MR. FULTON VS. MR. CAKE. Fulton is back in Oregon to remain ly precipitate a deadlock between the until the close of primary campaign Republican Senate and the Democrat--and perhaps until the June elec- ic tion. It is this "perhaps" that is worrying Mr. Fulton, but he proposes, so the Washington dispatches tell us, to go out in the towns of Oregon and fight for his return to the Senate, poses, with the assurance that this where he has served his state with will be increased to over $8000, placability for the last five years.

True it is that he has not proved his charges against Oregon's senior senator, but he has worked the publicity racket to such an extent that there are people, how many we cannot say, who are ready to believe that Mr. Fulton PLAYERS FOR POSITIONS ON TRIhas done things that should place him in the back row.

It is Fulton and Cake for it. The latter is presumably a popular man, and polled a large number of votes two years ago, but not quite so many as Jonathan, else he would not be running for office now.
