

TREACHEROUS RIVER FATAL

EDWARD CLEVELAND DROWNED NEAR CAZADERO IN THE SWIFT CLACKAMAS.

WIFE REACHES SHORE

Grief Stricken Woman Remains All Night On Bank of Rushing Stream Watching for Body to Rise to Surface.

T. C. Livesay arrived here from Woodburn Friday, having been summoned by the drowning of his son-in-law, Edward Cleveland, near Cazadero. Mr. Livesay was joined here by his brother, Charles Livesay, of Clackamas Heights, and the two started for the place where the drowning occurred to assist in searching for the body, but were met on the way by friends and the wife of the deceased, and the party returned to this city. After a tedious search for the remains of the unfortunate young man, it was decided to wait for a few days, hoping that the body would soon float on the surface, where it disappeared.

Mr. Cleveland was well known in this city, having been employed in the paper mills of the West Side for several years. The distressing accident occurred about six miles from Cazadero, in a lonely location. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland left their home at Crescent Ridge about two miles from this city, on Tuesday afternoon for the Hot Springs on the Clackamas River for a few weeks' outing. They took with them a vehicle containing their camping outfit and two horses.

The wagon they left at Cazadero until their return, but without success, but the horses were taken, one being used as a pack horse and the other a saddle horse, ridden by Mrs. Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland started on their journey Wednesday afternoon, and were directed by a party to take a trail leading to the Clackamas River, which would bring them safely on the north side to the trail to the Springs. Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland started to ford the river, Mrs. Cleveland riding on one horse, while her husband led the pack horse. As soon as the horses started water they started to the deep water, and without being turned, Mr. Cleveland lost hold of his horse and was swept into swift water, while his wife clung to her horse. She was thrown beneath the animal three times, but clung with great strength until the animal carried her safely to the other side of the stream. After losing hold of his horse, Mr. Cleveland called to his wife, saying, "Hold to the horse, Lydia, I am gone!" The horse he was leading swam safely to the land.

The accident occurred about 3 o'clock, and the young wife remained all night in the wilderness where her husband was drowned thinking the body would come to the surface. The next morning she started for aid to Cazadero. She mounted the horse she had ridden the previous day and started across the treacherous stream, and other horses following. Mrs. Cleveland reached the opposite side without mishap and went to Cazadero. A searching party was formed, composed of Ray Eshelman, who accompanied her to Cazadero, J. L. Hewitt and Earl Wagner. The party worked faithfully with grappling hooks, but without success. The work was continued until the finding of the body at a late hour Friday night, by Charlie Loeve, of Portland, and a searching party. The remains were sent to Portland at 4 o'clock Saturday morning, the wife, having gone there Friday with friends, and where she is staying. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Portland.

Mrs. Cleveland was raised near Oregon City, and was married seven years ago to Mr. Cleveland. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Livesay, formerly of this city, but now of Woodburn.

RUCONICH CASE DISMISSED.

Saloonkeeper Released Under Close Construction of Ordinance.

City Recorder Dimick Friday morning dismissed the case against Lawrence Rucovich, proprietor of the Planet Saloon, on a charge of selling liquor to Otis Shelly, of Maple Lane, after the man's family had filed a written notice requesting Rucovich to refuse to give liquor to Shelly. Atorney George C. Brownell argued that the notice was given to Rucovich by James Shelly, father of Otis Shelly, but that James Shelly is not a member of his son's immediate family, as they live separate and apart and both have families of their own. Recorder Dimick took the same view of the matter and after the testimony for the prosecution was in, he dismissed the case. The charter provides that notice, to be effective, must be given to the saloon keeper by the man's immediate family. Otis Shelly is married and has a family.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Oregon City.

Most Oregon City people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs, Oregon City cures prove it.

John Viegula, corner of Fourth and Washington streets, Oregon City, Or., says: "The nature of my work affected my kidneys so that my back at times almost gave out. A persistent, dull, aching, also bothered me very much. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally recommended to me and I procured a box at Huntley Bros' drug store. They quickly relieved the pain, also strengthened my back and kidneys wonderfully. That was some time ago and the good effect has proved lasting. A little over a month ago, we gave Doan's Kidney Pills to our child who had shown a tendency toward weak kidneys and the results were very gratifying. Doan's Kidney Pills are a remedy deserving of the highest praise and have my earnest endorsement."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBride Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

F. Rasmussen, instituted suit in the county court Monday against James Rivers, Mack Rivers and Ed Rivers, sons of the aged woman for non-support of the latter.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen say they have furnished a home, support, care, medicine and medical attendance since the time Mrs. Rivers was taken ill, and that the three sons have not assisted in the support of their invalid mother, and that each of them are able to support her. The plaintiffs ask that an order of the county court require the sons to pay the clerk of the county court $15.00 for their use, and to reimburse the plaintiffs for the care of Mrs. Rivers, and also for an order that the sons pay $75 per month for use and care of Mrs. Rivers during her lifetime.

A short, stout woman will look grotesque, and an average figure should modify the line. Made on proper lines, such a garment will be a success in cotton materials and linens.

The blouse that is closed at the front, yet is not a plain shirt waist, is one which every woman finds desirable. This model allows a choice of the new long, close fitting sleeve and of slightly fuller ones in three-quarter length and also includes the fashionable Dutch collar.
