Miss Cross is taking a course at Columbia College at Chicago before returning home. A flat salary for the State Printer was decreed by the voters of the state in 1906, by a vote of 4 to 1, and defeated by Willis S. Dunaway on the floor of the State Legislative session of 1907 and again in 1909. Why continue a graft when a saving can be made? William J. Clark is the popular Republican flat salary candidate pledged to this great reform. (Paid adv.)

ATTEMPTS TO FOOL VOTERS

Poses as People's Man, but Record Disproves His Sincerity

Hofer is 'Shown Up By His Own Pen-Proof of Flopping Candidate

How He Opposed the People's Laws in 1904.

Col. Hofer, candidate for Governor, fought his direct primary law in his paper in 1904. See Oregonian Sept. 1st, 1910 exposing him:

NOW A FRIEND OF THE PRIMARY

Interesting Sidelights on a Certain Campaign for the Governorship.

Some one at Salem has taken the trouble to go over the files of the Salem Journal for the purpose of learning what the eminent editor of that paper, now an anti-assembly candidate for Governor, and an uncompromising champion of the primary law, may have had to say while the primary law was before the people for passage under the initiative in 1904. The results are quite interesting. The following are extracts from the Salem Journal:

June 4, 1904.—The Journal has just as outspokenly and unequivocally advised its readers to vote against all the proposed laws and constitutional amendments.

The direct primary law is a scheme to give a few Republican bosses a monopoly of nominations, wipe all other political parties out of existence and destroy independent voting and the secrecy of the ballot.

June 2, 1904.—The primary election bill will double the election expenses. Kill it. Kill all the freak bills. The state has too many now.

June 1, 1904.—The Journal editor at first was favorable to the U'Ren bill. But closer study of the provisions of that bill revealed that it is loaded and would kill direct nomination if it was adopted. The Journal still fights for the principle of direct nomination but that principle would become obnoxious under the operation of the U'Ren bill.

In the first place, the U'Ren bill takes away existing political customs and rights of the people. The U'Ren bill sweeps away political conventions—county, district and state—but would result in forcing the rule of King Caucus instead.

All the expense of holding the nomination struggles between all the party aspirants would be saddled on the people by the U'Ren bill. Independent candidates would become impossible and the rule of the party boss and the caucus manipulators would be legalized and supreme.

But there is no use talking to the man who wears the green glass party goggles. He wears them from choice. Direct nomination can be enacted by law in the next Legislature without taking away from the people any of their present political privileges and without doubling election expenses.

The U'Ren bill makes a man disclose his political party affiliation long in advance of the primary and election and this puts greater power in the hands of the managers.

May 24, 1904.—The U'Ren bill (direct primary) puts a monopoly of office getting in the hands of the rich, the frothy and the professional politicians.

May 21, 1904.—Only a rich man or a professional politician could get a state nomination under the proposed U'Ren bill. Only a rich man could afford to circulate the petitions in the seven big counties to get onto the state ticket.

Only the professional spellbinder could get the ears of the voters to get the nomination for Governor or United States Senator. The expense of the whole squabble for the office in the Republican and Democratic parties would be saddled on the people.

It would be a snap for the rich politician or the office-seeker who was or the man in office.

Prices Paid by Forty-niners. Here is the price list on the "carte" of the Eldorado hotel at Placerville, Cal., in the days when it entertained the forty-niners. "Payable in advance," it proclaims; "gold scales at the end of bar."

A "square meal, with dessert," is priced at $3, and other items that were probably of interest to the patrons of the Eldorado are set forth as follows: Beef, Mexican prime cut, $1.50; beef, uplong, $1.50; beef, plain, $1; beef with a potato, fair size, $1.25; beef, taine, from the state, $1.50; also two potatoes, medium, size, 50 cents; two potatoes, peeled, 75 cents; hash, low grades, 75 cents; hash, 18 cent, $1; Mexican pudding, plain, 75 cents; rice pudding and brandy peaches, $1.—Los Angeles Times.

Eleven in a Bed. In early Victorian times the workman was accustomed to rough it. Leabell Pyys Mayo in her "Recollections" mentions that one flourishing firm of bakers—patronized by royalty—kept eleven men and had only one bed for them all. During the twenty-four hours they occupied it turn and turn about. One of these unfortunates was generally in Charles Cross hospital, and the "master" not a reputation for generosity by his yearly subscription to his funds.

Very Likely. Albert—A dog that runs under a carriage is called a carriage dog. Is it not? Egbert—Certainly. Albert—Well, what would you call a dog that runs under a motor car? Egbert—Why, a dead one.

Economy of Time. Friend—I say, one of your clocks is slow and the other's fast. Young Lawyer—Yes; I start work by the slow one and stop by the other.—Life.

Discretion of speech is more desirable than eloquence.

SAVE YOUR EYES!

Most people's Glasses are not selected with the care that should be given to such an important matter. Too often they are purchased from peddlers, who know nothing of fitting and frequently do more harm than good.

TESTING THE EYES, with modern scientific instruments is the only method by which accurate results are obtained. That work and the fitting of glasses is done here by a graduate optician, and in every case we can guarantee complete satisfaction. Examination Free.

Repaired while you wait. We can and will repair Watches, Clocks, Glasses and Jewelry while the owner waits, if necessary. As a rule we prefer to have more time. We are then better satisfied as to the quality of our work.

Our repair department is given special attention, and customers can rely upon getting first-class work done promptly.
