PARTY SUCCESS IS ASSURED.
Election Day is only two weeks distant. The campaign this year will be brief and it is surprising that comparatively little interest is being taken, but this attributed to the fact that the result is a forgone conclusion. The Republicans of Clackamas have made up their minds to vote their ticket straight and there is nothing else to it. The Enterprise has taken the pains to make a careful canvass of the local situation and finds that encouragement is not greeting the effort of the county Democrats to elect their nominees for sheriff, assessor and commissioner. Richard L. Greaves, Republican candidate for sheriff, will be given a splendid vote, and there is absolutely no doubt of his election by a handsome majority. Mr. Greaves is accompanying the candidates in their tour over the county and he is being cordially received everywhere and is making a very favorable impression. He will get an unusually large vote on the West Side of the Willamette, where he is best known.

Harry S. Moody, Republican candidate for assessor, is certain of election. There is no better campaigner in Clackamas than Mr. Moody and even many Democrats are already conceding his election. He has hundreds of friends who are working diligently for him and it is a cheerful sign that the Republican candidates for nomination, who failed to receive a sufficient number of votes to insure them a place on the ticket, are harboring no feelings against the party nominee, and the wishing him well.

The Republicans are taking no chances on giving Clackamas County a Democratic County Court though the election of J. W. Smith, of Macksburg, and they will cast their ballots for William H. Mattoon, the party nominee. Mr. Mattoon has a sound business head; he is an ardent advocate of good roads; he has been a Republican all his life, and he has always supported the ticket.

It is gratifying to notice the trend of affairs in Clackamas and to note the existing harmony in Republican ranks. Bolters are few and far between this year. The Democratic and Independent candidates have lost hope of election and are making a futile struggle against overwhelming odds.

THE TICKET STRAIGHT.
A delegate to the county convention last Saturday struck the key note when he declared that every Republican should vote his party ticket this year from top to bottom. The statement was received with applause, and in such a manner as to conclusively indicate that this is the existing sentiment and that it is so strong that the Republicans will sweep Clackamas County June 1 by overwhelming majority.

Utmost harmony reigns in Republican ranks this year. The ticket nominated at the primaries is the strongest obtainable and the Republicans of Clackamas are going to endorse the selections made by the voters of the party. They have no ear for the maudlin guff of "non-partisanship" so often exploited and sometimes successfully by the Democratic minority. The Republicans have realized at last that the only way to attain party success is to vote the ticket without a strach, cease this idle flirtation with the minority and stand together for the election of the whole ticket.

It is gratifying, indeed, to the Enterprise, that such good feeling reigns in Republican ranks. The absence of bossism is a noticeable factor in the party in Clackamas. Factions and wings have almost disappeared and the members of the party are working as a unit for the election of their nominees. This is the desired end to which the Enterprise has been working and proposes to continue to work.

With the normal voting strength of the Republican party in Clackamas, there is no ground for fear that any of the Democratic nominees have a chance of election. County Clerk Greenman has a clear field, this being a reward for his acknowledged efficiency. The opposition to County Recorder Ramsby is futile. The attempt of a few men to bring an independent candidate in the field against County School Superintendent Gary is an action that will be given a severe rebuke at the polls. During the few months that Mr. Gary has occupied the office of School Superintendent he has made a record that is sufficient to commend him to the people of Clackamas County. His long service as a teacher in the public schools has given him a thorough understanding of the needs and conditions of the common school. It is well known that the slight opposition to him comes from a source where the only object is to "get even" for the division of the Parkplace school district, and if he should fail to carry the territory bordering the Clackamas River from its mouth to Stone, his large vote on the north side of the stream in Gladstone and vicinity, will more than make up the loss. It is the duty of the voters of Gladstone to protect Mr. Gary from the assault made upon him, and the claims made by the supporters of Mr. Gray, independent candidate, that he will carry Abernethy precinct by 200 votes, will look better, perhaps, after election, when the votes have been counted.

LOOKS LIKE TAFT.
Since the election of district delegates and delegates-at-large to the Republican National Convention began one of the largest eastern dailies has kept an accurate account and has published once a week an exact tabulation of the men chosen. These figures are most interesting, bearing little resemblance to the speculative forecasts which have been supplied to the press in interest of this or that candidate for the nomination for the Presidency. They are simply a record of every instance in which instructions have been given to a delegate, and of the several cases in which delegates not instructed have explicitly made known their intentions. These published facts are coming that the choice of the Republican Convention for President of the United States is now determined, that the nomination of Mr. Taft is the will of the people. Mr. Taft could enter the convention today with not fewer than 520 votes out of 980, a majority that would secure his nomination on the first ballot, and as the tide is setting so strongly in his favor his majority is likely to increase by the natural process of accretion beyond the dimensions now clearly discernible.

WEST IS TO BLAME.
There is a general and outspoken jealousy felt by the people of the Western states because of the influence exerted in Congress, and especially in the Senate, by the states of the East, notably New England; and yet the western people have only themselves to blame. Eastern states, once they elect a man to the Senate, for example, keep him there year after year and he grows in influence and power. Committee assignments, which in the upper house are apportioned entirely by seniority, fall to the member with long service in increasing importance and in that respect also the efficiency of the old member is increased. Western members, changing constantly, rarely attain to the best places. A striking instance is furnished by Oregon. Senator Fulton, after one term, in which he has shown marked ability, has just secured a place on the important committee on Judiciary and now his state has decided to send another in his place. The

A Mistaken Idea

Some people have an idea that in order to have a bank account, they must have a large sum to deposit; that the bank does not care to be bothered by small accounts.

This, however, is not true of the Bank of Oregon City, which welcomes new accounts, whether of $1. or $1000, and the same courtesy and service is accorded the small depositor as those in more fortunate circumstances.

It is our object and wish to serve the public in financial matters in a manner that shall be satisfactory to all—old or young, rich or poor.

We want your banking business and will be pleased to have you open an account with us.

The Bank OF Oregon City

new man will of course, have to begin at the bottom. Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota, has after nearly eighteen years' service, just secured the chairmanship of the committee on Agriculture which is one of the few committees that handles an appropriation bill. He has, moreover, an important seat on Finance and other desirable places which can be won only by ears of service, yet his state is seriously questioning the advisability of re-electing him and is compelling him to make a strenuous fight against opponents who for many years, if successful, would be unable to render their state anything like equally valuable service.

SOCIETY

The home of Mrs. Fannie L. Cochran was the scene of merriment Monday night, when the members of St. Paul's Guild of the Episcopal church suddenly arrived at Twelfth and Washington streets and descended upon their former secretary, bearing gifts of a cut glass creamer and sugar bowl, in recognition of the long and faithful service to the Guild of Mrs. Cochran, who was secretary of the organization for 20 years and only recently declined to serve in that capacity for another term. Mrs. Cochran became a member of the Guild in 1874, and in response to the speech of presentation by Rev. T. F. Bowen, rector of St. Paul's church, alluded feelingly to her years of constant endeavor in the work.

The evening was spent happily in games and in the contest of tearing silhouettes the prizes went to Miss Holmes and Mr. Bowen. In an "observation" game the prize winners were Mrs. Goodfellow and Mrs. McCarver. The refreshments were delicious and before departure those present joined hands and gave "Auld Lang Syne" with spirit. Other songs were rendered.

Mrs. Rebecca Turney celebrated her 70th birthday a few days ago at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. L. Farmer, on the west side. The day was pleasantly spent. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Roehl, Mrs. Jerome Stewart, Mrs. Eliza Press, Mrs. Marguerite Farmer, Miss Pansy Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Farmer and son and Mrs. Rebecca Turney. The house was decorated with white and purple lilacs, and a banquet was served.

The Deutsche Verein held its monthly meeting Sunday afternoon. R. Letmann, A. Heckel and J. Hansteda of Portland were present as a committee from the Arion society of that city and tendered an invitation to the Verein to their picnic at Schoor's grove, near Willamette, June 14, which was accepted with a rising vote of thanks to the Arion society. After routine business was transacted the following program was well rendered: Opening address, President Schnorr; German song, Verein; recitation, Miss Erna Petzold; mandolin solo, Master Fred Winkel; song, Miss Clara Nobel; recitation, Ed. Miller; piano and violin duet, F. Busch Jr. and Oscar Woodfin; song, Miss Anna R. Petzold; song, Ed. Miller; recitation, R. Petzold; song, M. Milstein; reading, A. Knapp; address, A. Heckel of Portland; closing address, President Klenssen. At the close of the meeting, all the members, with their families, adjourned to the dining room and were seated to a bounteous repast.

V. Harris, who conducts a grocery on the corner of Main and Eighth streets, will move July 1 to his own building on Main and Fourteenth streets.

Abernethy grange of Parkplace met Saturday afternoon and initiated five candidates, conferring all the degrees of the subordinate grange. A good literary and musical program had been made up for the occasion, but owing to the time taken up in the conferring of the degrees, the program was laid over until next meeting, the fourth Saturday of this month.

No ambitious man or woman can afford to miss the opportunity afforded them by the International Correspondence Schools on Friday and Saturday, May 15th and 16th at Burmeister & Andersen's jewelry store. The schools are making a special window display showing the work of students. During this display a special discount will be given off the price of all courses.
