

THE COURTS

Horse Story With a Long Tail.

Suit has been instituted in the Circuit Court by the Title Guarantee & Trust Company against O. B. Evans, T. S. Mullan, George U. Evans, H. M. Mullan, Phillip Striebe, John R. Kelson, O. Wissinger and C. T. Evans to recover $1067 on a promissory note executed January 10, 1906. The note is due within one year from the date of its execution and no part of the principal or interest has been paid. January of last year a representative of the Hartman stock farm appeared at Milwaukie and offered a stallion for sale. The price was $3000, and six men agreed to take the animal and pay the price, providing the signatures of two other men could be secured to the notes. The agent secured two additional signatures, but it is claimed they were not the men agreed upon by the first six. The horse was delivered at Milwaukie, and Homer M. Mullan took charge of him, as the men on the note declined to accept the animal. Mullan fed and cared for the horse for about one year and then brought suit against S. B. Hartman for $516 for the keep of the animal. Hartman did not take cognizance of the suit, and the horse was disposed of at Sheriff's sale. Mullan bidding in the animal for the amount of his judgment, and he has since had the horse in his possession. The signers to the note have declined to pay, and now the first of the notes is due, and has been assigned by the Hartman stock farm to the plaintiff and placed in the hands of Attorneys C. D. and D. C. Latourette for collection.

Worsted, He Appeals to Court.

Justice Dugan, of Molalla, was called on to settle and do the final referee act for two fighters last week. It appears that Brier and Hans Spahr, of Molalla, were the principals in a fist fight a few days ago at Molalla. An old grudge was the cause of the row, and Spahr, who got the worst of the fray, swore to a complaint, charging Brier with assault and battery. Spahr entered a plea of guilty and was assessed $10 and costs.

Accuses Husband of Brutal Treatment

Minnie Hull has filed a suit against William H. Hull for divorce. They were married in Spokane, Wash., December 4, 1902, and the plaintiff's former name was Mrs. Minnie Davis. She says the first week of their marriage he commenced to treat her cruelly, and at Portland, in 1905, she was compelled to leave home, and in February, 1905, locked her in a room overnight. At another time, she says, he locked her out of the house and she was obliged to go to the home of a neighbor to remain over night.

GRANGE FAIR A SUCCESS.

The Oswego Grange held its annual fair on Saturday, the 12th, and as usual made a success of it. The funeral of Mr. Evans, who was grandfather of the worthy L. A. T., and was buried that day, took many away from the fair. But in spite of that fact there was a very good attendance on this occasion.

Then the county fair was in session, and it took a good many away who would otherwise have been there—still it was a success. The display was really creditable and would compare favorably with county and even the state fair. Those people know how to go after anything of that kind and always give one the worth of their money.

"Can a rich man enter into the kingdom of heaven?" "Yes," answered the wise old Parson Broadhead, "but not on a technicality."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A stream in the forest reserve will be tapped and the water brought thirty-five miles by a gravity system. This will insure to the students of the University of Oregon pure water without the necessity boiling it.
