

J. U. CAMPBELL HAS LEGISLATIVE RECORD

SERVED THE PEOPLE OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY WITH ABILITY LAST SESSION.

J. U. Campbell, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative in the legislature, earned a fine record in the last session of the legislature. The Portland Telegram after the session ended, published a flattering statement relative to Mr. Campbell's ability and the things he accomplished. In an editorial the Telegram said:

"For forty days a body of men have been engaged in doing public work at the legislature. Some of them have done well, some of them not so well, while a proportion undoubtedly have served rather the special interests than the public. During this long term it is next to impossible for a man to hide from a close and unprejudiced observer where he really stands. On this basis he is entitled to praise or blame, and it is only fair that his constituents, wherever they may be, should be given a line on the men so that when they next appear for public office, they may know precisely what to expect from them."

Under the heading of "Campbell Clean Politician," the Telegram said: "J. U. Campbell was emphatically a 'fermister.' He was the best parliamentarian in the House, a resourceful fighter, usually had to battle with the other leaders and the Speaker besides, and yet won as many battles as any member. He introduced few bills and helped kill scores. He fought every big appropriation as a matter of course, whether the appropriation was needed or not, and he caused the majority in the House more uneasy hours than any other half dozen men. No one ever said that Campbell did not fight fair, no one accused him of pledging his support to a measure and then betraying the trust, as others in the House did, and no one ever did parliamentary battle with him without knowing that he had been through something. Campbell is a politician, but a clean one. He was the only man on the floor of the House this session who had backbone enough to stand up and be counted when there were 59 members against him, and the only man who dared cut loose from the tie-ups and tell the machine to do its worst. He manufactured a record that will make mighty good reading for his constituents, though he was on the wrong side of the fence on several big questions, chiefly because he was pledged to certain things by his campaign platform and what his county wanted, and what was good for the entire state was often vastly different. Every member in the House could have the same thing said of him; it was more noticeable in Campbell's case, for he generally headed the procession though often there was only one in the procession."

The Telegram speaks of a "Small Band of Notables" and says: "In the little band of men to be noted may be included Speaker Frank Davey of Marion, John B. Coffey and John Driscoll of Multnomah, J. U. Campbell of Clackamas-Multnomah, George F. Rodgers of Marion, C. S. Jackson of Douglas, W. K. Newell of Washington, W. I. Vawter of Douglas, last Jackson, and John C. McCue of Clatsop. There were other men who were known for bills they introduced, as Chapin of Multnomah and Burns of Multnomah; there were men who became known for some one fight, as Eaton of Lane in the university struggle and Rothchild for his tribute to Bryan; and others who were known for one policy, as Purdy for economy and Edwards for advocacy of normals by the dozen, but the handful mentioned were the real workers in the House, so far as debate, manipulation or contest went."

BROWNELL CLEARED OF PERJURY CHARGE.

on the surface to have been made before me as a notary public. "The facts are that these signatures were never made by Howland and Sievers, as Henry Meldrum, Surveyor General, has since admitted that he made them himself and also signed my name as a notary public to these field notes."

"The grand jury had these two men, Howland and Sievers, before it, according to my indictment, on January 16, 1905. The indictment charges that I suborned them on January 10, 1905, so there can be no mistake that the date set up in the indictment meant January 10 and no other time. On January 9, 1905, I called the State Senate to order at Salem and presided all day; on January 10, in the morning, I called the Senate together and presided all that day until 4 o'clock in the afternoon; I was in the Senate all day on Wednesday, January 11, and could not have been, as the trains then ran, in Oregon City, 37 miles away, on January 10."

"The facts in addition, that I have a written confession signed by John A. Howland, dated March 26, 1906, in which he positively states under oath that I never mentioned the subject to him or asked him or even knew that he was going before the Federal grand jury. In addition, I ask all fair-minded men what motive I could have had in suborning these men, for the reason that these field notes showed on their face that they had been acknowledged December 17, 1901, and more than three years had elapsed on January 10, 1905, when I am charged with having suborned these men."

"The foreman of that grand jury was W. H. H. Wade, a resident of Clackamas County, and a personal and political enemy of mine for many years."

Charles J. Bonaparte, attorney-general of the United States, last Saturday sent the following telegram to Mr. Brownell: "Understand action on your case to be taken Monday. Charles J. Bonaparte."

INCORRIGIBLE BOY WOULD NOT REFORM

SENT TO REFORM SCHOOL FROM OSWEGO—LAD FROM MOLALLA PAROLED.

The juvenile court has had two important cases during the last few days, and in one a commitment to the state reform school was ordered by Judge Dimick. This was Louis White, an Oswego lad, aged 16 years. His father and mother are divorced and the latter was awarded the care and custody of the boy, but he became incorrigible, refused to obey her, declined to work or attend school, and became uproariously drunk when opportunity offered. J. C. Haines from Oswego brought the boy here, and his mother appeared in court against him. He showed no disposition to tell the truth or to reform and was sent to the state institution for correction.

Herman Bernhardt, of Molalla, who will be 17 years of age next June, was hauled before the court last week at the instance of Robbins Bros., from whose store he had been stealing merchandise. The boy was repeatedly caught in the act, and was warned, and paid little attention, and did not seem to want to steal from any one except Robbins. In the juvenile court he was given a severe lecture and appeared to appreciate the situation, so far as it concerned himself, and he promised to go to work and repay Robbins Bros. for the goods he had taken. Upon this condition the court paroled him, with instructions to report once each week by letter. Deputy District Attorney Eby states that he has information from Molalla that young Bernhardt is working vigorously and that his behavior is all that can be desired. It is the policy of the juvenile court to correct children, without sending them to a reformatory, when at all possible.

Bishop Scadding Confirms Class.

Right Rev. Charles Scadding, Episcopal Bishop of the diocese of Western Oregon, confirmed a class at St. Paul's Church, Sunday morning, and was assisted by the Rector, Rev. T. F. Bowen. The Bishop preached a sermon and the Episcopals were present in large numbers to greet the bishop. Those to whom the apostolic rite of confirmation was administered were Mrs. T. P. Randall, Mrs. Charles E. Burns, Jr., Miss Nellie Long and Charles Joehnk.

New School Officers.

H. T. Shipley has been elected director of the Willamette school district, succeeding Ernest Mass, who resigned to accept the position of clerk of the district. Mr. Shipley was formerly a resident of West Oregon City and was a director of that school district and made a very efficient officer. Several weeks ago A. Andrus was elected clerk, but he is a rural mail carrier and the postoffice department does not permit its carriers to occupy other positions of trust.

Teachers' Institute Programme.

School Superintendent Gary has arranged the following programme for the local institute of Clackamas County teachers at Estacada next Saturday:

Morning—"Getting Results in the Country Schools," F. M. Gill, Estacada; Primary Numbers, Mrs. Josephine Lisher, Couch School, Portland; dinner.

Afternoon—"Expression in Grades Beyond the First," Mrs. Josephine Lisher; "Education for the Industries, With Special Attention to School Gardening," L. A. Read, of Parklake.

A special car will leave Oregon City at 8:30 a. m., and a round trip rate of 75 cents has been made for this car.

White Sues for Divorce.

D. A. White, who was married to Hattie White in this city, November 20, 1905, has filed a suit for decree of divorce, stating that his wife has a sullen disposition, is abusive and interfered with his business, deserting him January 2, 1908, taking her clothing and going to Ellery, Ill.

Mrs. Boylan Charges Cruelty.

Mrs. Iva Boylan has filed a suit for divorce against Otis Boylan, to whom she was married in Oregon City, December 30, 1903. She says he has a very jealous disposition and would be angry if any man would exchange common civilities with her. He is said to have called her "the meanest woman on earth," and once slapped her face. She left him September 7, of last year and since then has supported herself. She asks for $100 to defray the expenses of the suit and $20 per month for permanent alimony.

MR. GRAY'S QUALIFICATIONS.

Candidate for School Superintendent an Exceptionally Capable Man.

Prof. Joseph W. Gray, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination of County School Superintendent, stands high in the educational ranks of this county and state. He was for many years identified with the educational interests of Clackamas County as vice-principal of the Oregon City schools, and was for nine years principal of the Parkplace high school. Prof. Gray was one of the originators of the Clackamas County Teachers' Association and when he resigned his position to go north, he was serving on the county examination board. As secretary of the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Association for four years, Prof. Gray formed a wide acquaintance.

He was educated in the Northern Indiana Normal School and also in the Business College of the same place. He holds a life diploma from the State of Oregon and is in every way qualified for the position to which he aspires. Prof. Gray is a man of family, 44 years of age, and a taxpayer of Clackamas County. He served 17 years in the schoolroom as teacher and knows fully the needs of the common schools.

VOTES COME IN FAST AS END APPROACHES

CONTESTANTS STILL CLOSELY BUNCHED. ONLY TWO MORE WEEKS.

Standing of Contestants.

Agnes Justin, Oregon City, 41,000
Neiva Green, Estacada, 40,500
Lizzie Schoenheinz, Willamette 38,020
Lucia Caffall, Milwaukie 33,000
"Bunnie" Ownbey, Green Point 29,410
Carrie Lutz, Falls View 26,325
Dena C. Prosser, Oswego 20,750
"Dade" Bigham, Oregon City 20,620
Goldie Hinton, Canby, 19,210

As the contest draws toward the finish the interest is waxing warm between the candidates. There is very little change in the order of the competitors for the prizes, and the percentages remain so nearly even that the last week is bound to bring forth some startling surprises.

The first three in the race make practically the same gain and remain bunched as last week.

Miss Ownbey gains a few votes on Miss Caffall, but not enough to land in fourth place.

Miss Lutz comes back into the race after her siege with the mumps and makes a wonderful record.

The other candidates are still working away and if a supreme effort is now made the prize may go to the one who is least expected to win it.

All the coupons must be sent in on or before next Wednesday. After all the coupons are in and counted nothing will count but the actual subscribers. Don't let your friends put you off any longer. The last week will be all too short to see everybody. Get the votes now. Remember that when you are getting a subscriber the other girl is probably getting one too, so hustle, hustle, hustle. The prizes are well worthy the effort. Even if you do not get the grand prize piano, a $100 diamond ring would look nice on your finger, or the Victor talking machine is a most acceptable present.

The contest will close Tuesday, April 7, at 8 p. m.

MARKETS

EGGS REACH BOTTOM.

Vegetable Market Tightening Up and Onions Are Rising.

The fact that the bottom of the egg market has been reached at last is about the most startling news in this department this week. The cold storage operators held out as long as possible for a lower price, but at last, despairing of such a change, have begun to store eggs, and hen fruit is now pouring into their establishments by the dray loads. From this time on, eggs will begin to command a better price. The vegetable market is gradually tightening up. Onions have flown from $2.50 to $3 and $4 a sack. Other vegetables are on the rise. There are a number of hothouse vegetables from California, the last of which appear in rhubarb. Owing to the supply of apples laid in last fall by the cold storage plants, that fruit will not be scarce for a long time yet. Dried apples, however, are not so plentiful, and the prices have raised during the past week. Quarried and sun dried, they command 8 1/2 cents, an increase of 1 1/2 cents, while the evaporated apples are bringing 9 and 10 cents, as compared to the price of 8 and 9 cents that reigned last week. Shorts has soared from $28.50 to $30.00. Live mutton is commanding a higher price now than the one quoted last week. Spring lambs are on the Portland market, and will be in the local shops during the next week. Dressed pork has
