Read, has started his home on an adjoining tract, built a barn 40x65, 5 chicken houses and what he calls a temporary house. There has been no ess than $200 worth of improvements

In addition to these places, there are a number of people who have built temporary homes in the way of one or two rooms for a future house, a good harn or large woodshed in which they are now living so that they can spend their spare moments in improving their holdings. Naming over and estimating the cost of these improvements we find James Charles has built a building worth $150; F. De Lashmutt has spent about $250 on what is to be part of his home; Mr. Williams, a plumber in Oregon City, is building a temporary place making improvements worth Wm. Rivers has added five rooms to his home and also porches and outbuildings that are worth $800. buildings and made $100 worth of im-provements. Mr. A. Dull has purchased the home of Mrs. Crandal and the ouse constructed by Mrs. Hinkle, These two places were both built in he past year and could not be duplicated for less than $600. Oscar Thorn has spent $100 in work and money on his four lots. Joe Collins has built a temporary home that with his addional work is easily worth $100. W. Thomas, of Portland, who purchas d A. Dull's former home and also Mr Zook's property, has spent over $400 on these places. Mr. Emery, of Portland, is now living in a temporary place which is worth in improvements

Franklin Clark built a fine barn on he tract of land which he resold to udge Ryan. Mr. Clark's expendiures in cash and work on this place were over $400.

W. S. Hughes and his father have each built homes in West Gladstone These two could not be duplicated for less than $800.

P. G. Wells has moved his house off of the Sacre tract which he sold ecently and spent $100 on this buildng. Mr. Rockwell purchased four lots ecently and has added $200 to his clace. Mr. Rahl is adding two rooms o his place at the probable cost of barn on lots recently purchased that cost about $90.

Mr. Mann is completing a new house that means the expenditure of about $900. Louis Rahl is building a $100 barn on his lots near the river W. H. Miller recently purchased the Howard home from Mr. Tooze, This place had no less than $200 spent on it in the past year. Henry Sallsbury has built fences and made at least $150 of improvements, James E. Smith has spent not less than $100 in work and money papering and painting his home. J. M. Kennedy is spending about $200 adding a new kitchen to his home. Clarence Simmonds has built a substantial barn which he is using for a house until he can build -this building is worth $300. Mr. Ladd has made $75 of improvements on the lots he recently purchased,

Undoubtedly this summary of the year's expenditures does not include all that has been made and it is therefore a safe estimate to say that $75,000 has been spent in Gladstone in the past year in the way of substan-tial improvements.

In the last analysis this only indi-cates to a small extent the increased value of the property of that section. A year ago there were lots that sold as low as $50 in the districts farthest from the tract. Today it is almost impossible to buy lots at $100. From the present indications shown by the sale of lots and the express intentions of the buyers, it is safe to say that there will be $150,000 spent in improvements in this section in the next

Gladstone, today, has a population of over $600 people. The heads and money earners of every household find employment in both Oregon City and Portland. It is almost an un-heard of occurrence to have either a north or south bound car pass through the place without stopping to take on or let off from one to forty passeng-
