DEBS AND HIS THEORIES.

Eugene V. Debs has come and gone. His "Red Special" was greeted by a crowd of men and women, most of whom went to the depot, not with the spirit of a follower or fellow worker, but led on by a certain curiosity to see the man who stands at the head of the Socialist party. As soon as his train had backed on to the side track the crowd was greeted by his band of hawkers who peddled copies of his socialist reasoning. The manager of the short programme then spent about half of the available time pleading with the people for money in the way of gratuitous gifts and then Debs showed himself. His voice was hoarse the natural result of much speaking. He had a pleasing manner, but his following had left him no time for logic. He could only state facts as he saw them through Socialist eyes and make a politician's promise of what he would do for the people.

The synopsis of the facts were thus: The capitalist must be done away with and his definition as there given makes any man a capitalist who, by saving a little money has been enabled to reap the reward of his frugality by acquiring a somewhat easier way of earning a living than his neighbor who has given no thought to the future. His very words make a capitalist out of even the farmer who has gotten far enough ahead to hire someone to help him in his work. Furthermore, he would have us understand that there is absolutely nothing but rottenness in the administration of either the Republican or the Democratic parties.

According to his theory, the big trusts own the Republican party and the small trusts own the Democratic party. We have all lost our liberty. We are nothing but slaves. Our singing of "America" is nothing but a wailing echo of the past generations repeated by us as an antidote for our utter wretchedness.

There is but one remedy for this horrible state. The governmental system of this United States must be entirely changed. The people taken collectively must own everything. When everyone owns everything then there will be no room for envy, no excuse for covetousness. My careless neighbor who wastes his substance will still have as much as I, who am frugal and saving, for as soon as I accumulate a little I am a capitalist, and being a capitalist I am an enemy to the people and must be reduced to the proper financial level.

The idea of financial, social, mental and moral equality is a mark toward which many utopian writers have pointed. It is the ideal toward which all good people who are striving. It is the fundamental idea of the process of evolution. Debs and his following are striving for a financial, and only a financial, realization of this ideal. It must be remembered, however, that we are not perfect. Some have more than the average and some have less than the average amount of intelligence. Some have more than the average amount of money getting ability. Some have more ambition than others. Human nature is too varied to insure for one moment an equality of financial enjoyment. It takes $1000 to give the amount of pleasure to one person that another can have for a One Dollar bill. If we are all reduced to the same financial equality today, tomorrow some of us would be millionaires and others would be begging their bread.

This week's news tells us of a father and husband who killed himself and wife on account of a quarrel over the question of sending their only daughter to high school. The poor orphan is to be pitied more because of the inherited tendencies than the loss of an irate father.

This and next week sees many a boy returning to school wishing that he was a man and many a man watching him and wishing that he were a boy again.

The senior in high school and college this year will just begin to realize that he has hardly made a start in his education and that the little start that he has made is undoubtedly the most pleasant part of the course.

A Checking Account

With a bank is a modern business convenience and those who have never tried it have missed many advantages. We open checking accounts for firms and individuals and supply them with check books so that they can draw against their deposits in favor of other persons without coming to the bank. They thus have all the convenience of having the money at hand without the risk of robbery that there would be if the money was kept in the house.

THE BANK OF OREGON CITY

SOCIETY

A late August wedding was solemnized at noon yesterday, celebrating the nuptials of Miss Eloise Marshall Seate, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Marshall Clifton, of 1069 American Avenue and Mr. Charles Vernon Story, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Story of 854 Cedar Avenue.

The interior of the beautiful Clifton home was simply but effectively adorned with bloom and greenery for the nuptial event. Asparagus plumosus, southern smilax, lilies, asters and carnations were the flowers used to carry out the decorative details.

The bridal room was a lovely bower with delicate vine sprays outlining the walls. The service was read beneath a beautiful cluster of mission bells in which lights gleamed. The whole cluster was enveloped in a mass of white carnations with delicate traceries of greenery.

The hall through which the couple passed to the bridal room was in pink lilies and vines which were especially lovely with the rich dark tones. Ledges were outlined with green and in effective contrast was the delicate pink of the bloom.

In the living room, white and green prevailed as in the bridal room. The simple touches of flowers heightened the elegance of this room which is in dark mission effects throughout. Over the fireplace and mantel, blossoming vines crept in a graceful way. Tall vases of asters were used about and a cluster of snow white asters and asparagus sphrenghi rested on the massive table in the glow of the amber art dome.

At one o'clock Miss Seate and her fiancé came down the stairs, through the low mission arch, and took their places beneath the mission bells. The impressive service of the Baptist church were read by Rev. J. Lewis Smith of this city.

The bride was lovely in a frock of white mull, trimmed in rich gold Calabrian lace. She wore a dainty hat of white and carried white bride roses. The service was witnessed by relatives and a few intimate friends. Following the nuptial service, refreshments were served in the luncheon room which was artistically decorated. The wall tones are in red and the art dome is in crimson. Red hearts were strung from the chandelier to the table corners and tiny red hearts were scattered over the napery and outlined the centerpiece. Masses of green were used about the center.

The attachment which culminated yesterday has been one of long standing and intimate friends knew that the date of the wedding was to be some time during the missummer. The bride is a pretty and attractive daughter of the south, being a Kentucky girl, and of colonial stock. The groom is a native of Oregon. The friendship had its beginning while the two were students in the high school. The going-away suit was of white serge with touches of black velvet with hat to blend. Mr. and Mrs. Story left yesterday for their honeymoon which will be spent in Southern California. They will return to reside here shortly. Some beautiful presents were received, among the bride's gifts being several highly prized heirlooms.—Long Beach, Cal. Herald.

The Tau Pi Sorority Girls of the University of Oregon were delightfully entertained by Miss Edna and Miss Clara Caulfield at their home on Center street Friday afternoon. The afternoon was devoted to sewing, and was followed by a luncheon. The Caulfield home was prettily decorated with cut flowers and vines. Several musical selections were enjoyed. Present were Miss Jean Gray, Miss Grace Gray, of Oak Grove; Miss Vivian Hemes, Miss Gertrude Holmes, Miss Ruth Hanson, Miss Edith Woodcock, Miss Agnes Beach, Miss Helen Beach, Miss Blanche Huston, of Portland; Miss Nieta Lawrence and the Misses Caulfield, of this city.

Miss Jessie Paddock entertained at her home in Gladstone Friday afternoon in honor of her young lady friends who will leave shortly for the University of Oregon to resume their studies. The afternoon was spent in music and guessing contests. Miss Georgia Cross was awarded the prize in the musical contest, and Mrs. Gilbert Charters of Sellwood in the spelling contest. Miss Paddock was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by her sister, Miss Lura Paddock. The rooms were artistically decorated in the appropriate colors, yellow and white, the colors of the University. A luncheon was served, and the place cards were handpainted yellow and white pennants. The following attended: Mrs. Gilbert Charters of Sellwood; Miss Maud Gallagher, Miss Bessie Gallagher, Miss Georgia Cross, Miss Julia Cross, of Gladstone; Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, of Portland.

Mrs. M. McGee was tendered a pleasant surprise party by Mrs. T. E. Hazzard at the latter's home on Thursday from 10 to 12. At 12 o'clock a sumptuous repast was served by the hostess, and the afternoon was spent in cards and music. Miss Carrie Lutz favored the guests with several instrumental and vocal selections. In the afternoon sherbet and cake were served. The house was prettily decorated with flowers, the parlor and living room in red geraniums and roses and the dining room in asters and asparagus ferns. Mrs. McGee, who has been on a month's visit to her daughter, will leave for her home in Nevada City, Calif., on Sunday evening. She was a visitor in this city about four years ago, and while on these visits

CANBY AND SOUTHERN GLACKAMAS.

Barlow on Sunday evening. The machine was being taken by the owner to the State Fair grounds at Salem, where it was to take part in some of the races at the fair. The chauffeur had just reached the top of the Oakley hill, when his attention was called to the burning machine by a passerby, but upon alighting he saw that it was too late, and drove it to one side of the road, where it was practically destroyed, the gasoline tank exploding. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a hot bolt. The machine, which was one of the latest models, was valued at $3,500.

The doors of the County Fair exhibit building are now being constructed and are to be placed in this week. There are still three workmen on the building, who are putting the finishing touches on for the great County Fair. It is probable that the upper floor of the building will have to be finished, as many more exhibitors are to be on hand on October 1 than was at first anticipated by the Association. The floors in the building are of a smooth finish. The fencing has been about completed, and Mr. Coe this week has a few men on finishing this up. Mr. Kesseling, who has charge of constructing the fence, is now engaged on the fence of the building. Great credit is due Mr. Dodge, who donated a day's work, with his crew of men, who are engaged on the building.

Mrs. Mary E. Carothers died Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Carothers was born in Burlington, Iowa, in 1845, and crossed the plains with her parents in 1847, settling on the old homestead, known to all of the old Oregon pioneers as Tom Ward's Butte, near Albany, Lane County. She was married in Grant County to Louis Carothers, who died several years ago. Mrs. Carothers has resided in Canby for the past 19 years, and during her residence here she has acted as nurse, both here and in Portland, and was a woman who was loved by all. She has lived a Christian life since childhood and has borne her three months of suffering with fortitude. The passing away of Mrs. Carothers brings sorrow to all who knew her. The funeral, which was held from the Christian church on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, was attended by young and old. The interment took place in the Canby cemetery, and the remains laid beside those of her husband. Mrs. Carothers has been an active member for many years of the Rebekah Lodge of Canby, and the funeral services of the organization, were held at the grave of the departed member. She was the mother of four children, who are Ira Reed, of Spray, Oregon, Henry Williams, of Fossil, Oregon; James Williams, of Hamilton, Oregon; Victor Carothers, recently of Baker City, but now of Canby. She was the eldest of eight children, being the first in the family to die, and they are Scott and Monroe Ward, of Albany; Morgan and Ortho Ward, of Lone Rock, Oregon; Milton Ward, of Wenatchee, Wash., and one sister, Mrs. S. E. Stuvall, of Canby, recently of Portland; Martha A. Vanhart, of Willwood, Lane County, Oregon.

Mrs. Charles Starbird, of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. H. J. Jasserson, of Kelso, Wash., who have been visiting with relatives here for a week, returned to their homes on Wednesday. The regular services will be held at the M. E. church on Sunday as follows: Sunday school at 10 o'clock; morning service, 11 o'clock; Epworth League, 7:30 P. M.; evening service, 8 o'clock, Rev. Weber officiating. This is the last Sunday of the Conference year, which has been a very successful year.

Mrs. Mader and daughter, of Portland, visited Mr. and Mrs. L. Kyle last Sunday. Clarence Russell and family, formerly of this place, but residents of Coquille, Or., for the past ten years, were shaking hands with old friends here Monday, while on their way to visit his sister, Mrs. Olds, of Mount Pleasant. Mr. Russell saw a panther in the road while coming over the mountains, but dared not shoot on account of frightening his team.

DEBS TALKS AT OREGON CITY.
Socialist Candidate Goes Through on His "Red Special."

Eugene V. Debs, and his "Red Special" passed through the city at 4:55 o'clock Monday afternoon, and remained at the Southern Pacific depot a half hour, and Debs talked to about 200 people from a platform. He was hoarse from frequent talking, and paid his respects to both the Republican and Democratic candidates, stating that the big capitalists were in the Republican party and the little capitalists were in the Democratic. The hat was passed and some money was realized and after Debs had concluded his fiery remarks, the train departed for Portland amid cheers from the assembled crowd.
