THE HOMESEAKER.

Oregon City and Clackamas County are after the homeseeker. We want the men and women from the middle West and from the East to come into our midst and build homes. There is room for them here—lots of it. A quarter of a million people could settle in Clackamas and not overcrowd its territory.

There are hundreds of thousands of such men thousands of miles to the east of us who have never heard of Clackamas County, and some of them have no idea of the location of the State of Oregon. They are apt to ask you in what State Oregon is situated.

We cannot reasonably expect to get our share of the immigration to the Great West unless we go after it. Nothing ever comes to the people who sit quiet and wait. We must let these prospective homeseekers know that we are on earth.

The national platform of the Republicans is outspoken; that of the Democrats is inclined to straddle important issues. You should bear this in mind while reading the communication of Captain James P. Shaw in this issue of The Enterprise.

COUNTY DIVISION.

And now we are told that the Eastern section of Clackamas, with Estacada as its center, wants to cut itself off, root and branch, from the parent stem and go it alone. Probably seven or eight thousand people have aspirations for a county seat nearer to them, and are supposedly willing to bear the increased burden of taxation that would naturally follow the maintenance of a county seat.

Our beneficent initiative law provides them a way. As Hood County was formed last June, so could Cascade County be set apart from old Clackamas. The whole State of Oregon would have a voice, and who shall say that the petitioners would be denied their ambitions by the votes of men who know nothing whatever of the conditions and care less.

Without going into the merits of the demands of our Eastern Clackamas friends, we are certain that the existing law should be amended so that such procedure as is contemplated could not be possible. It is all wrong. It is entirely a local matter and should be treated as such.

Under the initiative some reforms are possible and some abuses are probable. No one can question the justice of a demand for the amendment of the law so that abuses can be reduced. It is, as we see it, imperative, and unless it is done, the whole system of direct legislation is impeded.

BUILD PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Now that the price of lumber is down a little, it would be well for many of the country school districts to consider the matter of putting up new school buildings. While many of the country districts are already provided with suitable buildings, others have old structures, out of date in plan as well as deteriorated by age. There is nothing that makes a community so attractive to homeseekers as good school facilities.

No meeting was ever called in Oregon which has attracted the universal enthusiasm that has been created by the Oregon Good Roads Conference, which is to be held in the Convention Hall, 6th floor, of the Portland Commercial Club on Tuesday, August 11th. An effort will be made to call the meeting to order promptly at 9:30 A. M. so that there may be a morning, an afternoon and an evening session.

The colonist rates from all points in the East to all points in Oregon commence September 1st and continue until October 31st. Every commercial organization and every citizen of Oregon should begin to make these rates the subject of every letter that goes out of the state.

The national platform of the Republicans is outspoken; that of the Democrats is inclined to straddle important issues. You should bear this in mind while reading the communication of Captain James P. Shaw in this issue of The Enterprise.

With the names of such men as J. U. Campbell, John Lewellen, Thomas F. Ryan, R. B. Beattie, O. D. Eby and C. G. Huntley on its directorate, there is every reason to believe that the Oregon City and Farmers Independent Telephone Company will become a formidable rival of its strongly entrenched competitor.

Ground for the Clackamas County Fair has been broken with ceremony. The men behind the project are entitled to the loyal support of every citizen of Clackamas County.

CASTORIA. The Kind You Have Always Bought. Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher.

The length of the day may be found by doubling the time of the sun's setting and the length of the night by doubling the time of the sun's rising. If, for example, says the Chicago News, the sun sets at 7:30 o'clock, the length of the day is 15 hours, for twice 7:30 is 15. If the sun rises at 4:30, the length of the night is 9 hours, for twice 4:30 is 9. The 12 hours of daylight and the 9 hours of night make up the whole day of 24 hours.

A Mistaken Idea

Some people have an idea that in order to have a bank account they must have a large sum to deposit, that the bank does not care to be bothered by small accounts.

This, however, is not true of the Bank of Oregon City, which welcomes new accounts, whether of $1.00, or $1000, and the same courtesy and service is accorded the small depositor as those in more fortunate circumstances.

It is our object and wish to serve the public in financial matters in a manner that shall be satisfactory to all—old or young, rich or poor.

We want your banking business and will be pleased to have you open an account with us.

Better Society. Mrs. Bev says that she wants to get into better society than the country affords. They bought a $1200 house in town, and on the same block they will have, as neighbors, a saloon keeper and a butcher who whips his wife. No chickens, no cow, no pig in the pen, no garden, no truck patch, no wheat in the mill, and as they say, "no nothing," only $2 a day. Now $2 a day is about $600 a year, holidays and Sundays left out, and Bev can't be sure of full 300 days work in a year. His wife won't be able to sell 140 worth of butter, and 450 worth of poultry as she did last year, and buying flour at $7.50 a barrel is a different thing from having your own wheat and selling fifty bushels more than you need for flour.—Farmer's Voice.

SOCIETY

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise McAnulty to Mr. Charles R. Livesay took place Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in St. John's Catholic church. Rev. A. Hillenbrand, the pastor, officiating. Miss Daisy Maude McAnulty, the bride's sister, was bridesmaid, and her brother, Mr. James McAnulty, was best man.

The marriage of Miss Bonnie Sunderland to James Edgar Williams was solemnized at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at the parsonage of the Grace Methodist Episcopal Church. Dr. William H. Heppie officiating, and the happy pair left for the afternoon on their wedding tour for British Columbia. Miss Sunderland was formerly a school teacher of Clackamas County and is the daughter of a well known Sheridan family. She is a sister of Mrs. Bailey of this city and has been residing in Portland of late. Mr. Williams is a member of the transfer firm of Williams Bros., and is a young man of sterling qualities. They will make their home in Oregon City.

Mrs. H. L. Clark entertained the members of the Derthick Club at her home Wednesday afternoon. The house was very prettily decorated with many colored sweet peas. Five little girls, Eva Aldredge, Effie Dillman, Ethel Frost, Gwendoline Shaw and Bernice Johnson, dressed in Japanese costume were drilled by Mrs. Clark and gave a native dance. Eva Aldredge sang "Yama San" and "House of My Love" and the others gave the choruses. The most amusing feature was the Beggar Band, given by the girls in beggar costumes. In a guessing game the prizes were won by Miss Draper and Mrs. Anna Hayes. Delicious refreshments were served.

How to Make Yeast. Take one quart of fresh buttermilk, pour into skillet over the fire and heat to boiling point. Carefully sift in enough corn meal as thick as gruel. Remove from the fire and cool to lukewarm. Have soaked one package of yeast foam in just enough water to cover. When the gruel is lukewarm add the yeast and let it stand for two hours in a warm place, being careful to get too hot. At the end of two hours the mixture will be snapping and fermenting. Add sufficient corn meal to make into cakes with the hands. By using a little flour in place of all corn meal they may be rolled and cut, but this makes them more difficult to soak when preparing the bread. Place on a board to dry, turning twice a day. When thoroughly dry it is ready for use and may be used in the making of new yeast.

perimeter, to be that they defend themselves by antienzymes, or antiferments. Dr. Nandor Klug, of Buda-Pesth, now reports these antiferments not to be found but that the mucin present in the inner half of the gastric mucous membrane retards the digestive action of the trypsin and gastric juice. The digestive organs therefore protect themselves by the mucin they create.
