

FORCED TO SELL

THE IMMENSE STOCK OF

FRANK BUSCH

OREGON CITY

During the past few days the Insurance Companies have either cancelled their policies or refused to renew them, except at rates that are positively prohibitive, offering as excuse that the risk is so great and the danger of fire is so imminent. It would be folly to attempt to carry the immense stock that is being carried here without insurance. He is therefore forced to dispose of every dollar's worth possible in the next 10 days. In order to accomplish this he has placed his entire stock in the hands of the famous
