PROFESSOR R. A. PEARSON.

Grange Member at Head of Agricultural Department of New York. Governor Hughes of New York state recently appointed Professor Raymond A. Pearson of Cornell Agricultural college as commissioner of agriculture to succeed Charles A. Wieting, whose TENDERED ARECEPTION term of office had expired. This appointment is particularly pleasing to the members of the grange of New York state, in which Professor Pearson is an active worker. He is a member of Forest City grange of Ithaca, N. Y He has done val uable work b the dairy divi sion of Cornel college for the past five years and has been a close student of agricultural life. He was born in Evansville, Ind. In 1873. He prepared for college entered Cornell, from which he graduated in his master of science degree in B. A. PEARSON. 1800 After grad uation he entered the milk business in Philadelphia and was one of the first to control the production of a sanitary milk supply for a large city. He was Hon, J. H. Ackerman, state supering in the milk business one year and then tendent of public instruction, were entered the government service as assistant chief of the dairy division, doing some excellent work under Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson. He went to Cornell in 1903, and under his supervision the department of dairy industry has reached its present high position. To Professor Pearson almost entirels is due the building up of this School." department. His reputation in the agricultural world has been made through hard, consistent work, and his ability is recognized throughout the country. He has always stood for the farmer and has been prominent in state grange work. He has declined numerous offers of positions in agricultural lines in Professor Pearson's new honor will bring with it a salary of $4,000. He will also be allowed expenses not to exceed $500 a year. As an added honor his new position will make him a member of the board of trustees of Cornell university, and he will thus be still closely connected with Cornell. He will also be a member of the board of control of the experiment station at Geneva and of the state fair commission. His term of office will be three years.

A Redundant Word.

The Utica (N. Y.) Press says: The Press never uses the word county in giving the name of a Pomona grange. It is the usual custom to write it Jefferson county Pomona grange, but the Press puts it Jefferson Pomons grange. The reason is that the word county is superfluous.
