give the young folks plenty of room for exercise.

John Miller was arrested Saturday on the charge of creating a disturbance in the Royal restaurant. Miller resisted arrest but was landed "all safe and sound" and given time in the cooler to think of his past waywardness. Monday he was sentenced to five days in jail by Recorder Dimick.

The regular quarterly inspection of Company G, Third Regiment of Infantry, Oregon National Guard, was made Monday night by the commanding officer, Captain Franklin A. Loomis, and 82 per cent of the strength of the company was in attendance. The arms and other property of the militia were found to be in first-class condition.

Beginning with Monday, riders of bicycles are to be permitted to use the sidewalks on all the streets of the business section of Vancouver, with the single exception of Main street. This affords wheelowners a marked convenience as in the present condition of many streets it has been almost impossible to ride during wet weather.

Residents of the country districts are looking ahead in the matter of road improvements, and in two road districts this week meetings will be held for the purpose of voting a special tax levy for road improvement. The people of the Garfield district will hold a road meeting, and at Viola a special meeting will take place next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Jesse Shortridge, an old resident of this city, died at his home on Taylor and Ninth streets Friday night. He was a sufferer from cancer of the stomach and had been sorely afflicted for many months. He was 72 years of age, lacking a few days. He had been a resident of Oregon City for 14 years, coming West from Pennsylvania. A widow and four sons survive him, with grandchildren to the fourth generation.

The dedication of McLoughlin Institute will be held next Sunday, with appropriate ceremonies. As this is a worthy institution, and one that holds the interest of many people in Oregon City and vicinity, it is certain to prove a notable event in the history of the city and its educational institutions. The ceremonies promise to have more than ordinary interest to all citizens of the city. Principal among the speakers on that occasion will be Editor H. W. Scott, of Portland, Frederick V. Holman and Archbishop Christie. The Institute to be dedicated has cost about $11,000.

Recorder Dimick made a run up to Redland Tuesday on official business.

Mr. Wm. Marshall, of Russellville, on a visit to his mother at Canemah, was taken ill with rheumatism.

Kansas City is making a strenuous effort to secure the Republican National convention next year.

News was brought to Sheriff Beatie that the Milwaukie Club was operating gambling games surreptitiously, and the Sheriff made a trip of inspection Wednesday. The Sheriff says there was foundation for the rumors, and he says the lid is on to stay, and he'll prove it.

Next Monday is the last day to pay taxes without interest and penalties added. Now is the time to "get a bustle on."

At a road meeting held in Garfield Tuesday night, to consider the proposition of special taxation for roads, the proposition was voted down by a vote of 14 to 11.

The Meldrum Flume Co. has filed incorporation papers with County Clerk Greenman. Capital stock is $5000 with shares of $10 each. The incorporators are John W. Meldrum, Georgia E. Meldrum and Frank T. Griffith. Articles state that the flume is to be located in the mountains near Mount Hood.

"Uncle Josh Perkins," the latest comedy drama by Lea B. Parker, has been accorded a gratifying reception wherever presented and is a worthy companion play to "Shore Acres" and "Old Homestead," both of which have been the greatest successes produced in years. At Shively's opera house, Tuesday, October 8.

W. E. Barnes, who caused trouble last week on the Oregon Water Power & Railway car, and upon being ejected from the car threw stones and broke the windows, after having been sentenced to pay a fine of $50 for malicious destruction of property, has been released from jail, having filed a bond for the payment of the amount. At the time of Barnes' sentence he did not have the required funds, and was compelled to go to jail.

The Hesperian, the Barclay High School paper, will resume publication this week. The staff consists of Wallace Cauffield, manager; Edna Kinney, editor; Henry Winkelmann, associate editor; Walter Hart and Thomas Gerber, associate managers; Waldo Cauffield, circulation manager; Mable Francis, Louise Walker, Frank Clark, literary editors; Margaret Lynd, Louise Deute, Lionel Gordon, local editors; Sedonia Shaw, Evelyn Harding, Madge Brightbill, society editors.

The Fair management has arranged to have the grounds lighted up the same as during the Chautauqua. Light will be turned into the grounds on the 9th and will be kept burning until the close of the 12th. Water will be turned into the mains by the 8th. Thirty stalls are nearing completion for horses and cattle, and pens will be built for sheep and hogs as fast as possible. Those who wish can camp on the grounds by the purchase of season tickets, which will sell at 50 cents. Single admissions 25 cents. Those who wish can bring feed for their animals and those who do not can purchase at the grounds. Everything possible will be done for convenience and pleasure by the Fair management.

NEW ERA.

James Pitts left on Thursday last week for Alsea on a business trip.

Mrs. Slaughter and Nettie Burgoyne visited the former's mother, "Auntie" May, of Molalla, several days the past week.

Every man and boy and some of the women have shouldered a gun and are trying to exterminate the China pheasants and other game birds that are not overly plentiful at best.

Game Warden Dick, of Canby, was in this vicinity Sunday, but made no arrests.

Frank Zolner of Canby, is sawing wood for the New Eraites this week with his "auto" wood saw.

Frank McArthur has his drag saw all in readiness for action and we will "watch his smoke" as soon as he gets his potatoes dug.

Mr. Wilson and Miss Shannon, of Oregon City, took dinner with Mrs. H. P. Wink last Sunday.

Ed Olds has a force of men repairing the wagon bridge here. "A stitch in time saves nine" is the old adage. This bridge has been expected to collapse for quite a while.

Mable Hoffman underwent an operation last week, and had a growth taken out of her throat.

Mrs. Robert McArthur is visiting her sister in Portland this week.

Horace Harms, of Cottage Grove, was a guest of Miss Ethel Braddt Sunday.

Carl and Herman Burgoyne, of Portland, were out hunting and visiting their parents the first of the week.

Mrs. D. McArthur leaves this week on a three-months' visit with her sister, Mrs. Brown, of Algona, Iowa, and from there will visit her old home in Pennsylvania before returning.

Ola Slyter was operated on for appendicitis on Wednesday of this week in Portland.

Everybody is rushing their potato crop to winter quarters. There seems to be no anxiety for selling at present.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

We wish the correspondents to the Enterprise would send us a letter each week. We want news from every neighborhood each week and when no letter comes from our regular correspondent we find it necessary to pick up the news as best we can from some other source. But this is not as satisfactory as to receive a letter from a correspondent we know, and on whose reliability we can depend.

You are safeguarded in purchasing your clothing here by the known reliability of the establishment. You always get what you pay for—often more, but never less. FANCY STRAWBERRIES.

Some Kinds That With Proper Culture Produce Large Fruit.

An interesting account of the Millionaire strawberry is given in Rural New Yorker, which says:

Five years ago Henry Jerolaman, the New Jersey strawberry man, produced a seedling, specimen fruit, which is here shown. When the increase of the first plant had made a row eight feet long Mr. Jerolaman on going away one day told the boy left in charge that no berries were to be sold from those plants for less than $1 per quart, thinking that would be prohibitive. On his return the boy handed him $4, a customor having taken four quarts, all that were ready at the time. Next day the same man returned and got three quarts more. This was running into money so fast that Millionaire seemed an appropriate name for the berry. This year the finest of the crop has wholesaled at 40 cents in New York. The fruit illustrated was two inches in diameter and about as large as any seen. Many run from one and a quarter to one and a half inches. The shape is uniform, no coxcombing being noted; color bright red, with a fine gloss; quality good, above the average to my taste. Its season is long and nearly every berry is matured. The foliage is strong and abundant, the plants standing from ten to fifteen inches high by actual measurement.

In the same journal is given an illustration of Kevitt's new seedling, which is said to promise well. In regard to growing fancy strawberries Mr. Kevitt writes: For fancy trade plant New good, rich soil and kept well cultivated during the growing season. All runners should be kept off the plant.

Emil Gorafe, a grower of the Dixon, also says:

I like to set strawberry plants for large fruit in August or early September on land well enriched with fresh stable manure the previous spring.

The Collecting Craze.

Every one in these days collects something or other, or if they do not themselves collect, they are generally interested, or try to be interested, in the collections of other people, especially when those "others" happen to be worldwide celebrities.

Miss Ellen Terry, with her usual enthusiasm, has for many years past many years past made a collection of the pince-nez and monocles of famous men.

Fans, old buttons, miniatures, snuff-boxes, carved oak, Inlaid furniture and old time gloves are among the many things that enthusiastic twentieth century collectors go almost crazy over.

Broken china is another hobby that can give a great deal of pleasure for a comparatively small outlay, says Home Chat.

An old Dresden china Cupid complete would be a very expensive thing, but minus a wing or a leg he is of but little value to those who collect perfect specimens and pay prohibitive prices for them.

Hobbies open up endless possibilities, and provided the collector does not become a crank, they give an added interest to life and help to keep the heart young.

Is This True?

I am positively certain that men truly, even if unconsciously, admire extravagant women, and by extravagant I mean "scientific" extravagance, a term I will explain later, says a pretty woman. As a matter of fact only the other day a husband of one of my friends said to me, "It's true that many of us like women to be ambitious, and when they are ambitious in dress we secretly admire their courage and pluck in attaining their ends."

"Now, I would like my wife to be more extravagant. She is far too economically minded, and her one expression about any expensive dress or pretty trifle in the way of jewelry or ornament is always, 'I can do without it.' Now the woman who 'does without it' is not the one who pleases a man's eye or gratifies his taste. It is the girl who knows what will suit her and who insists on having the very best in dress if she can pay for it. This is the girl who claims and gets a man's admiration."

Do It Now.

When a fence is down, put it up, and then it will not get any worse. When a harness is broken, mend it before you have a runaway or before it becomes worthless. When weeds, bugs or fungi threaten, get after them before the damage is done.—Farm Journal.

Celery in Solid Beds.

Where celery planted in solid beds is banked with earth the entire quantity of soil required must be thrown up by hand. Under these conditions banking with soil is not profitable except on a very limited scale.—W. K. Beattie.
