PROSPERITY OF RAILROADS.

Interesting information is contained in the latest edition of Poor's railroad manual, just published. The records of the American railroad systems are staggering indeed.

In the beginning of the fiscal year of 1907 there were the astonishing number of 228,128 miles of railroad in the United States. This is more than the mileage of all the European countries combined or more than six times as much as that of any one European country.

BRAZIL'S NAVY INCREASES.

Considerable speculation has been aroused by the proposed extraordinary increase in the navy of Brazil by three 18,000 ton battleships of the "Dreadnaught" type.

ETHICS OF LAW.

For several centuries the lawyers of this country have endeavored to conduct their profession without a code of ethics.

The committee aimed to state in a body of rules the principles which, according to the highest professional ideal, should govern and guide a practicing lawyer.

of others to expulsion from a bar association; of many others to no penalty at all except the disapproval of high-minded men in the profession and public obloquy.

There are thirty-two canons in the code. Some of these are purely professional in character and therefore are not quoted. Extracts from the others are as follows:

"The law enjoins respect for the courts and for judicial officers for the sake of the office and not for the sake of the individual who for the time being administers the function."

"Contingent fees may be contracted for but they lead to many abuses and should be under the supervision of the court."

"No lawyer is justified in substituting another's attendance for his own. A lawyer should not do for a client what he can do for himself."

"The attention of Enterprise readers is called to the accuracy of the market reports that are printed every week. They are changed regularly and show fluctuations and prices that are reliable."

WAS SWIFT MINE SALT?

D. C. Forbes.

Counter charges are made by them, and the case is being fought out in the courts. It would have been the height of folly for them to salt the mine, they contend, even if they had been so inclined.

"Mr. Swift and myself have lived here and are pretty well known," said Mr. Richardson, yesterday, and certainly such charges against us are foolish. We have been and are still engaged together in many different enterprises.

"After trying to operate the machine for several days, Forbes pretended to get sick and came away from the property. His charges that we salted the mine are particularly absurd."

"This man Morris, whom Forbes describes as an expert and who was sent to investigate, denied, in the presence of witnesses, that he had ever made such reports as were accredited to him."

The marriage of Miss Esther Blanche Holden, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holden, of this city, to Dave Hamcock, a prominent attorney of Mount Vernon, Wash., was solemnized Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents.

There is every indication of a most cordial co-operation on the part of the commercial bodies of Oregon and Washington in advancing the interests of the Alaska-Pacific Exposition, and in every other movement having for its purpose the upbuilding of the North Pacific Coast.

F. M. Swift, who is promoting the construction of an electric railway into the Molalla country, is accused of salting a Clackamas County mine. He denies it, of course, and his denial, printed in this week's issue, has all the earmarks of truth.

and all of which confirmed the happy reputation in which Miss Conyers stands in the musical world of Oregon. She is billed for some exceptionally fine work in the great regatta Sangerfest and it is said, will shortly establish a class in this city, which will be not only a technical, but an artistic, advantage to musical Astoria.—Weekly Astorian.

"Broadway Vaudeville at Perkin's Corners" NO ONE THING can give so much pleasure to so many people at so little cost as an Edison Phonograph.

OREGON CITY HAS A BUILDING BOOM. (Continued from page 1.) away their time and money. The charge was indignantly denied and a counter suit for $1500 filed.

Charges of having salted the Coal Creek placer mine in Clackamas County, are vigorously denied by F. J. Richardson and F. M. Swift, who say they were induced to invest money in the proposition by the solicitations of the building five rooms including the office of the principal.

The residence of County Judge Grant B. Dimick on Thirteenth and Main Street, has been improved by the addition of a veranda. Other improvements have been made by the Judge on this place since he purchased it from H. E. Cross.

The Dan Williams Store building on the hill, formerly occupied by the John Adams Store, has been undergoing extensive repairs on partitions built. The store room on the corner of Seventh and Center Street, is now occupied by Emil Nelson, who recently arrived from Portland and has opened a jewelry store.

Many of the old store buildings that have not been repaired in extensive repairs, are now being rented and there is all probability of all of the store buildings in that section of the town that have stood idle for so many years will be again occupied when the Hawley Pulp & Paper Company starts up its new mills.

Step by step the authorities are forcing a chain of evidence around Matthew Janjelic, the slayer of Mary Smrekar. The assassin in his lonely cell at the county jail is silent and patient, a model prisoner, hoping for and expecting nothing.

On Wednesday Sheriff Beattie recovered an identical revolver which Janjelic used on the night of the murder last July. The weapon is a .28 caliber of the Ivor-Johnson pattern, and was purchased from C. G. Miller on the day of the murder.
