UNION OF GROWERS FAVORED.
Local Fruit Men Willing to Assist in Organization.
Positive proof that some of the most prominent farmers in Clackamas County have taken in the fruit industry, is shown by the way they favor the union of the growers that is now in the course of organization.
Each day growers of fruit and produce call at the office of the secretary in the Commercial Club rooms and encourage the organization of a union of the growers which will build up the industry and by securing the ready disposal of all crops produced place the whole community in a better position. Among the latent fruit growers to join the large list of union men were O. D. Eby and Dr. L. A. Morris. These men are both extensive growers and will be of much benefit to the union.
A union is needed here and it can not be stopped, as more than it could have been in Hood River or any other place where the welfare and interests of the community are at stake.
So by all means if you are a grower of any kind, do not be a laggard and allow your neighbor to push this proposition through for you when you will receive the benefits as well as he. Place your name on the list at least and help by your influence.
