Summer Residences Are Being Built Here.

From present indications, Canby is to be looked upon by some as a place for a summer home, and several Portland people are already commenced the construction of their homes, which will be occupied by their families during the coming summer. Among those who have purchased property and are building are H. McCormick, the lumberman of Portland, who had a carload of lumber shipped here this week for his new bungalow, which is to be built on what was formerly the Shank property, 2 1/2 miles from this city. The house is to be up-to-date.

The work on the Brandes bungalow, which is under construction on the Brandes property near the McCormick property, is nearing completion, and will soon be ready for occupancy. The building that was on the Brandes property has been thoroughly renovated, and this will be used by the manager of the farm and his family.

Fine Crop of Logan Berries.
G. W. Kesselring can pride himself of raising some of the best Logan berries that have ever been shipped or brought to the markets. Mr. Kesselring has given his vines careful training, and by doing so he has found that it has been profitable. Two lots are planted in these berries, the vines of which were planted three years ago. Two years ago 1000 pounds was the crop, while last year it fell short, as in many other gardens, averaging 800 pounds. This year Mr. Kesselring will gather over 1200 pounds. The berries are unusually large, most of which measure two inches in length. These berries always command a good price, and are eagerly sought for. The vines are twining on wire, making the picking of the fruit much easier. Mr. and Mrs. Kesselring have 14 lots on their place, and most of this is under cultivation, showing what thrift can do. Mr. Kesselring has recently installed a water system on his place. Pipes have been laid, and by means of the pump of their well, the ground can be easily irrigated. Mrs. Kesselring, a great lover of flowers, has many blooms in her yard that attract no little attention of those passing by this little home.

The child has now attained a weight of 4 1/2 pounds, and is a bright youngster with expressive eyes. It now remains awake an hour at a time, while several weeks ago it lay in a stupor. Everything has been done and no expense has been spared to the pound parent to have the little one live. The child will be able to leave the incubator within two weeks. The lamp by which the incubator has been heated is now not needed. To say that the youngster hasn't strong lungs does not express it, and makes good use when it finds it necessary to do so.
