YOUNG WOMEN FOR WIVES

A special from Seattle says: With the avowed purpose of inducing 10,000 American women to go to Japan and prepare themselves to become the brides of natives of that country, Maro Takayano of Tokio, is in Seattle. From Seattle he will go to Portland then to San Francisco, where he hopes to find his plan greeted with acclaim. If successful in this extraordinary design, Takayano will ask his country to send an equal number of young men to this country in search of young American wives.

Takayano is firmly convinced, at the voyage to Japan will be met by an association of prominent Japanese and that if, after being given an opportunity to learn the language and otherwise to acquaint themselves with the country, they are dissatisfied, the women will be sent home.

Takayano is firmly convinced, at least he so expresses himself, that a union of this country with his own is inevitable and that intermarriage is the most reasonable solution of the question which is now antagonizing the two nations.

ANOTHER SERVILLE JUDGE.

The Standard Oil Company can always find men to do its bidding even among the judiciary. These men have their price and as the Standard always has the money an arrangement is easily effected. Not that the Standard hires men to set aside court decrees by "the strength of his good right arm," oh, no; but the Standard attorneys show him how and where he can find a hole through which he can crawl and allow the Standard to escape. And the judge then lays back on the oar of "irregularity," or some other equally flimsy excuse, and the people are made to suffer.

Now comes a Judge Duncan, of Findlay, who has quashed the summons served on John D. Rockefeller in Cleveland last summer on the plea that Mr. Rockefeller represents a foreign corporation that is not doing business in Ohio. The Standard is not doing business in Ohio! How much did Judge Duncan get for his decision? Isn't it about time Judge Duncan was given a coat of tar and feathers? And will the people of Ohio sit by and allow such a decree to stand? A decree which is the outcome of a corrupt bargain between an offending corporation and a debauched official?

People should awake to this fact—that it is not good law to admit that a corrupt bargain and sale can alienate their rights in any case or cases. Right is not changed into wrong by a bargain and sale between two corrupt individuals; the people cannot lose their rights through the corruption of an official—the coming into their rights may be delayed but a corrupt official cannot set aside right by or through any decision.

STATE NEWS.

Oregon postmasters have been appointed as follows: Alesa, Joseph C. Rayercraft vice T. R. Chandler, resigned; Bonifa, William A. Simmons vice Nina Jackson, resigned; Rickreall, D. W. McPheek vice M. T. Eakin, resigned.

Astoria is perfecting arrangements to hold a tug of war carnival, beginning December 21, for seven days, excepting Christmas. Captain A. M. Plant, general manager of the Pacific Coast Tug-of-War Association, has charge of the carnival, which is to be tug of war contests between teams representing the nationalities of America, Sweden, Norway, Germany, Denmark, Finland, Great Britain and Austria. Teams are expected from various Oregon localities and from the Sound. The contests will be for the championship of the Pacific Northwest and for a prize not yet selected.

Yamhill county and the city of McMinnville do not appear to be disturbed by the financial scare. This is the only town in Oregon having two National banks on the financial roll of honor, and one among the few cities of the State whose banks did not avail themselves of the holidays proclaimed by the Governor for their convenience. Both the banks here have had a large increase in deposits during the past week.

Saturday night brought the first killing frost of the season in the Rogue River valley, and laid low tender vegetables which have been thriving and yielding a succession of crops since April.

A California paper heads a dispatch "Russia has Turkey at its mercy." In 14 more days nearly every American citizen will have turkey in the same fix.

hamton, N. Y., quote Mr. Bryan as saying: "I notice that one of the officers of a bank that closed its doors attributes it to the President. That is not the reason. Don't blame the sheriff, but blame the horse thief."

Don't blame the officials who make and enforce the laws, but blame the criminals who make the laws necessary. Blame the unscrupulous financiers who have piloted a predatory wealth that has exploited a whole nation."

A cabbage, weighing over fifty pounds and measuring over five feet in diameter, is one of the latest remarkable vegetable productions by an Oregon farmer near Forest Grove.

Astoria has taken steps to make a strong campaign for the location of proposed American navy yard at that place. Representations are being made to all congressmen and senators and naval committees of both houses.

Western America is not alone in recognizing the benefits of irrigation. In southeast Africa the plan has been adopted on an 18,000-acre farm owned by one man on which are raised many kinds of tropical and temperate zone fruits.

SCREENS OR NO SALOONS.

Editor Enterprise: It is not so many years ago since the temperance people protested against saloons running open so that "youngsters passing on the street on their way to and from school," as the temperance agitators at that time put it, should not see the evils that a saloon presents. Why this change in front? Did the temperance people find they were mistaken as to the outcome in that former protest; or is this new protest an attempt to put the saloon out of business entirely? If the later, why are they not honest with the people and saloonists and come out flat-footed for no saloons under any circumstances? It has been intimated by some that this is the end sought, and the temperance people are striving to gain their ends by strategy and without acknowledging the facts in the case, how much better are they than any other individual who "does wrong that good may come?" If saloons are to be allowed to run we believe it is a wise precaution that there be screens. If things are carried on behind the screens that are unlawful there is now a remedy, and to admit that the saloonist is a "wiser guy" than the temperance man is something that few would care to do.

If you would put the saloon out of business do it, but do it honestly and fairly. Serve notice on him that you propose to force him out of business. If he will not quit voluntarily, then he can sell his stock, close his doors with money in his pocket with which to begin in some other line on which you have not placed a ban. An honorable man—or men—will deal honorably with others, even if those others are saloonists and in a business they cannot countenance.

But the fanatical portion of the temperance following do not want a saloon man to have a chance in this life. They look upon him as an outlaw and without any hope of salvation, in this life or the life to come. Their skins fit so tightly that the least bit of expansion would burst the skin, hence they dare not allow even their little soul to expand. They would not only put the saloonist out of business, but they would ruin him and his future chances, close all future opportunities, wreck him financially and send him and his family to the poor house. And utterances of this character have been made in Oregon City many times since the present fight was on.

If these conservative temperance folk have any regard for the children and more modest women of the community they will leave the screens up till such time as the license can be annulled.

And but for the man with the political bee there would be but little buzzing among the males of our tribe at this time.

Let's have a little history: Isn't it a fact that practically this same excise law that has been presented for approval in Oregon City was put into effect in Colorado? Isn't it a fact that a few months later it was repealed for the principal reason that the children did "rubber" so much that it was decided to be a measure endangering the morals of the little folks? And isn't it a fact that the young men seeing certain "good and moral citizens" who do take a drink imbibing did have a tendency to make these young men admit it could not be so bad to drink as the Sunday school teacher may have told them?

And when we stop to analyze the lives of some of these men who are shouting themselves hoarse in this campaign, are there not more than one whom we would not care to have our children take as "living examples" of how they should live and die?

"He that is without sin let him cast the first stone." And we can't find any place in the Scripture where the saloonist was to be made an exception when the question of target was taken into consideration.

The saloon is not a good institution; we agree with these agitators on that proposition; but let's be fair in our attempts to correct the evil.
