During the session Mr. Weber illustrated a lecture on Japan with stereopticon views, the lecture being read by Mrs. Henderson, an eloquent list of Philadelphia. The lecture was given in the biology building, and was largely attended. The lecture was interesting and instructive, and was recently given in this city at the M. E. Church.

Mrs. A. N. Brown and two children, who have been camping at Gladstone and attending the Chautauqua, returned home Monday.

The meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30, at the Hosford home.

The grounds belong to the annual Conference as before, but are used as an endowment fund for the superannuated preachers of the Oregon Conference, and may be used for camp meeting purposes. The grounds have been leased to A. J. Burdette, who is going to make a prune and peach orchard out of it, the net proceeds of which will go towards the superannuated preachers.

County Fair Notes.
Work is progressing at a rapid rate on the buildings at the fair grounds. The two buildings, which were recently started by Mr. Dodge with a crew of men, have been completed. The large exhibit building is being painted white, which will improve its appearance greatly. The grandstand will also be painted white. It is understood that the livestock buildings recently completed will be painted dark red or brown. It has been suggested by many of the prominent citizens that the appearance of these buildings would be much better if they were uniform in color, and by having them all white with green trimmings. It would be more attractive to the general public than having a part of the buildings one color and the others another. The underbrush on the grounds near the buildings has been cleared, and it is probable that this year the management will install on the grounds seats for the tired visitors. Last year the people who had come from a long distance had no place to rest. This year there will be plenty of water on the grounds, and there will be no dust. The grass has grown since last year, and this will be kept free from the dust during the three days' session.

Secretary Lee reports that many concessionaires are applying for space on the grounds during the fair. It is probable that the Amos Shows will be among the attractions on the ground. They have made application. There will be a moving picture show, merry-go-round and other attractions that will tend to draw the crowd. Re-admission tickets will be given this year to the visitors. Last year there were complaints of people who had come to spend the day in Canby, were forced to pay extra to return to the fair grounds after visiting the city or taking their dinner at the hotel. By giving out re-admission tickets this will tend to help the hotel people, who go to the expense in preparing for the crowds that attend. One merchant of Oregon City, who brought with him 15 clerks and who wished to go to the hotel for dinner, was obliged to pay again for the entering the gates in the afternoon. The restaurant under the grandstand has been leased to an Easterner, who has had years of experience in the restaurant business. Last year the ladies of the Methodist church served excellent meals, and handled the large crowd that wished their meals on the ground.

George Lazelle, president of the Clackamas County Fair Association; James Smith, vice president and M. J. Lee, secretary, visited the fair grounds yesterday morning and viewed the new buildings and grounds. They were pleased with the work that has been done by Mr. Dodge and his men.

Walter L. Little great junior sagamore of the Oregon Reservation, Chas. W. Kelly, E. L. McFarland and Judge G. B. Dimick, prominent members of Wacheno Lodge, Oregon City, were in Canby on Saturday evening, having come here by team. They attended the meeting of the order at this place, which was held in the Red Men's wigwag. The evening was devoted to business of the order and speechmaking. Judge Dimick, Mr. Little, Mr. Kelly and Mr. McFarland all made excellent talks on the good of the order. There was a good attendance of the Canby Tribe. After the session a potlatch was served which was enjoyed by the Oregon City members. The Oregon City delegation speak in the highest terms of the Canby organization, and say that this will not be the last time that a visit will be paid to the wigwags in that city. The order of Red Men in this city is growing in membership, and is composed of many of the leading men of the city. The Oregon City Red Men who attended the meeting here, went to Oswego Tuesday night where an interesting gathering of the Oswego tribe was held. About 20 members from Wacheno Tribe went to Oswego by steam launch.

The cookhouse, bunkhouse and four cottages belonging to the Doernbecker sawmill about three miles north of Canby, at Coalea Sliding, on the Southern Pacific, were entirely destroyed by fire Monday morning. The buildings and contents are a total loss. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is presumed to be due to a defective chimney in one of the cottages.

Unfortunate Lad Leaves Young Wife and Infant Daughter—Body Brought Here for Burial.

Alan F. Cooke, son of Ex-Sheriff J. J. Cooke, of Oregon City, and head brakeman on eastbound freight train No. 24, was run over and killed near Rufus, about 18 miles east of The Dalles Tuesday night. Cooke was last seen by other members of the crew when the train pulled out of Biggs and was missed when Arlington was reached. The dead man's head was severed and his body was literally cut to pieces, a passenger train which followed the freight also passing over it.

The remains, discovered by trackwalkers Wednesday morning were taken to The Dalles in two small boxes on the local after an inquest had been held at Rufus by the Coroner of Sherman County. Cooke had been running out of The Dalles less than a month, and went there from Portland, where his wife and baby reside at 392 East Eleventh street.

The body was prepared for burial by a local undertaker, and was shipped on the early train yesterday morning to Oregon City.

The unfortunate boy was only 22 years of age and was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Cooke. The latter was in Seattle attending the Exposition. Cooke was formerly in the employ of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co., at Estacada.
