SUNDAY ENDS BIG STORM CHAUTAUQUA IS COMING

UNUSUALLY SUCCESSFUL SESSION DRAWING TO A CLOSE AT GLADSTONE PARK.

TOMORROW IS FLAG DAY

Last Week Day Program Saturday, With Entertaining Talent of the Platform and Display of Fireworks.

One of the most successful sessions ever experienced by the Willamette Valley Chautauqua Assembly comes to an end Sunday evening. The perfect weather, the exceptional camping facilities, and the attractive programs have brought crowds to Gladstone Park during the last ten days. The attendance yesterday, when Rev. George F. Folk, of Missouri, lectured, was a record. High class entertainment, coupled with rest and recreation, makes the Chautauqua deservedly popular. Saturday is Patriotic Day, with a flag program at the 11 o'clock forum hour. The program for Saturday and Sunday follows:

AUTOMOBILE IN SMASH.

Car of C. B. Hyson Plunges Over Slinger Hill.

An automobile belonging to C. B. Hyson went over the Slinger Hill embankment Monday morning, and materially damaged the machine. Hyson was driving his car up the hill, when the machine became unmanageable, and Hyson lost the car to find out the difficulty. In some manner he pressed the reverse lever and the empty automobile backed off the road and crashing through the rail topped over on to the Southern Pacific tracks. The car was removed just before the arrival of a freight train.

FRED REEF PRICE IS LAID TO REST

FUNERAL OF HERO OF PORTLAND FIRE TAKES PLACE AT OREGON CITY.

The funeral services over the remains of Fred Reef Price, son of the late R. D. Price and Mrs. Price, of this city, who died in Portland Friday, from the burns received during the big fire in Portland, were held from the home of his mother in this city Saturday afternoon, Dr. Holt, of Portland, officiated. Many friends of the deceased of this city and from Portland attended the services, which were very impressive. The interment was in the Mountain View Cemetery, and the remains laid to rest beside those of his father, who died in this city thirteen years ago. The pallbearers were the friends of the deceased, five of them were in active service in the Philippines during the Spanish-American war, when Mr. Price took active part, being a member of Company M, of Hubbard. The pallbearers were Edward McFarland, Theodore Miller, Fred Humphreys, Edward Schoenberger, Charles Burns, of this city, and J. Wells, of Portland. Frederick R. Price was born at Glamorganshire, Wales, February 15, 1865, and came with his parents to the United States when 15 months old. Nine years ago he married Miss Mary Sutherland, at Vancouver, Wash. Six years ago Mrs. Price passed away, leaving her husband and two little children, Iva, who is at present with an aunt at Seattle, Wash., and Margaret, of this city, who is residing with her grandmother, Mrs. Krueger.

Mr. Price was well known here, where he resided for many years. He leaves besides his mother, Mrs. R. D. Price, two sisters, Mrs. Annie Mann, of Smallwood, Oregon; Miss Florence Price, of this city, and three brothers, John Price, of Eastern Oregon; Milton and Calvin Price, of this city.

Suit on Promissory Note.
G. B. Pulley has filed a suit against Frank and Helen R. Davenport and the Troutdale Lumber Company and J. E. Cameron, for the collection of a promissory note. Pulley claims that there is still due $433.35 with interest at 8 per cent since May 28, 1910.

TRIALS GO OVER UNTIL SEPTEMBER

CURTIS HELVEY IS INDICTED FOR MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE.

It is not likely that the criminal cases pending in the Clackamas County Circuit Court will be tried before September. Judge Campbell and Judge Eakin have their hands full this summer, and their vacation periods will be cut short. The most important case to come up for trial is that of the State of Oregon vs. Curtis E. Helvey, who has been indicted by the grand jury upon a charge of murder in the first degree. Helvey has pleaded not guilty and has retained George C. Brownell to conduct the defense. About two weeks ago near Carus Helvey shot and killed George Smith. There were no witnesses to the killing and Helvey now claims the killing was in self defense.

George Patton and L. C. Smith have been indicted by the grand jury, charged with larceny. The former was given an opportunity to obtain counsel to defend him. All of these men are in the county jail waiting trial.

CAPTAIN BARCLAY NOW.

Popular Seafaring Man Receives Deserved Promotion.

Charles Barclay, who was born and raised in this city, a son of the late Dr. Forbes and Maria Barclay, well known pioneers of the state, has just been promoted to the captaincy in the United States Transport Service. Captain Barclay, who has followed the sea over 20 years, and who has been in the transport service for the past nine years, will be captain of the Liscom, the largest inter-island transport steamer in the service. He has traveled the world over, and by his jolly disposition has won hundreds of friends, and is very popular among his associates on land and sea. Many thrilling adventures can be told by him.

RECEPTION AT GARFIELD.

Guests of Grange Listen to Exceptionally Fine Program.

ESTACADA, Ore., July 18.—One of the most pleasing events of the season was a public reception given by Garfield Grange in its hall at Garfield, Saturday evening. A good supper was served at 8 o'clock to about 200 persons. All then assembled in the main hall, where they were treated to a literary and musical program, which was rendered as follows: Vocal solo, Miss Stokes; address of welcome, W. R. Stokes; address, "Ladies and Gentlemen," Dr. H. V. Adix; address, "Athletics in Garfield," A. W. Adix; vocal duet, Standish brothers; Rev. P. Conklin; address, "Wanting an Auto," R. M. Standish; reading, Robert Duncan; address, "Building Up a Community," L. E. Behls; vocal solo, Miss Stokes. The evening's entertainment was under the direction of A. O. Whitcomb, secretary of the Grange. In announcing the programme he introduced each speaker in a humorous manner and made mention for all. Garfield Grange has a large membership of enthusiastic and progressive men, who are doing much to build up their community. Good roads are being built, many fine homes are in evidence, many new orchards set out, and the condition in general indicates a bright future for the community.

J. W. Chase Has Stroke of Paralysis.

James Chase, one of the well known pioneers of the state, who suffered a slight stroke of paralysis last week while he was visiting his son, Iva Chase, at Colfax, Wash., and who was brought home on Sunday, is recovering and is now able to walk. Mr. Chase was in company with his wife who has also returned home.

MONEY LEFT FROM FOURTH.

Balance Goes to Sprinkle Streets and Help Booster Day.

Secretary M. D. Latourrette, of the Fourth of July committee, has prepared an exhaustive report for submission to the Commercial Club, under whose direction the celebration was given. The total receipts from all sources was $2,208.15, and the general expenses of the celebration totaled $1,575.71. From the balance an appropriation of $189 has been set aside for street sprinkling during the remainder of the summer season, and $170.58 will be used to cover a portion of the expenses of some future Booster Day celebration, which may be held this coming fall.

CARLL TAKES BLANKET.

Oregon City Elk Gives Lodge's Present to Grand Officers.

A fine blanket will be given to each of the retiring grand officers and to the incoming officers by the Oregon City Lodge, No. 1189, of Oregon City, Ore. These blankets are all wool, grown and made in Oregon, and the pattern, which is appropriate to the order of Elks, consisting of a series of Elk heads at the top and bottom, with one large head in the center, is being designed by an Oregon Elk. It was designed by an Oregon Elk, and will be presented to the Grand Officers by Dr. W. E. Carll, of Oregon City.—Detroit Free Press.

ASSEMBLY IS CARRIED OUT

REPUBLICANS ELECT DELEGATES TO STATE ASSEMBLY AND ADOPT PLATFORM.

ABSENCE OF HARMONY

Convention Decides to Meet Again July 30 and Recommend Ticket—Anti-Assembly Men Lose Close Fight.

The Republican county assembly last Saturday adopted a platform, elected 55 delegates to the state assembly at Portland, Thursday, and adjourned to meet Saturday, July 30, at 2 o'clock to recommend a county ticket. The delegates are drawn from all of the 42 precincts of the county and were chosen upon the recommendation of the delegates from the respective precincts, upon the basis of their representation in the county assembly.

One hundred and fifty-three delegates were in their seats when Lily Stipp, chairman of the county central committee, called the assembly to order in Woodmen of the World hall. He announced that the first order of business would be the election of a temporary chairman and secretary, and O. W. Eastman, of Oregon City, after referring to the loyalty of the Republicans from Eastern and Northern Clackamas, and expressing his desire to cement party ties, placed John H. Gibson in nomination. J. Harlow, of Milwaukie, nominated E. P. Carter, of Gladstone.

These nominations clearly brought out the strength of the delegates on the question of assembly and anti-assembly. J. H. Revenne, of Sandy, wanted to know how the candidates stood and Mr. Gibson quickly declared his position as favoring the assembly movement. Mr. Carter said he was opposed to an assembly. The roll of delegates was called and the question arose as to the division of the county into precincts. A permitting delegates present to vote the entire strength of their respective precincts, where the sentiment was unanimous. Chairman Stipp upon the committee's ruling and allowed only the delegates actually present to vote and when the smoke of battle cleared away Gibson had been elected by a vote of 56 to 67.

This placed the assembly on record and determined the relative strength. The vote follows:

For Gibson—Gladstone, 4; New Era, 2; Oregon City, No. 1, 6; Oregon City, No. 2, 10; Oregon City, No. 3, 5; West Oregon City, 6; Boring, 2; Eagle Creek, 4; Estacada, 5; Milk Creek, 3; Needy, 6; Canby, 8; Milwaukie, 1; Harmony, 3; Oak Grove, 6; Cascade, 4; Dover, 2; Rainier, 1; Canyon Creek, 3; Mackburg, 1; Clackamas, 2; Gladstone, 1; New Era, 2; Milwaukie, 5; Tualatin, 4; Highland, 3; Harmony, 1; Viola, 2; Sunnyside, 3; Cascade, 2; Oswego, 8; Dover, 2; Marquam, 1; Canyon Creek, 1; Harding, 2; Mackburg, 2; Molalla, 3; Pleasant Hill, 3.

The precincts of Barlow, Cherryville, Damascus, George, Killen, Maple Lane, Springwater and Union were not represented.

Mr. Carter occupied a peculiar position. He was a delegate from the precinct of Gladstone, which had instructed its delegates to favor a county assembly to elect state delegates and to recommend a county ticket.

The instance of J. W. Reed, of Estacada, the following committee on credentials was appointed, and the assembly adjourned until afternoon: John P. Clark, West Oregon City; Ed. Barnett, Eagle Creek; R. A. Wright, Mackburg; Epus Cahill, New Era; L. H. Bentley, Oak Grove.

H. H. Eccles, of Canby, and E. W. Bartlett, of Estacada, were elected temporary secretary and assistant secretary, respectively, and the assembly adjourned.

NEWMAN BRINGS SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

EMPLOYEE OF OREGON CITY LUMBER AND MANUFACTURING COMPANY WANTS $40,000.

Suit for $40,000 damages against the Oregon City Lumber and Manufacturing Company was filed here by August W. Newman, who was formerly employed in the mill. Newman says that on August 6, 1909, while working on the turning lathe, the base of a column that he was turning separated into three pieces, one of them striking his forehead and crushing his skull. He says he will never recover from this injury and is rendered a helpless invalid, as 17 pieces of his skull were removed and he still suffers great physical and mental pain as a result. Newman charges carelessness and negligence on the part of the company, and says the pieces of wood making up the column were not well seasoned or properly glued together. Newman is 43 years of age and is capable of earning $4 per day.

PORTLAND LURES BOSTONIAN.

Aaron H. Gould, Architect, Brings His Family to Reside at Portland.

Aaron H. Gould, who has recently opened an architect's office in the Worcester building, has brought his family to Portland and will make this city his home in the future, says the Oregonian. Mr. Gould formerly lived in Boston, where he was successful in the architectural business, but the West lured him. His brother, A. Warren Gould, is one of the foremost architects in Seattle, and was very desirous that his brother locate with him.

"I made the tour of the cities of the Coast," said Mr. Gould, and decided that Portland offered the best chances for me. I believe there is far better opportunity here than in Seattle, for Portland has just got to the stage of the big things.

"When I find the right location I expect to build somewhere on the Heights, and after that I want to get a place in the country where I can raise some of that wonderful Oregon fruit we used to get back in Boston. I find business is opening well for me here, and I expect to have the same success I had in the East."

Mr. Gould's family consists of his wife, his daughter, Miss Anna C. Gould, and two sons, Aaron H. Gould Jr., and N. Auffer Gould. Until they find a desirable house, they are staying at the Portland Hotel. Mr. Gould has drawn accepted plans for a high school at Oregon City, and is pushing its construction.

SUES PAPER COMPANY.

John Kopacik Wants Damages from Crown-Columbia.

John Kopacik has filed suit against the Crown-Columbia Pulp and Paper Company for $1,999 for damages said to have been sustained while working in the company's mill at Oregon City last May. He was working on a wet machine and stepped on a board that was used as a slip to assist in reaching the machinery. Kopacik says this board was split and broken and when he stepped on it the plank tilted and sprung, throwing him suddenly forward. He put out his hands to keep from falling into the moving machinery and was badly injured, losing three fingers of his left hand. Kopacik charges that his hand has been stiff and useless ever since and he has been unable to work.

Miss Harrington Injured.

Miss Irah Harrington was injured by an electric car at Gladstone Saturday morning, about 8:30 o'clock. Miss Harrington was crossing the track at the Gladstone depot in the act of taking an Oregon City car, when the car from Portland ran into her and threw her heavily to the ground. She was rendered unconscious and picked up and carried into the waiting room. She was able to walk to her home shortly afterward, and although no bones were broken she is suffering from many painful bruises.

THE ASSEMBLY AND A TICKET

The Clackamas County Republican Assembly has come and gone, to reconvene Saturday, July 30, for the purpose of recommending candidates to the voters at the primary election. Before that date every true Republican in Clackamas should analyze the situation, not in the sense that the matter concerns him personally, but in the sense of benefit to his party, and harmony in his party.

Every good Republican should desire first of all party success at the polls next November. Every consistent member of the majority party should work to this end, and harmony is necessary to accomplish this result. Success is not to be obtained through a divided party, and any Republican who will seek selfishly and knowingly to divide his party should not forget that in deciding any new and momentous question the majority should rule, but that majority should be decisive.

Let us go back a little. The Republican county central committee, by a vote of 10 to 9, adopted a resolution to hold a county assembly for the purpose of electing 55 delegates to the state assembly, "and for such other matters as may legally and regularly come before the delegates." The county central committee is made up of 42 members, one from each precinct, and 10 of them voted for this resolution. One man, H. T. Melvin, of Barlow, did not vote. Another, Dr. McArthur, voted for the resolution, but has since come to the conclusion that he was wrong. It is not to be disputed that had the resolution carried with it a declared intention to recommend candidates for county offices, it would have failed of endorsement from the central committee. But a loop-hole was left, and through this loop-hole a resolution was pushed through the assembly, adjourning the delegates until July 30, when they are called together to recommend candidates.

In its issue of June 24, following the action of the central committee, The Enterprise said:

"In view of the feeling that has been engendered by the action of the committee, but a vote of 10 to 9, The Enterprise certainly should not advise that a county ticket be recommended."

The operation of the first county assembly in Clackamas was not a truly edifying spectacle. The dove of peace was not visible. The interests were conflicting, and while the assembly men controlled, they did not control sagaciously for the promotion of party harmony.

No one should deny the Republicans the right to assemble. They have just as much right to get together for any purpose as have the Democrats or any other party. The Enterprise does not question this. It entirely approves of the proposition to send delegates from Clackamas County to the state assembly, and said so in its issue of January 14, when it advocated the holding of a county assembly to send delegates to the state assembly, but could not approve the recommendation of candidates for county offices. This was more than six months ago, and this newspaper stands in the same position now.

If the county assembly should conclude in the face of mighty opposition and contrary to the judgment of hundreds of sincere men, to place a county ticket in the field, The Enterprise will accord those candidates the same courtesies as it extends to those who refuse to become identified with the assembly, and no more. The Enterprise will consistently decline to assist any movement that is calculated to create more factional feeling than already exists. Two years hence the situation may be different—but not now.
