FORTY-THIRD YEAR—NO. 26.

OREGON CITY, OREGON, FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 1909.

ESTABLISHED 1854.

REWARDS TO BE OFFERED

ENTERPRISE TO PRESENT EIGHT VALUABLE PRIZES TO YOUNG LADIES.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

Residence Lot, Outing at Seashore, Business College Scholarship Within Reach of Any Who Will Hustle.

Last year the Enterprise rewarded three young ladies by giving them a piano, a diamond ring and a phonograph. This year arrangements have been completed to give away a grand array of prizes than is usually done by a weekly publication.

We have purchased a lot in South Oregon City which is worth $200 at the present time and bound to grow in value. It is a corner lot in a slightly elevated and very desirable neighborhood. We propose to give a clear deed to this building site to the young lady who receives the greatest number of credits during the next few weeks. Every subscription, whether new, renewal or extended, counts for 1000 credits. Any young lady in Clackamas County is eligible. A non-paying coupon will be found elsewhere in the paper, which entitles the contestant to 25 credits. Send in the name of your sister, wife or sweet heart.

Besides giving away the lot also entirely free, we will further reward the popular young ladies of the county by defraying the expenses of a trip of four favorites and a chaperone to the seashore with all the privileges offered by the magnificent Breakers Hotel at Long Beach at their disposal.

No more delightful outing can be imagined than a week or two at the ocean beach. It is within easy reach of any young lady who will devote a portion of her time in the interest of the Enterprise.

The work is going to be easy, for together with the Enterprise we propose to give the Pacific Northwest for three years and also a pair of patent tension shears worth $1. Every subscriber will get more than his money's worth besides helping some young lady friend to receive a reward to be appreciated.

Furthermore, a scholarship in the Behrke-Walker Business College is to be offered as an award. The Behrke-Walker College is one of the best known and most reliable schools in the West and a scholarship in this institution should certainly be highly sought after.

But so that still others may share in the gift giving we will give a $50 credit on a building lot with easy terms arranged for the future payments, and a $25 credit on another building lot with terms to suit.

Nominate someone today for one of the eight prizes.

SHAD HATCHERY AT FALLS.

Half Million Eggs Are Taken Within Three Days.

The United States Bureau of Fisheries has taken 500,000 shad eggs at the temporary station at Willamette Falls during the last three days. Dennis Winnis is in charge of the station and the work is being carried on under the direction of Superintendent Henry O'Malley, who supervises the work of the Bureau in Oregon and Washington waters. If the warm weather continues, the conditions will be favorable for a larger take than last year, when 2,000,000 eggs were received. The Bureau of Fisheries has 200,000 trout fry at the Clackamas Station and there are now being distributed in the various trout streams of the Northwest. The egg take this year at the Cazadero Station totals 3,000,000 and the work there closed last Friday.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF IMPROVEMENT CLUB

PEOPLE OF MOUNT PLEASANT ARE HOSTS AT BOUNTIFUL SPREAD.

The third annual banquet of the Mount Pleasant Civic Improvement Club was given in the Mount Pleasant schoolhouse Tuesday evening. The affair was one of the most successful ever given by this organization, and was largely attended. George H. Himes, of Portland, assistant secretary of the Oregon Historical Society, spoke on "The Oregon Climate," and gave several illustrations of its beauty. Mr. Himes told of several of his friends who had recently left for the Eastern states to make their future home, but longing for old Oregon, had returned to make their permanent home. Judge Thomas P. Ryan spoke on "Publicity Clubs and the Result." He advocated advertising, stating that it was a great benefit. Judge Ryan told of the work of the Oregon City Commercial Club, and the work it is accomplishing. He also stated that every club should have a woman's auxiliary in connection and complimented the women of the Mount Pleasant Civic Improvement Club on the work they have accomplished.

Judge Ryan was followed by J. A. Roman, of Mount Pleasant. His subject was on "Mount Pleasant." Attorney O. D. Eby, of this city, who is treasurer of the newly organized improvement club composed of people residing on the hill, spoke of the new organization. F. M. Swift, promoter of the Oregon City-Molalla railroad, talked on the proposed electric line which is to go through Mount Pleasant. "Horticulture" was the subject of W. B. Stafford, and "The Mount Pleasant Civic Improvement Club, and the Work that has been Accomplished" was given by T. Gilbert Clark.

Following the programme a splendid banquet was served by the ladies of the club. The tables were prettily decorated in green and pink. Caroline Testout and La France roses were used among the decorations in profusion, intermingled with sweet briar, making a very beautiful effect. The toastmaster was S. O. Dillman.

The following committees had charge of the banquet. Programme—Samuel O. Dillman, chairman; Mrs. A. C. Warner and Miss M. L. Holmes; reception—Mrs. S. O. Dillman, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stafford, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hiatt, Miss M. L. Holmes, Mrs. J. M. Warnock; decorations—Mrs. A. C. Warner, chairman; Miss Roma Stafford and Ernest W. Rieger; refreshments—Mrs. J. M. The Mount Pleasant Club has a membership of over 90, who have taken an interest in the welfare of Mount Pleasant and the surrounding country.

RECEPTION TO JUDGE EAKIN.

Commercial Club Entertains Members in Honor of New Jurist.

J. A. Eakin, who was last month appointed by Governor Benson to the newly created judgeship in the fifth judicial district, was Wednesday night tendered a reception in the parlors of the Commercial Club. While the affair was purely informal, it was none the less enjoyable, and about 50 of the leading business and professional men met Judge Eakin, took him by the hand, and assured him of a hearty welcome and their loyal support. The early part of the evening was devoted to cards, billiards, pool and other games. Light refreshments and cigars were provided by the club entertainment committee. President Ryan rapped for order before 10 o'clock and welcomed the guest of the evening in behalf of the Commercial Club. Dr. E. A. Sommer extended the glad hand for the city. Hon. Geo. C. Brownell for the bar, School Superintendent Gary for the County and O. W. Eastham for the business interests. All of these gentlemen made happy speeches and Judge Eakin responded. He was warmly applauded and cordially greeted. Court Stenographer, Knutsen, of the judge's official staff, was also present.

McLOUGHLIN HOME SAVED

HISTORIC STRUCTURE WILL BE PLACED ON PUBLIC SQUARE BY ASSOCIATION.

FIGHT MADE IN VAIN

Judge Eakin Dissolves Temporary Restraining Order and Says Mr. Cross Has No Capacity to Sue.

Circuit Judge Eakin Wednesday afternoon dismissed the proceedings in the injunction suit to restrain the officers of the McLoughlin Memorial Association and Contractor F. S. Baker from moving the historic home of Dr. John McLoughlin, the founder of Oregon City, on the public square at the head of Singer Hill. This was done upon a motion of State Senator Hedges after the testimony for Caleb Cross, the plaintiff, had been introduced. Mr. Hedges moved for a dismissal on the ground that Cross had no legal capacity to sue, in that he had failed to show that he would be materially injured by the structure being placed on the public square. The property of Cross is two blocks distant from the square.

The case was called Wednesday morning on a motion of Attorney John F. Clark to strike out the main portion of Mr. Hedges' answer to the complaint, on the ground that these portions of the answer were irrelevant and not material. This motion was overruled by Judge Eakin and the case went to trial. Testimony for Cross was given by D. C. Baker, M. D. Phillips, M. C. Stirkland and Cross himself and Senator Hedges' motion to dismiss followed. For a time Cross was absent from the courtroom and Mr. Clark, and John W. Loder, who became associated in the case, attempted to make Mr. Phillips a party plaintiff, but this was refused by the court.

Acting under instructions from the officers of the McLoughlin Memorial Association, Contractor Baker yesterday proceeded with the moving of the building and hopes to have it located on the public square within two days. Reports have been heard that an attempt will be made to burn down the structure, and as a result a night watchman has been engaged to keep an eye open for any effort to commit arson.

Judge Eakin went into the case exhaustively and stated that it appeared from the dedication of the square that there is no reason why a building devoted to the public should be placed upon it. Suit was instituted in the Circuit Court Saturday against F. S. Baker, the contractor who is moving the McLoughlin building from Main street to the city park block on the hill and E. G. Canfield, E. E. Brodie, president and secretary of the McLoughlin Memorial Association, to restrain defendants from placing the historic McLoughlin home on the park block, which was given to the city by McLoughlin. Caleb Cross appeared as plaintiff.

Mr. Clark secured the signature of Circuit Judge Eakin to a temporary restraining order, which was served on Contractor Baker. Circuit Judge Eakin Saturday afternoon declined to grant a temporary injunction restraining the moving of the historic home of Dr. John McLoughlin, the founder of Oregon City, to the public square at the top of Singer Hill. He granted a temporary restraining order early Saturday morning, and set the case for hearing at noon, but when he learned that no bond had been filed he immediately dissolved the injunction and later in the day heard the arguments on an application for a temporary order.

State Senator Hedges appeared for the Association, and advanced the argument that no possible damage would result, and that the complaint failed to show that Cross had any right to sue for the public and that the allegations were entirely insufficient. The court took the same view, but intimated that if complaint were filed in which a sufficient showing was made, he would issue a temporary order restraining the contractor from placing the building on the block.

For the third time within two judicial days application was made Monday morning to Judge Eakin for a temporary restraining order to prevent the McLoughlin Memorial Association and Contractor Baker from placing the historic home of Dr. John McLoughlin on the public square at the top of Singer Hill road. The square is officially designated as block No. 40.

Mr. Clark filed an amended complaint, in which the plaintiff, Caleb Cross, states that he and all other citizens of Oregon City have an equal right to the unimpaird, undivided and unobstructed use, occupancy and enjoyment of the public square, where it is proposed to place the McLoughlin home. He calls the McLoughlin an old, unsightly, unsanitary and dilapidated building and says it will occupy exclusively a large part of the square, thereby inflicting irreparable injury and damage to Mr. Cross and many other citizens, and that the owners of nearby property will be damaged, in that their property will depreciate in value.

The McLoughlin home is 20x50 feet, and will cover a space of 1500 square feet. In the public square known as Block No. 40 there is about 25,000 square feet, and it can be readily figured just how much of the territory will be occupied by the building. The proposition to give the home of Dr. McLoughlin a permanent place, where it would be restored and become an ornament to the city has been antagonized from the first. Nearly $1000 has been guaranteed in Portland and Oregon by the friends of the movement, and last week the contract for the moving and renovation of the building was let to Fred S. Baker, who went quietly to work with men and teams to move the structure. He commenced Friday at noon and Saturday night had the building moved down Main street to the park block. It is remarkable that the spot where it is proposed to place the structure was given to the city by Dr. John McLoughlin himself, when the original dedication was made.

Saturday morning in the office of City Recorder Dimick there was filed an initiative petition for the enactment of an ordinance preventing any one from placing any old building on the park block. The petition is signed by 202 names and has been in circulation several weeks. The ordinance will be put up to the voters at the general election in December. However, before action can be taken on the proposed ordinance, the building will be in place and the measure does not provide for its destruction or removal.

The opposition to the removal of the building to the city park block springs from the fact that the structure is in a dilapidated condition and that it will be unsightly in such a prominent position. It is the intention of the officers of the McLoughlin Memorial Association, however, and has always been, to place the historic home of McLoughlin in the same condition as it was when he lived there 60 years ago.
