THE HATRED OF HENEY.

The inconvenience of a Journey of 1400 miles for the sole purpose of taking a last stab at United States Senator Charles W. Fulton was nothing to Frank Heney—this so-called prosecutor of graft, who takes a keen delight in heaping his filthy mud on men of prominence and standing in the public life of Oregon. Heney left a sick wife, and also his dearly beloved wife of San Francisco corruption simply to come to Portland and Salem and tell over again the same things that he had said in a previous speech, and which Senator Fulton has disproved.

Why? There was time when the people of Oregon believed that Heney was sincere. There was a time when they believed that he was actuated by pure and lofty motives, but that time has long since past. The people of this state know Heney now for what he is. They know that in the last four years he has been paid $100,000 for his "work" in Portland and San Francisco and that $50,000 came from the government treasury and the other $50,000 from Spreckles.

Why? Do the people of Oregon think that Heney's motives are right? Do they think that he came back here without an invitation from the opponents of Mr. Fulton? Do they think he makes speeches without remuneration?

There are some good Republicans left in Clackamas County. They are going to vote for Fulton next Friday. They are going to cast their ballots for a man who has done more for Oregon in the six years he has been a member of the United States Senate than any other man ever did in the same length of time. They are glad to accept the word of Fulton himself and other big men like Theodore B. Wilcox, that he is able to be of service to his State. They are not willing to swap horses while crossing the stream, nor are they going to take what Heney, Democratic hireling, says as truth.

On this last trip Heney has made votes for Fulton. His promised disclosures have come to naught. They have not been made. The San Francisco attorney, unlike Fulton, has not made good. He has received his expected words of praise and flattery in the columns of the Democratic press, and with this he may be content. But the sane Republicans of Oregon, the men who are not carried away by every Socialistic and Populist movement that is started, will do their duty quietly and firmly on the afternoon of the primary election.

COUNTY FAIR SITES.

Next week the stockholders of the Clackamas County Fair Association will hold a called meeting in this city for the purpose of determining the permanent location of the County Fair. This proposition has been held in abeyance for many months, but only five months are left until the next annual exhibition and it is high time that a decision was reached.

This is a matter for extremely careful consideration. Let us make no hasty moves and regret them afterward. Every point should be considered and discussed. The future of the County Fair is at stake and an error in selecting a site would be fatal to the success of the project.

Several things have a direct bearing upon this subject. The Fair should not, under any circumstances, be placed where adequate transportation is not at hand, for a light attendance and a correspondingly slight interest would result. The Fair should be as near as possible to the centers of population, for this would insure the visits of thousands, where in another case, only hundreds would come, and the last, but by no means the least matter to be thought of is the establishment of a race track.

In the first place, is a race track necessary and is it advisable. Will it not bring touts and hangers on to the County Fair and have a tendency to lower its moral tone? Will it take away the eyes of the people from the exhibits of our varied industries and products and turn them to the excitement of the course? Will it not stimulate the ever ready desire on the part of many visitors to gamble on the results? Lastly, will it pay?

It follows that a series of horse races will greatly increase the attendance, but if the cost of operation is correspondingly increased, there is certainly nothing to be gained. These suggestions are offered in a thoughtful spirit, simply for the consideration of the stockholders of the Association, who have the question to decide. The Enterprise would respectfully advise that nothing be done hastily and that every point of view be considered. The ultimate success of the Fair depends upon this.

OUR SOUVENIR EDITION.

The souvenir edition of the Enterprise has been issued from the press and was sent this week to every subscriber of this newspaper, as well as distributed among special subscribers to the number of several thousand. This edition is the product of many weeks of unceasing work, and it is a number that the people of Clackamas County may well be proud of: It is, by the way, a fine thing to send to your friends of the East, for nothing so comprehensive in description of Clackamas County was ever issued before. The edition is in handy magazine form, 64 pages, handsomely illustrated with half tones of prominent men and scenes of interest, printed on calendered book paper and bound in a cover of tasteful design, done in two colors. We have a few left and these will be on sale at this office for the modest price of 15 cents each, enclosed in envelopes ready for mailing. If you do not obtain some of these numbers the loss is yours.

Mr. Charles L. Green, who edited this publication, has had years of experience in the work and he leaves nothing undone. We would be ungrateful, indeed, if we refrained from publicly commending the labors of Mr. Green, who, in the short space of two months has directed the production of a special number that was not intended or expected to be a money-maker. The cost of getting out such an edition is a large item. If the people of Clackamas County appreciate our efforts in behalf of the common good, we shall be satisfied.

That the House of representatives consented to increase the appropriation for the Forest Service, contained in the agricultural appropriation bill, over the amount allotted to that service for the preceding year, demonstrates an increasing appreciation of the value of scientific forestry. Of the $3,796,200 appropriated for this bureau, it is estimated that $2,000,000 will be realized in sales of timber and rentals, and the expectation is that, in course of time, the Forest Service will be wholly self-supporting. The prevention of fires, which before the establishment of the Forest patrol often caused a loss of $5,000,000 which loss during the past year has been reduced to $6,000, has alone more than paid for the entire cost of this bureau of the Federal government.

Chautauqua is coming on apace and in July, not far distant, thousands of people from every part of Oregon and the Northwest will gather in the cool and shady groves of Gladstone Park and listen to the delightful programs of music, education, oratory and athletics prepared through the efforts of Mr. H. E. Cross, whose indefatigable work as secretary and manager of the Willamette Valley Assembly is mainly responsible for the success of the institution that has grown, under his protection, from a small beginning to an affair with a reputation beyond the Pacific Coast. The prospects for an attractive programme this year are alluring.

The appointment of John S. Leach to the office of Public Printer is one that will receive the approval of all who are familiar with the requirements of that office and with the career of Mr. Leach. Until his promotion, Mr. Leach was chief of the bureau of public printing in the Philippines, having been promoted to that position in May, 1901, from the Government Printing Office, where he was serving as foreman of a division. His services in the Philippines were eminently satisfactory especially so because he showed a peculiar capacity for producing creditable results with Philippine printers.

Congress is continuing its hearings on the bill introduced by Representative Hepburn of Iowa, at the request of the National Civic Federation, to amend the Sherman anti-trust law, and the Aldrich Financial bill is still before the House. If congress is successful in passing some legislation this session, which will enable business men to proceed without violating the law, it will have worked wisely and well.

"The question is not whether the Republicans will carry Ohio. The question is only how large the Republican majority in the State will be." This is the reply made by Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, to statements about political conditions in the Buckeye State, put in circulation recently.

And now we are informed that a syndicate is being incorporated to explore the interior of the earth, the incorporators claiming that the earth is hollow and open at the poles. It is not altogether possible that the hollowness is confined to these gentlemen's heads.

Although politics is the main topic of conversation, this is a good time to say that the Enterprise has the largest circulation of any newspaper in Clackamas County and its subscription records are open to its advertisers.

REGISTRATION TOTALS 4892.

Republicans Have 3458 and Democratic Strength is 1118.

The vote at the primary nominating election Friday will probably be close to 4500, as the registration totals 4892. This was determined yesterday by County Clerk Greenman in summing up, and the figures exceed the estimates made before the books closed. There are 3458 registered Republicans, 1118 Democrats, 147 Socialists, 54 Prohibitionists, 3 Populists, 82 Independents and 30 who are designated under the head of miscellaneous.

Local politicians are warming up to the fray and have carried the war into Eastern Clackamas, a large delegation of them going to Estacada Saturday. Great interest is being manifested everywhere in Clackamas County over the nominations of Representatives, Assessor, Commissioner and Coroner, as these are the only offices where a contest has developed. The wise ones in Oregon City say that the Representative fight is between Campbell, Jones, Dye and Dimick, with three to nominate.

Raising Publicity Fund.

The Retail Grocers' Association of Oregon City has succeeded in raising a fund of $125 with which to defray the traveling expenses of T. J. Gary, who has been elected a delegate to the National Grocers' Association at Boston. The County Court has appropriated $50 from the advertising fund, the local association having given $50 and the Portland traveling men $25. The balance of $75 will be raised in a few days.

SOCIETY

Clackamas Council No. 2007, Royal Arcanum has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: J. E. Hedges, regent; John P. Keating, vice-regent; Edward E. Brodie, secretary; Harry Draper, orator; M. D. Latourrette, collector; Franklin T. Griffith, treasurer; Rev. P. K. Hammond, chaplain; G. Lee Harding, guide; C. T. Schuebel, warden; Max Bollack, sentry; Frank J. Louis, Dr. A. L. Beattie and Gilbert L. Hedges, trustees.

The marriage of Mrs. M. E. Baxter to Charles G. Longwood was solemnized Thursday afternoon at the home of the bride on Seventeenth street, Rev. John M. Linden, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the officiating clergyman. Mr. and Mrs. Longwood will make Montavilla their home.

The Deutcher Verein held their regular meeting Sunday in Knapp's hall, with a good sized crowd in attendance. Four new members were received, and after the regular business the members were delighted by a fine musical and literary entertainment. This was followed by a banquet, such as only the Germans can prepare, which was enjoyed by all. The balance of the evening was spent playing games.

Mrs. Max Bollack and Miss Aimee Bollack entertained the members of the Dickens Club and other guests at their home on Fourth street Saturday afternoon. The interior was tastefully decorated with Oregon grape, Oregon spring flowers and ferns and the afternoon was pleasantly spent with bridge and whist. The prize in whist was won by Mrs. Henry Meldrum and in bridge by Mrs. Samuel O. Dillman and Mrs. Ernest P. Rands. There were a number of pretty gowns in evidence and late in the afternoon a dainty luncheon was served. Miss Edna Daulton and Miss Zida Goldsmith assisted the hostesses.

Mrs. Charles G. Miller entertained Saturday afternoon at her home in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. M. Lawrence, of Roseburg, who will leave for home in a fortnight. The affair was an Easter Luncheon and covers were laid for 12. The table decorations were in exquisite harmony with the season, the center piece being a hen's nest while the place cards were in the form of little chicks. The menu was delicious.

EIGHT-ROOM SCHOOL BUILT AT GLADSTONE

NEW DISTRICT PLANS TO ISSUE BONDS AND COMMENCE CONSTRUCTION.

Gladstone will be ornamented with an eight-room school building in the near future. This was determined Saturday evening at a meeting of the taxpayers and patrons of the new school district, and at the suggestion of E. P. Carter the general opinion favored the construction of an eight-room building. Of course this will be too large for present purposes, and the district plans to complete the four down stairs rooms, and leave the upper rooms unfinished for future use. The building will cost at least $5000, and at Saturday's meeting it was decided to hold a general election on Monday, May 4, to give the patrons of the district an opportunity to vote upon the proposition. The polling place will be the Gladstone depot and the polls will be open from 1 to 4 p. m. The district plans to issue bonds for the necessary amount.

It was decided to hold a special school meeting at the residence of Charles T. Tooze at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of the election for the purpose of selecting a school site. Director H. E. Cross, was authorized to secure plans for the new school building.

The directors of the Parkplace district and the new Gladstone district held a joint meeting in the courthouse Friday for the purpose of making a division of the assets and liabilities of the two districts. They agreed on only one point, and that was the valuation of the taxable property of the district. There is more property that is taxable on the Gladstone side of the Clackamas river than on the Parkplace side. Another meeting will be held April 24, and it is probable that a full adjustment will be reached at that time. The directors of the Parkplace district are Captain J. T. Apperson and Captain Smith. The third director was Mrs. Thomas E. Gault, but her office was vacated when the district was divided, as she resides in Gladstone. A meeting will be called of the voters of the Parkplace district to elect another director.

W. A. Carter, of Salem, candidate for the Republican nomination of Railroad Commissioner from the first district, was in town Friday in the interest of his candidacy.
