C. O. Davis had the misfortune to lose his household effects by fire last farm, which he has rented for some time. Supper was just ready and Mr Davis was away from the house at the time. It caught from a defective flue. The stairway and two bedrooms were a mass of flames before anything could be done. Very little was saved. He moved in to the Bartlemay house which was kindly offered him by its owner, Mr. Harvey Gibson, where they are slowly beginning to realize this last bewildering blow to them already almost overwhelming sorrow. Davis was away at the time, being in Eastern Oregon at the bedside of their daughter, Florence, aged 16, who was thrown from a horse some two weeks ago at her grandfather's place and so injured her head that her life is dispaired of. She has never regained consciousness. The Davises have the profound sympathy of the entire com-

GRANGES UNITE TO OBSERVE 88TH BIRTHDAY OF CHAP-LAIN EATON OLDEN TIMES RECALLED

Music and Speeches By Prominent People a Feature of the Day.

ANNIVERSARY

CELEBRATED

Saturday was a red-letter day in the history of Oswego Grang No. 175, Patrons of Husbandry. In addition to good turnout of its own members, J. Johnson, state lecturer of the order; Oscar Eaton, state chaplain; Mrs. Mary S. Howard, state secretary, and a goodly number of visitors from Lents, Woodlawn, Winona (Tualatin), Milwaukee, Sherwood and Arleta Granges were present. The monthly coutine business was disposed of, and then the occasion of the large gathering was revealed-the celebration of the 88th birthday of Chaplain Eaton. After a sumptuous dinner, the meeting was thrown open to the public, and a number of Mr. Eaton's old Good Roads Association and the profriends, not members of the Grange, were admitted to the hall, and all united in extending heartfelt congratulations to the cheerful old veteran of four-score and eight years.

The programme was wholly informal and under the direction of Mrs. Helen M. Ewing, lecturer. In the beginning Mr. Eaton was escorted the length of the hall, amid the clapping of hands, where he was seated upon a chair draped with "Old Glory," near a table adorned with flowers, and a handsome birthday cake, suitably inscribed, following with a Grange song written by Mr. Eaton several years ago, was sung to the tune of "America." He then recited a brief original poem, descriptive of his life experi-Then followed brief congratulatory remarks by Rev. R. E. Jones and Rev. D. B. Joseph Dobbins, Mrs. J. J. Tingle, and Mr. Allen, all of whom knew Mr. Eaton in Grand Traverse County, Michigan, more that 50 years ago, folowed with reminiscences of those days, which were in turn amusing, instructive and pathetic. Vocal music followed, by Misses Elizabeth and Ruth Stevenson, great grand-daughters of "Uncle" John Stevenson, a well-known pioneer of 1853.

Instrumental music, both violin and olano, was provided by the Dickinson brothers. George H. Himes being called for, responded briefly by comparing the population of the Nation and the principal cities in 1820 with that of the present day. State Lecturer Johnson, Mrs. Howard, state secreto, Mrs. Gage, and a number of others followed-all giving strong emphasis to the value of a life long spent in doing good to others. In Oregon there is probably no mar who commands more universal respect as a good citizen and in every sense than Chaplain Oscar Eaton. His presence in any gathering is a benediction. Although old as measured by years, he is still as young in spirit as ever. He was born in Chautauqua County, New York, August 8, 1820, on a farm, and lived there until 1850, when he removed to Grand Traverse County. Michigan, where he acquired a quarter section of timber land and cleared up about 30 acres for a farm. On August 15, 1862, he enlisted in the Twenty-sixth Michigan Infantry, and served through the Civil War with credit. He was in the Second Army Corps, commanded by General Winfield S. Hancock, and his brigade commander was General Nelson A. Miles. He was in many engagements that were particularly trying, among them the Wilderness, Spottsylvania Courthouse, Cold Harbor and Petersburg. He was discharged from service in June, 1865, and at once returned to his farm.

In 1871, getting tired of the cold Winters of Michigan, Mr. Eaton came to Oregon, and first settled at Forest Grove. In 1880 he removed to the vicinity of Oswego, where he has made his home up to the present time. His first vote was cast for every Whig and Republican candidate for the Presidency since.

Eaton joined Oswego Chaplain Grange 25 years ago, and has been a bright and shining light in its membership ever since, exemplifying in his upright lift every obligation he assumed. He has been an officer of the subordinate and State Grange many years, wholly unsought, and has performed every duty with conspicuous fildelity

ASSOCIATION MEETS IN PORTLAND

UDGE RYAN'S PLAN OF ASSESS ING COST OF ROAD CONSTRUC-TION MEETS WITH SUPPORTERS.

The meeting of Oregon State Good Roads Association held in Portland this week, was largely attended by delegates from all of the cities in Ore-

The meeting, which was one of the nost enthusiastic ever held by this association, came to a close on Wednesday afternoon, when the delegates were taken to Gresham by 25 large automobiles over the improved roads to the country club, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the visitors,

Representatives from Camby, Milwankee, Oak Grove and Oregon City were present and took an active interest in the proceedings.

Judge Ryan, of this city, was invited by County Judges Webster and Scott to assist them in this work throughout the state, but his business interests prevents him permanently from engaging in this work. Mr. Ryan was on the committee on resolutions and prepared those adopted by the asso clation.

Through the report of the Commit-tee on Ways and Means submitted to the Good Roads Conference at a late hour Tuesday afternoon, all differences between the Oregon State moters of the enthusiastic mass meeting held in Portland, were reconciled The report follows:

Your Committee on Ways and Means begs leave to report that in its also provided for a road commission, opinion the sum of $10,000 must be raised to defray the expenses of an enthusiastic and energetic campaign for good roads,

"We further recommend that two men be employed to carry on the work, districts met with many supporters, and that these two men be Judge Lionel R. Webster, of Multnomah Coun-County, provided satisfactory arrangements can be made with these gen-

"Mr. W. L. Crissey has been made permanent secretary of this commitwithout salary. Respectfully, John H. Albert, chairman; A. A. Jayne, J. W. Balley, John S. Beall, G. W. Evans, Tom Richardson, Commite on Ways and Means."

J. H. Albert, of Marion, was largely esponsible for being able to unite the boosters into a harmonious unit, resulting in the selection of Mr. Scott, from the older organization, and Judge Webster, as the representatives of the entire movement. In carrying out the plans projected
