PROVIDE LOWER RATES.

The ninth week of the tariff Congress was notable chiefly in that it made clear to both the friends and the critics of the bill that Senator Aldrich is in absolute control of the situation, and it is evident that the leaders have a firmer grasp than they had a week ago on every Senator who has been supporting the bill. A review of the tariff situation a week ago demonstrated that the leaders had adopted a policy of making voluntary concessions by reducing rates on a number of articles. This policy was continued last week, and presumably, will be a fea-ture of future considerations of the bill. Most of the amendments which have been offered by the Finance Committee have provided for lower rates, either in specific terms or in changes of classification which effect reduc are grouped in close compass around the Ca cades and Geyser Basin and the flower beds which line each.

A VIEW OF THE COURT OF HONOR, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE. All of the principal buildings of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition

THE HAWAIIAN BUILDING, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE,

The building erected at the Alaska-Yukoa-Pacific Exposition for the exclusive use of the Hawaiian Islands, occupies a prominent position on the Court of Honor next the central government structure.

Hawaiia has prepared a more extensive and comprehensive exhibit of its marvelous resources than for any other world's fair. It will show all of its native fruits and vegetables; will offer an aquarium of live fish, and in various other ways interest the fair visitors. Fruits will be served by native girls and native orchestras and singers will be always. on hand. A tank in the center of the structure will show the islands as they rest in the Pacific Ocean.

THE FINE ARTS PALACE, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE.

Into the Palace of Fine Arts there has gone as fine a collection of works of art as has ever been shown at a world's fair. It is made up of loan collections from Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany and the Eastern states of America. Also there are valuable specimens of work by the leading modern artists of Japan and China, and many of the more notable works of their ancient artists. So valuable is the collection that insurance in the sum of $1,225,000 has been placed upon it with Lloyds.

The building is absolutely fireproof. It is of reinforced concrete and brick and, at the end of the Exposition, it will revert to the University of Washington, by which it will be used as a School of Chemistry.

A SUNNY DAY ON YUKON AVENUE, A.-Y.-P. EXPOSITION, SEATTLE. Yukon Avenue is one of the many ways leading to the Court of Honor of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. It leads from the Cascades down to one of the many entrances to the Pay Streak and directly to the "café center" of the Fair Grounds. On the left of the picture a facade of the European Exhibits Building shows. On the right is a corner of the Palace of Agriculture. In the distance, and across the Cascades, is to be seen the Oriental Building. All of these structures were completed before December 1, 1908. They are of the conventional exposition type of construction-plaster staff over heavy wooden framework.
