One of the stories Justice Brewer was so fond of telling was used by him to show high regard for the law or Kansas.
Justice Brewer related that a justice of the peace owned a farm in Kansas that bordered on Missouri. One day the justice was sitting on a fence, built directly on the state line, superintending some work his son and a farm hand were doing. The son and his companion engaged in a dispute which ended in a fist fight. The justice of the peace, Justice Brewer would explain, watched the encounter for a few minutes and then shouted in a loud voice:
"Gentlemen, in the name of the law of the state of Kansas and by virtue of my authority, I command you to desist."
"Just then the rail broke," continued Justice Brewer, "and the justice of the peace, Justice Brewer would explain, watched the encounter for a few minutes and then shouted in a loud voice:
"Give him — son — I have lost my jurisdiction!"—Kansas City Journal.
