The old Stevens place has been divided into 4 parts and each part sold and new owners already building thereon.

Jas. Maybee has sold his farm to an orchard man for $7500.

Dave Douglass has put a large force of men on the road from Sandy to Welch Clearing, and they are grading the road, money for which is furnished by the Portland Automobile Club.

The Sandy-Firwood new telephone line is up and as soon as the boxes arrive Sandy will be able to talk with most of the leading adjoining towns.

The Odd Fellows had a big time at their hall, observing the 91st anniversary of its existence in America.

A. G. Bornstedt has sold his residence to C. Junker, who will move it across the street on his property.

Mr. Bornstedt has bought a lot in Junker's Addition, whereon he will immediately build a handsome new residence.

Max Davis is busy with four carpenters building a bungalow on Beers Avenue, which, when completed will be one of the finest new residences in Sandy's first addition.

Mrs. A. Maroney is having plans drawn for a new residence to be built on Proctor Avenue.

Mr. Shattuck of Portland, has purchased two lots and will build a house and barn at once. He has his family here already.

Dr. Witting, our new doctor, will open up his office at once.

The German Lutheran Church has let a contract for building a tower on its church and a three-foot bell will be placed therein.

Charles Caras has lumber on the ground on Main street to build a handsome residence.

Many a woman as sharp as a briar at the bargain counter, has been obliged to confess that she was fooled in the selection of a husband.

The Alleged Humorists.

He—I asked your father's consent by telephone. She—What did he say? He—He said, "I don't know who you are, but it's all right."

Teacher—Jimmy, you look very pale this morning. Are you ill? Jimmy—No, ma'am. Ma washed my face this morning herself.

Frugal North Briton (in his first experience of a taxi)—Here, mon stop! I have a weak heart. I canna stand that bang'ee machine o' yours markin' up those tuppences.

"What did you do in the army?" "Most of the time I was in charge of a squad of men." "On special duty?" "No—they were taking me to the guardhouse."

"Ah, me kind friend, 'tis all I kin do to scrape enough money to even pay for the grab that I git." "Ah," said he of the long black coat, "when you get up yonder, you will have no bills to pay, no board bills at all to worry about." "Aye, aye, cap'n, that sounds mighty good, but how's the grub?"

"What makes the trust magnate look so worried?" "He has just read that the American farmer is very prosperous, and he feels that he must have overlooked something."

Actor—I have been in your company now for two years, and I think it time I had an increase in salary. Manager—All right, you can have the parts in which there is eating.

"With all your wealth are you not afraid of the proletariat?" asked the deliver in sociological problems. "No, I ain't," snapped Mrs. Newrich. "We boll our drinkin' water."

First Boy—Where yer goin' in such a rush? Second Boy (on the run)—Fire alarm! First Boy—Where? Second Boy—Boss said he'd fire me if I wasn't back from his errand in ten minutes.

Old Nurse (to newly married couple after viewing the wedding presents)—Well, my dears, you ought to be very happy. There ain't a think amongst 'em a pawnbroker wouldn't be pleased to 'andle.

Ethel (very confidentially)—Do you know, Clara, that I had two offers of marriage last week? Clara (with enthusiasm)—Oh, I am delighted, dear! Then the report is really true that your uncle left you his money.

Hewitt—It took the suffragette parade three hours to pass a given point. Jewett—Where were so many women in line. Hewitt—Not so very many, but they had to halt every time they approached a dry goods store.

"I am a poor man." "When we are married I can learn to cook." "Hah—n't you—er—better begin practicing," suggested the thrifty sailor, "while your father is yet supplying the raw material, so to speak?"

Mother—Do you think that young man has matrimonial intentions, my dear? Daughter—I certainly do, ma'm. He tried to convince me last night that I looked prettier in that two-guinea hat than in the three-guinea one.

THE COWS.

By Helen M. Richardson.

Into the barn at the close of day The mild-eyed cattle come, one by one; Soberly into the stalls they stray Munching their cud, at the set of sun.

Bess and Daisy stand close beside Switching their tails in a friendly way; Molly and Susan with quiet pride Into their stanchions at random stray.

Maud and Nancy in awkward haste Stumble in turn through the wide barn door; Wandering Gipsy is homeward chased, The last to blunder across the floor.

Swish, swish, swish, into waiting pails, In rhythmic motion of hands well skilled, Splashes the milk, while the nervous tails Flap and flop till the pails are filled.

Then quiet reigns and the cattle rest; Through the dark the barn rat roams unawed, All undisturbed in its midnight quest By Bess or Daisy or mild-eyed Maud.

Hints For Stock Owners.

Dock the lambs early that are to be kept in the flock.

The flock should be turned to pasture early, while there is a short bite, but leave them out only a short time at first.

The change from dry feed to pasture should be made very gradually.

Sudden changes cause indigestion and scour.

A run on the dry fields will be good for the sheep and good for the rye.

The difference in the handling of two colts may make several hundreds of dollars difference when they are offered for sale.

Before turning the young horses and colts to pasture, have the teeth of each one examined by a competent veterinary surgeon.

Defective teeth may retard the growth and development of a colt, causing a loss.

Driving on one rein is usually caused by a sharp tooth or teeth.

Don't yank or whip the horse, but find the cause. It may be a sharp tooth or the harness may be ill-fitting.

Some men whip their horses because they are in a bad frame of mind themselves.

Hogs are waste savers. A farm without hogs has many leaks.

The fall litter should come in early September, if possible; therefore the sows should be bred in May.

Do not put any other stock in the pig pasture.

Cattle do not relish eating after pigs, and colts are apt to injure hogs by chasing them.

Look out for creep holes; the little pigs will find them.

Fortify your wire fence by placing boards around the bottom. The tighter these fit to the ground the better.

Swine learn bad habits easily, and are very cute.

The cows should not be driven faster than a walk while on the way to the place of milking or feeding.

Give the calves a clean lock of bright color or mixed hair every day. You will be surprised how soon they will begin to eat it.

The spring calves should be kept in roomy box stalls the first summer, so they can be protected from the scalding sun and blistering flies.

When the calf is about a month old separator milk can be given with faxseed jelly added. Begin with about two tablespoonsful and increase to a cupful.

This is the month when cows go to pasture through a large part of the country. Give them a good start. Keep them in good heart till they have really made the change from hay to grass. It will pay.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will clear the sour stomach, sweeten the breath and create a healthy appetite. They promote the flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing good digestion. Sold by all dealers.
