THE KETTLE OF FISH.

It would seem that W. M. Cate, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and brother of the late candidate for United States senator, is persona non grata with the "powers." From what can be learned it is apparent that an effort will be made to depose Mr. Cate for his position and put in his stead a man who is more in harmony with the politicians who fought for and succeeded in obtaining a Taft delegation from Oregon to the Chicago convention.

Last week Mr. Cate went to Colorado Springs for a conference with Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the national committee. We are told that the Oregon man found his position an embarrassing one, as he was asked to justify his position as chairman of the Republican state central committee in pledging himself to support the election of a Democrat to the United States senate. And this is what we read:

The result was that Cate occupied the same position at the conference as the uninvited guest at the wedding. He was ignored and snubbed—a political outcast. At no stage in the proceedings was he consulted. His very record as state chairman discredited him for a further leadership of his party at home and served as inadequate credentials when he applied to Chairman Hitchcock for campaign funds. When Cate asked for money of the National chairman he was given unmistakably to understand that the National Committee not only did not intend to send a dollar to Oregon for use in the approaching campaign, but depended on this state—a strong Republican district—to assist in a financial way the committee in its work in other states.

We cannot believe, however, that the Oregonian can accomplish Republican success in this state by reading men out of the Republican party. As matter of fact the Oregonian has no business to mix up in a family matter, as that newspaper has declared its independence in announcing publicly that it is no longer a Republican journal. But the opinions of the Oregonian expressed editorially, are none the less interesting, and under the head of "The Crisis is at Hand," there appeared the following editorial Tuesday morning:

It will be impossible to carry on a campaign for Taft in Oregon under the leadership of men pledged to the election of a Democrat (Chamberlain) to the Senate. Republicans have no confidence in such leadership; will not follow it. Mr. Cate and others, who are pledged to the election of Mr. Chamberlain, will not be permitted to lead the Republican party further, to its final betrayal and undoing. There is no levity in all this. It is a most serious matter. Before these people pledged themselves to the election of a Democratic Senator, under the leadership of Bourne, U'Ren and Cate, they were told plainly what it would mean.

Possibly Oregon may be carried for Taft. It is a possibility only. It can be carried for Taft only by utterly ignoring the leadership and advice of pretended Republicans who are pledged to such result as the election of a Democrat to the Senate.

Since the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee and his distinguished brother, who made the futile race for the Senate (it was as if a half-speed lad had contended in the Olympic games), are both committed, and all whom they misled committed to the election of a Democrat to the Senate—a position in political affairs and National importance scarcely inferior to that of President—are you to expect any result for the Republican party? The only chance is to repudiate such leadership. Otherwise the state will go for Bryan, with a rush. New organizations of the Republican party is indispensable, if hopeful effort is to be made for the Republican candidate for the Presidency in the state.

All this was foreseen. It was all predicted, again and again, as a consequence of exaltation of Statement No. 1 to the rank of a first and controlling principle of party action.

If Oregon is to be carried for Taft there must be organization for the effort, beyond the reach of betrayal by those so-called Republicans who have made themselves Democrats in fact.

STRENGTH OF OUR BANKS.

It is perhaps not generally known that in the two banks of Oregon City there is carried nearly $1,000,000 in deposits. The fact was brought in the advertising columns of The Enterprise last week when the statements of the local banks were published. The finances of the three banks of Estacada and Canby also show a healthy condition.

We of Oregon City take considerable pride in our banks. We are quick to acknowledge their solidity and have no hesitation in recommending them to newcomers. We have had no failures, nor have we experienced any unpopularity in times of financial stringency.

The strength of financial institutions is a good indicator of the business of a city.

Williams Jennings Bryan, the Peerless one, is taking in quite a bunch of money, 'tis said, to cover the expenses of the Democratic national campaign. But there is no corruption money coming in. Not so! The contributions do not reach the thousands and hundreds of thousands, but come in small amounts, like the SILVER DOLLAR, and a few fives and tens, perhaps. It is suggested that in each county a campaign for funds be made. Has Clackamas been heard from?

The news columns of The Enterprise have an account of the educational progress of Clackamas County. This is the era of new school buildings, of

A Mistaken Idea

Some people have an idea that in order to have a bank account they must have a large sum to deposit, that the bank does not care to be bothered by small accounts.

This, however, is not true of the Bank of Oregon City, which welcomes new accounts, whether of $100, or $1000, and the same courtesy and service is accorded the small depositor as those in more fortunate circumstances.

It is our object and wish to serve the public in financial matters in a manner that shall be satisfactory to all—old or young, rich or poor.

We want your banking business and will be pleased to have you open an account with us.

high schools, of better equipped rooms, and of hard working, scientific teachers. County Superintendent Gary is doing all he can to raise the standard of the schools of Clackamas, and he is being ably seconded by the various boards of directors. And who would think, in noting this progress, that Clackamas has twice defeated a movement for the establishment of a county high school, and went on record against the proper support and maintenance of the University of Oregon.

GRAYS TRIM CAMAS.

Bat Southpaw Nefzger Out of the Box in Four Innings.

In four innings Sunday afternoon Billy Nefzger, the southpaw of the Camas baseball club was batted out of the box, and the Grays won from the Washington team by a score of 7 to 3. Higgins went in and the locals made three hits off his delivery during the remainder of the game. Trobe, of Vancouver, was on the slab for Oregon City, and he kept eight hits well scattered. Robideaux was on second base for the home team and starred in the infield. Nefzger, though weak with the ball, was not slow with the willow and in four times up he secured four hits. Baker made a fine running catch of the last ball batted and ended the game. The steamer George Burton brought an excursion from Camas and 600 people saw the game on Canemah Park grounds, many of them staying to see the wild west show. The score:
