SOCIETY

Burghardt-Draper. One of the prettiest home weddings that has taken place in this city in recent years, was celebrated Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Mr. William H. Burghardt, Jr., a young business man of Salem, was married to Miss Martha Frances Draper, at the home of the bride's mother on Tenth Street, Rev. A. Hillebrand, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, officiating. There were present only the relatives and some of the most intimate friends of the bride and groom, many of Mr. Burghardt's friends coming down from Salem to witness the ceremony. The Draper home was beautifully decorated in autumn leaves, with festoons of trailing grapes. Yellow was the color scheme and the directing deft hand of the bride was in evidence in the arrangement. The decorations were in perfect taste and one of the most artistic features was a mat of hickory leaves and ferns. The shaded light from many candelabra gave a soft glow to the rooms. Preceding the ceremony Miss Louise Huntley played the Swedish Wedding March and Mrs. Imogen Harding Brodie sang Grieg's "Ich Liebe Dich." The bridal party came down the driveway in the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, with Miss Lulu Draper at the piano. The bridesmaids were Miss Laura Pope and Miss C. Barclay Pratt, the former wearing an empire gown of yellow messaline and carrying a bouquet of violets, while Miss Pratt wore a gown of white lace over yellow satin and carried white roses. The bride was beautifully attired in an empire gown of white messaline, with trimmings of gold thread and lace. Her veil was white tulle, caught up with a brooch of pearls, the gift of her groom. She carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. The bride entered the parlors on the arm of her brother, Harry E. Draper, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Paul Wallace, of Salem. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Burghardt received the congratulations of their friends. Punch, ices and cakes were served in the dining room. Late in the afternoon, just previous to the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Burghardt for Southern Oregon, where their honeymoon will be spent, the bride threw her bouquet into the outstretched arms of her girl friends, and the flowers went to Miss Zida Goldsmith. Mr. and Mrs. Burghardt will reside at Salem, where they have just built a home for their reception. The bride's departure will be a distinct loss to Oregon City's musical and social circles, in which she was prominent. Mrs. Burghardt has lived here many years and her charm of manner and the sweetness of her disposition has won for her hundreds of friends. The wedding gifts of silver, cut glass and china were numerous and beautiful. The fact that Mr. Burghardt, when a resident of Oregon City, lived in the house where the ceremony took place, was a pretty sentiment in the romance of the happy young couple. Mrs. Elizabeth Warner, who is one of the prominent pioneers of Oregon, invited to her home, Locust Farm, a few of her pioneer friends on Friday, who made up a party and made the trip by team. The day was pleasantly spent in telling of reminiscences of the early days of Oregon, and one of the features of the day was the address by Mrs. M. M. Charman, who was chosen by the guests and hostess. In one of the large locust trees is a platform constructed, and Mrs. Charman mounted the stairway which leads to this and spoke on pioneer days in Oregon. Her remarks were greatly appreciated. On the wide veranda a luncheon was served on a prettily decorated table. Mrs. Warner was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Annie King, Mrs. Ward Lawton and Miss Mona King. Mrs. Arthur Warner. After a most enjoyable day had been spent the guests departed for their homes, and came by way of the locust tree stand. Among those who attended were Mrs. H. L. Kelly, Mrs. Mary Barlow, Mrs. Mary M. Charman, Mrs. Sophia Charman, Mrs. Anna Jaggar, Mrs. E. McDonald, Mrs. H. C. Stevens, Mrs. Robert Potter, Mrs. Dan O'Neil, Mrs. C. C. Williams, Mrs. Edward Kellogg, Mrs. W. B. Stafford, Mrs. Ann King, Mrs. Lawton, Mrs. Ward B. Lawton, Mrs. Arthur Warner, Mrs. Watson, Miss Mollie L. Holmes, Miss Ella Williams, Miss Ada Bedwell, Miss Mona King. The Warner home is one of the oldest in the state, the timber of which is all cedar, was brought around the Horn in a sailing vessel in the year 1847, and was constructed for Governor McCarver. The house is on the mission plan, and with its wide veranda, makes it an ideal place to visit. Mrs. Warner came to the state of Oregon in 1850. Her husband, the late Arthur Warner, was one of Oregon City's merchants in early days, he being in partnership with the late Thomas Charman. The first of the Winter meetings of Multnomah Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Wednesday afternoon, and the members of the chapter were entertained at the beautiful home of Mrs. E. A. Sommer on Water street. The house was decorated with Oregon Grapes and cut flowers. A business and social session of the chapter took place and refreshments were served by the hostess. Mrs. Imogen Harding Brodie sang "Douglas Tender and True" (Bartlett) and responded to an on-air. Miss Louise Huntley was the accompanist. Solo Circle. Women of Woodcraft, met last night in the Woodman hall. After the regular routine of business a social time and banquet was enjoyed. The decorations of the dining room were beautiful with autumn leaves, Japanese lanterns and cut flowers. One of the features of the evening was a peanut game, and those finding the greatest number of peanuts were awarded the prize. Mrs. M. Bruner was the lucky one, who also won the prize in the postal card puzzle. An apple biting contest followed, Mrs. L. May winning this prize. Oris Howell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Howell, of this city, and Miss Maddox were married last week in Portland, where they are making their home. Carpet. Of course you want all you can get for your money. Money in YOUR pocket is what interests YOU. We have an overstock of ALL WOOL INGRAIN CARPETS, the best in the market. John Gay's good in Philadelphia. COFFEE "A BEAN IS A BEAN" No matter where you find it, the world over, and this applies equally well to the coffee bean. "But," said the Irishman, "it may be a black bean, which changes the color of your yarn." Which is also quite true. We might go down to the coffee wharves in New York City and buy a sack of raw Brazilian coffee beans, bring them right here and roast them—some just a little, and others from the same bag a dark brown or almost black color, you can readily understand that this would make two grades of coffee from exactly the same beans. One would be mild, while the dark roast would make a pretty heavy, or strong cup of coffee. Then we could mix the two and make a medium blend, so you see coffee is largely a matter of ROAST. We have a full assortment of roasts—light, medium and dark, of the very best known coffees of the world, which are Java, Brazilian and Puerto Rican grown. Tell us the cup you like and we can pretty near fill the bill or we have it put up in a "find out package" containing three distinct flavors of coffee, all for 30 cents. Try Baker's SIESTA, a mild, soft coffee, BARRINGTON HALL, the medium strength, or the VIGERO, a strong black, invigorating coffee, the kind that wakes you up in the morning. Either kind, 40c the pound. SEELEY'S, The People's Store

EILERS STANDS FOR PIANOS

Eilers Piano House sent its representatives to Oregon City to close out the entire line of pianos carried in their Oregon City branch store. We have notified the Portland house that we cannot give up half our store for a piano display during the approaching holiday season. We must have the room for our own business. This is according to the understanding had when the stock of panos was placed with us. We were to have the stock removed by the middle of November. We shall insist that such pianos as are not sold SHALL BE REMOVED FROM OUR STORE. We have been talking piano to many persons throughout the county---have made many propositions and offers. We may not be in a position to carry out our offers but trust those with whom we have been negotiating can do even better than we have offered, BY SEEING EILERS REPRESENTATIVES AT OUR STORE.
