fruit it is necessary that care be taken in the selection as well as the preparation of the fruit, says the House keeper for July. The best fruit should be selected and the jars thoroughly sterilized before the fruit is put into them. With the exception of pears gooseberries, all fruits used for canning should be ripe when picked, and canned while fresh. Pears are better if picked before thoroughly ripe and allowed to ripen in the house, while gooseberries are used before they ripen. Do not begin the process of canning until You have your fruit and cooking utensils all in readiness and then complete the process as rapidly as possible. Granite or porcelain pans are best for this purpose and they should be shallow in order that the fruit may be only one layer deep. This allows it to cook quickly, which is the secret of its being light colored and fine flavored, and it also makes it ; possible to handle it so as to avoid breaking it. Never think to economize by using old rubbers on the jars for you can buy a good many rubbers with the price of one jar of fruit.

Giving Lamps Attention.

No lamp has any value whatever unless it burns well, and in order that it shall do this without that horrible oily odor, it must be cleaned frequently, filled every day, and wiped off thoroughly after each filling, says the New, Idea Magazine. If a lamp smells persistently, unless it leaks or is otherwise distinctly out of repair, it means that the parts need boiling. To do this take the lamp to pieces as much as possible, put the parts in a big kettle and cover with cold water; add a handful of washing soda and bring to a boil. Then remove the parts, dry thoroughly, adjust and trim the wick all that a smelly lamp requires. Most add the carefully picked over sardines potatoes, add a little sait, two eggs, lamps take well to this treatment once and a spoonful of mayonaise salad enough flour to make a stiff batter.
