The return of the great American fleet after its bloodless but impressive cruise of forty two thousand miles, has been celebrated in Hampton Roads. It is said that mites good has been accomplished. The Orient has been impressed with our naval strength. No like assemblage of powerful ironclads has ever made a tour so extensive. The personnel of the fleet has had experience at sea. The commanders have the aplomb and confidence in themselves, their ships and their men that successful practice alone can give. The vessels have the largest drill, the results of which have not and will not be published, but it is hinted that this practice is such as to have added to the confidence of the navy and of the nation in the ability of our seamen to aim and to hit. On the Fourth of March, several thousand blue jackets will march down Pennsylvania Avenue and will doubtless be received by the thousands of spectators with cheers of admiration and approval.

The pastor of a church in an Ohio town has found it necessary to denounce kissing during services. This is somewhat surprising. There was no such accompaniment to sermons, singing or prayer in our time, but the world moves, or as Cleoro put it "Tempora mutantur," and we must change with the times. The pastor says that the practice of kissing during service is more stimulating and pernicious than alcoholic beverages. We are not surprised to hear it. We have known, however, that in rural communities, the church, or "meeting house," as it is properly called, was not altogether for prayer and praise. It subserved another very human, though not acknowledged function for the display of the best clothes of the parishioners and for flirtation. Human nature is an ineradicable infection. Boys and girls will be boys and girls.

A bill has been introduced in the Kansas legislature to tax all bachelors over forty years of age. Like the bull which the farmer attached to the plow to show "that bull there was something in life besides pleasure" the bachelor should be made to pay for his liberty.

President Roosevelt will engage in exterminating wild animals in Africa during the next year. When he returns he will tell all about it in the magazines and if he is a true sportsman he will most likely render himself eligible for the Presidency of the Ananias Club.

Daniel is the only man who ever lived who was not spoiled by being lionized and though Mr. Roosevelt has escaped so far no one is willing to predict the ultimate effect of lionizing upon him until he has returned from Africa.

The returning fleet had a rousing welcome at Old Point Comfort but even the C. Q. D. signals failed to bring succor in the form of food and beds to the crowd that was there to welcome it.

Senator LaFollette says Senator Hale is "inconsistent." At the White House he would have promptly been elected to the Ananias Club.

Difficulties of Proving Existence of Life After Death.

By WILLIAM T. STEAD, English Editor.

THE recent applications of electricity in wireless telegraphy and wireless telephoning, while proving nothing in themselves as to the nature or permanence of personality, are valuable as enabling us to illustrate the difficulties of proving the EXISTENCE OF LIFE AFTER DEATH.

If Christopher Columbus after discovering America had been unable to sail back across the Atlantic, Europe would, after a time, have concluded that he had PERISHED IN AN OCEAN WHICH HAD NO FARTHER SHORE. If innumerable other voyagers had set out on the same westward journey and had never returned, this conviction would have deepened into an absolute certainty.

Now, let us transport ourselves from the time of Columbus to our own day. The terrors of the unknown world would not daunt forever the intrepid spirits of European explorers. A ship or ships would be equipped to cross the Atlantic. When their crews and passengers landed on the farther shore they would discover that those who were thought to have perished had founded a great commonwealth in the new world.

The newcomers would at once endeavor to UTILIZE ALL THE RESOURCES OF MODERN SCIENCE to enable them to communicate their great discovery to the old world. They would endeavor to extend the use of wireless telegraphy. After awhile wireless message from America might by some happy chance, caught on some seacoast Marconi station.

HOW WOULD IT BE RECEIVED? IN ALL PROBABILITY IT WOULD BE FRAGMENTARY, INCOHERENT AND APPARENTLY PURPOSELESS. IT WOULD BE SET DOWN TO SOME PRACTICAL JOKER OR REGARDED AS SOME RANDOM MESSAGE SENT OUT FROM SOMEWHERE IN EUROPE. AND SO FOR A LONG TIME THE ATTEMPT TO COMMUNICATE INFORMATION WOULD FAIL. AFTER AN INTERVAL A MORE COHERENT MESSAGE WOULD ARRIVE. EFFORTS WOULD BE MADE TO ANSWER, BUT THE REPLIES MIGHT BE SO MUTILATED AS TO BE UNINTELLIGIBLE.

A few cranks who had never lost the faith, traditional and dim, that there was a world beyond the seething waste of waters would go on experimenting, wasting time and money and exposing themselves to the ridicule of the scientific world.

At last, after innumerable disappointments, some method would be discovered of dispatching replies and of receiving answers. At last the scientific world would wake up to the recognition of the fact that a prima facie case had been made out for the strange, almost incredible phenomena that seemed to point to the possibility that there was ANOTHER WORLD BEYOND THE ATLANTIC and that its inhabitants could, by means of wireless telegraphy, communicate with Europe.

THE DIFFICULTIES THEY WOULD ENCOUNTER WOULD BE THE IDENTICAL DIFFICULTIES WHICH CONFRONT US IN OUR QUEST FOR CERTAINTY AS TO THE LIFE AFTER DEATH. BUT, WITH PATIENCE AND PERSEVERANCE AND CAREFUL ALLOWANCE FOR THE OBSTACLES IN THE WAY OF TRANSCENDANT INTERCOURSE, THE EXISTENCE OF THE OTHER WORLD IS SOON ABOUT TO BE ESTABLISHED BEYOND ALL QUESTION OR DUBIT.

LEE AT APPOMATTOX.

One of the Most Notable Scenes in the History of the War. Men who saw the defeated general when he came forth from the chamber where he had signed the articles of capitulation say that he paused a moment as his eyes rested once more on the Virginia hills, smote his hands together as though in some excess of inward agony, then mounted his gray horse, Traveler, and rode calmly away.

If that was the very Gethsemane of his trials, yet he must have had then one moment of supreme, if chastened, joy. As he rode quietly down the lane leading from the scene of capitulation he passed into view of his men—of such as remained of them. The news of the surrender had got abroad, and they were waiting, grief-stricken and dejected, upon the hill-sides when they caught sight of their old commander on the gray horse. Then occurred one of the most notable scenes in the history of the war. In an instant they were about him, bare-headed, with tear wet faces, thronging him, kissing his hand, his boots, his saddle; weeping, cheering him amid their tears, shouting his name to the very skies. He said: "Men, we have fought through the war together. I have done my best for you. My heart is too full to say more." From "Robert E. Lee, the Southerner."

ERROR MEANT DEATH.

Typesetters and Proofreaders on Chinese Paper Careful. China, with all its vast population, boasts not quite two dozen daily papers, but among them are the two oldest papers in the world. The Kin Pan used to be considered by Europeans the oldest paper, but it has been issued a mere thousand years. The Tsing Pao, or Pekin News, was first published 500 years before the Norman conquest and for nearly 1,400 years. The Tsing Pao has the appearance of a yellow backed magazine of twenty-four octavo pages, each page containing seven columns, consisting of seven "characters."

Sickroom Mirrors. "Only a hand mirror should find place in a sickroom," said a doctor, "and it should be one flattering to the patient—the kind, for instance, which if the face is too broad will lengthen it a little. And the patient should only be allowed to look in the mirror at propitious times. Many a patient has been frightened literally to death by his haggard reflection—as looked, sighed and renounced hope. But many another patient in a really bad way—really desperate, too—being given a look at himself just after he has taken a stimulant has bucked up wonderfully. In fact, a sickroom mirror wisely handled is a curative agent, while recklessly handled it may kill."

His Usual Way. The new waitress slipped up to a dapper young man at the breakfast table, who, after glancing at the bill, opened his mouth, and a noise issued forth that sounded like the ripping off of all of the cogs on one of the wheels in the power house. The new waitress made her escape to the kitchen. "Followed out there insulted me," she said. The head waiter looked at him. "I'll get it," he said.
