CROWDS HEAR SERVICE FOR EASTER SUNDAY

WEALTH OF BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS DECORATE INTERIOR OF CITY CHURCHES.

The first vested choir in Oregon City was a complete success and excited many favorable comments from the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Easter service Sunday morning and listened to an interesting sermon by the rector, Rev. T. F. Bowen, to whose efforts are due the innovation of a vested choir, which is directed by Mrs. V. Harris. The choir mother is Mrs. Frank Forsberg, while Miss Marian Lewthwaite is organist and Robert Bowen crucifer. There is no doubt that the attendance will be augmented by the introduction of the choir vestments. St. Paul's was splendidly decorated Sunday morning with a wealth of Easter lilies from Mrs. Norman R. Lang forming the main background.

The service on Easter at St. John's Catholic Church was in keeping with the day, with special music at high mass at 10:30 o'clock. The mass sung was in honor of St. Louis, with music by Theodore LaHache, and the work of the choir was noticeable.

Rev. E. Clarence Oakley preached a sermon on "The Easter Dawn" in the First Congregational Church Sunday morning. Features of the service were the baptism of children, the reception of members and the annual gifts to the foreign work. Special music was rendered by the choir, under the direction of Miss Ivy Roake.

"The World Arising" was the sermon theme at the Methodist Episcopal Church and the pastor, Rev. R. C. Blackwell, preached the sermon. In the evening a special Easter program was given by the Sunday School, and the church was crowded to the doors.

An Easter song service was given Sunday night in the First Presbyterian Church and Miss Grayce Marshall rendered "Beyond the Gates of Paradise." At the morning service the subject of Rev. J. R. Landsborough was "Our Glorified Lord."

Special Easter services were held Sunday at the First Baptist Church, and in the morning Rev. John M. Linden took for his subject "Thy Will Be Done." In the evening Rev. Thomas Moody preached on "The Atrocities Imposed Upon the Natives of the Congo by the King of Belgium." Special Easter music was rendered at both services.

SUICIDE OF MOTORMAN

THADDEUS WRIGHT TAKES HIS LIFE BEFORE HIS GRIEF-STRIKEN WIFE.

HE HAD BEEN DRINKING

Belief is General That He was Trying to Frighten His Wife and Did Not Intend to Fire the Revolver.

"Look here," said Thaddeus Wright to his wife, and with these words he pulled the trigger of a 38-calibre Smith & Wesson and sent a bullet crashing through his heart.

Wright, who would have been 31 years of age next month, lived in Milwaukee. He was a motorman on the Mount Tabor branch of the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company, and was known as a "still" drinker. At the inquest held Monday night by Coroner Holman the testimony of the weeping wife developed the fact that the unfortunate man came in from his work at 9 o'clock Monday morning, apparently sober, and as soon as he reached home emptied a whisky bottle. Then he left the house, his wife waiting for his return until nearly 11 o'clock. When he came in she upbraided him for his conduct and this angered him.

Without eating breakfast he donned his working clothes and left the house, returning a little before 2 o'clock, staggering through the door into the bedroom. There he pulled his revolver and lurched to the door of the kitchen, where his wife was working. Seeing him with the gun, she screamed and ran out of the back door just as he fired.

While there were other witnesses to the tragedy, Mrs. Wright's story to the jury was clear, and there is a general belief that the dead motorman was intoxicated to the extent that he did not realize just what he was doing, and was simply making a gunplay, and did not intend suicide. The bullet entered his right breast and ranged diagonally upwards, severing an artery leading to the heart and coming out of his back below the left shoulder blade lodging in the wall.

Wright formerly conducted a saloon in the North End at Portland, and last Summer was a patrolman for the railway company at the Oaks. He had purchased three lots in Milwaukee and was engaged in building a little home during his spare time when off duty. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict that he came to his death from a revolver wound, from his own hand while in an intoxicated condition.

Dixon to Support the Ticket.

Canby, Ore., April 22, 1908. Editor Enterprise: The primaries are over and I failed to receive the nomination for representative, though I have the honor of being the highest man among those who failed.

While I would have appreciated the honor of representing the people of Clackamas county in the legislature, I do not feel chagrined in the least, and desire to thank my party for the faith and confidence shown in me by the good vote that I received. I feel confident that if the full country vote had been polled I would have been nominated, but the heavy rain on primary day kept my friends at home. They were so confident I would receive the nomination anyway, that they did not make the effort that is necessary to overcome the heavy vote in Oregon City that never goes to any candidate living outside of Oregon City. This is one feature against the primary law, but I would not by any means sacrifice the primary law on this account. The right of the people to decide who their nominees shall be is greater than the election or defeat of any candidate who aspires to public office.

I believe it is the duty of every candidate who meets defeat in the primaries to support his party nominees, and I shall be as loyal to my ticket as if I had never been a candidate. Any candidate who knifes his ticket because his opponent receives the nomination over him in the primaries, is not worthy of any office within the gift of his party.

I shall continue my fight against the single tax and shall see that a depositor's guarantee law goes on the statute books. If the legislature fails to pass it, I shall put it on the ballot two years from now with the initiative and referendum.

Trusting that all my friends will line up for the support of the Republican ticket in June, I am Sincerely yours, GEORGE W. DIXON.

S. S. CONVENTION.

Oregon City District Holds a Very Interesting Meeting.

The District Convention of the Sunday School Workers, held Wednesday in the Methodist Church, was well attended, and the manner in which the various questions were discussed, marked the meeting as one of the most successful held on the coast. The meeting was opened at 10 o'clock by a prayer from Rev. Blackwell, pastor of the Methodist church, who was followed by Mrs. H. L. Hull, who talked on "The Junior Department." The roll call showed that representatives of sixteen Sunday schools were present at the meeting. C. A. Phipps gave a highly interesting talk on "Primary Work" and gave a number of ingenious schemes for keeping the little ones' minds from wandering from the Sunday school work.

Mrs. H. L. Hull was elected vice-president, and Mrs. G. Oids secretary of the local district. Mrs. T. E. Gault was selected as delegate to the state convention, which will be held April 27 and 29 in Forest Grove.

Teachers at Macksburg.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather, there was a good attendance last Saturday at the Clackamas County teachers institute at the Macksburg schoolhouse. Mrs. Harrison, teacher of the primary department of the Eastham school, talked on "Primary Numbers," and "Reading—Its Foundation and Expression." At the morning session there was a discussion on "What is Good Discipline." Dinner was served at noon by the hospitable people of Macksburg and at the afternoon meeting Howard Eccles, of Canby, presented a paper on "French and Indian War—Its Bearing Upon American History."

Boosting County High School.

At the local Clackamas County teachers institute held last Saturday at Macksburg, C. Schuebel, County Superintendent Gary and L. A. Read, principal of the Parkplace school addressed the teachers and a number of voters, presenting arguments in favor of the establishment of a county high school, which will come before the people at the June election. They were joined at Canby by Clarence Eaton, and a meeting was held there, with a fair attendance. Prof. Read and Mr. Eaton talked at Darcus Tuesday evening and Mr. Schuebel, Prof. Read and Superintendent Gary will talk at Molalla Friday and at Estacada Saturday evening.

Mrs. Courtwright Gets Divorce.

In the Circuit Court Jessie Courtwright was granted a decree of divorce from B. E. Courtwright of Redland, and was awarded $40 per month alimony. Mrs. Courtwright alleged that her husband was cruel to her, that he took the money she had earned by washing and taking in boarders and had bought her three cheap dresses in about 14 years.

Ties For Precinct Officers.

The primary law has resulted in a mix up over the nominations of precinct officers and it will be no easy task for County Clerk Greenman to straighten out the tangle. In Milk Creek precinct, for example, four men have each received one vote for constable. In Oswego precinct, which is a separate Justice District, Henry Gans and W. Spencer have each six votes for constable. George Wallace has been nominated for Justice in Highland and Canyon Creek precincts.

CAMPAGNING FOR THE ARMORY BILL.

a few days for effective service has passed. The modern soldier must be trained, and trained thoroughly for his part. Modern warfare is an exact science. It requires study and infinite training.

Armories are a necessary part of that training. The guardmen, who gives much of his time and attention in preparing to serve the country in an hour of need should be given every encouragement as was pointed out lately by the War Department. Interest necessarily must lag where a company is poorly housed.

This town, it is pointed out, is one of the places directly to be benefited by the passage of the bill. Its success now seems assured. The only opposition comes from a few unthinking people about Portland, who seem to envy the people of the smaller communities of the State any convenience or advantage they may seek.

As one of the towns directly interested in the measure, a large affirmative vote is expected from this community.

CRIMINAL DOCKET IS HEAVIEST FOR YEARS.

serve three years in the penitentiary, but Judge McBride paroled them during good behavior. The next offense will land them at Salem without trial. J. C. Spagle, charged with wife beating, was allowed his freedom on parole, and the next time he tries to abuse his wife, the whipping post will be his fate.

Alex Robinson, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, was given until Friday to plead.

Judge McBride has overruled a demurrer to the complaint in the suit of the Mount Hood Railway and Power Company against the City of Portland to condemn property for a right of way over the Bull Run reserve. The City has been given until April 25, to file an answer. The case has excited much attention in Portland, one of the features being a controversy between Mayor Lane and President Miller of the company.

votes for Representative in Congress. Robert S. Bean, Republican, was presented with 50 votes for Supreme Judge, and District Attorney Hedges was given 12 votes, though he is not a candidate. Jack. The Democrats have made no nominations for clerk, treasurer, school superintendent, or surveyor. Tom Meyers has been nominated for coroner.
