An analysis of the vote in Clackamas County shows that six out of the eight candidates for county officers, endorsed by the Republican county assembly were successful, indicating that aside from the legislative ticket the Republicans generally paid little attention to the question of whether the aspirants had been endorsed by the assembly or not. Those who were endorsed and who were successful were:

County Judge, John F. Clark; commissioner, Nicholas Blair; sheriff, E. C. Hackett; treasurer, James A. Tufts; coroner, Dr. Thomas J. Fox; surveyor, D. T. Meldrum; Justice of the Peace, W. W. H. Ramson; Constable, George A. Brown. Mr. Jones and Mr. Carter stated the successful candidates could do no less than line up for the entire ticket. The harmonious feeling among the Republicans of Clackamas county points to the success of the Republican ticket from Governor down to Constable.

J. M. Cummings Interred.

The funeral of the late J. M. Cummings, who died at his home in Gladstone, was held Sunday from the Cummings residence. Mr. Cummings was a native of Canada and was 73 years old. For the past 29 years he has been a resident of Clackamas County. He is survived by three sons, William, John and Robert.

BROWNELL TO BOLT ASSEMBLY NOMINEES

FORMER REPUBLICAN SENATOR DECLARES HIS ENMITY TO BOWERMAN.

George C. Brownell, for 12 years state senator from Clackamas county and who has three times been honored with election to that office by the Republican party, will refuse to support Jay Bowerman for Governor, and will bolt all Republican nominees who were endorsed by the assembly, save those who were presented with the endorsement without solicitation. Mr. Brownell takes the high ground that he fought the assembly through the primary campaign and that if it was wrong then, it is wrong now and that the only way to effectually kill it is to defeat the assembly Republican nominees. It is probable therefore, that he will come out openly and make a fight against Mr. Bowerman and other Republican nominees who were in any way identified with the assembly.

Successful Candidates for County Offices in the Republican Primaries

W. A. Dimick, State Senator.

Linn E. Jones, Representative.

John F. Clark, County Judge.

E. C. Hackett, Sheriff.

Lloyd E. Williams, Recorder.

CANDIDATES STAND FIRM

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES AGREE TO SUPPORT STATE AND COUNTY TICKET.

PRIMARY FIGHT OVER

Men of Clackamas to Line Up For Nominees From Top to Bottom.

The candidates for Republican nomination who were successful at the primaries last Saturday in Clackamas county will line up for the entire Republican State and County ticket regardless of any family trouble in the party ranks before the primary election. There is a general disposition in Clackamas county for the Republicans to get together for the entire ticket, regardless of the primary fight, and County Judge Dimick, who made a fine race for governor and who received more votes in Clackamas county than his three opponents, is the first to come out in support of Jay Bowerman, the Republican nominee for governor.

Walter A. Dimick, who was nominated by the Republicans for State Senator, and Linn E. Jones and E. P. Carter, the successful candidates for Representative, when interviewed, declared their intention to support the Republican ticket from top to bottom. M. A. Marone, the third successful candidate for Representative, was out of the city, but it is believed he will follow the lead of his running mates. "I believe the Republicans should get together and work for the success of the ticket," said Mr. Dimick "but the Republican party or any part of that party of this state must not try to knife Statement No. 1 with the election of United States Senators by the people. The people of this state have said on three occasions that they want this system of election of United States Senators. The people of this state have fought for it for three years and they mean to keep it at all costs. I shall not flinch one inch on the stand I took upon this line in the primary campaign and I propose to fight for it in the future. I believe the nominees should let the people know where they stand on these principles. I never have knifed the Republican ticket and I do not propose to begin doing it now."

Mr. Jones and Mr. Carter stated the successful candidates could do no less than line up for the entire ticket. The harmonious feeling among the Republicans of Clackamas county points to the success of the Republican ticket from Governor down to Constable.

CIRCUIT JUDGE J. U. CAMPBELL, who was renominated without opposition and who will succeed himself in November.

Dr. Thos. J. Fox, Coroner.

SON REPORTED KILLED.

Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Given Scare By A Telephone Message.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ladd were given a terrible fright Friday when someone telephoned Mrs. Ladd that her son had been run over and killed on his way to school. Mr. and Mrs. Ladd rushed to the Barclay school

W. L. Mulvey, Clerk.

Militiamen Complimented.

"I take pleasure in complimenting the men of Company G on the excellent condition of their rifles," said Major F. W. Settlemeier of Woodburn at the quarterly muster and inspection of Company G, Third Infantry, O. N. G., Monday night. A large percentage of the guardsmen were present. The dress uniforms were worn that night, but except on formal occasions this winter the men will wear the olive drab uniform.

Football Days Are With Us Now

THE MOLESKIN KNIGHT AND COUNTY FAIR ARE ON THE ROSTRUM, WHILE THE HUNTER SIDESTEPS ANGRY FARMERS.

OCTOBER.

O. T. Roosevelt has come back to the West. Of all the Rough Riders his luck was the best. He rode from Dakota to San Juan Hill, and he found him the Spaniards he wanted to kill. Shouting, "Into 'em Teddy, An' into 'em hot!" And the men of Granada Went down in a heap. He rested his broncho and fed him his fill, and then he rode yelling up Capitol Hill. He wasn't expecting or asking a thing, but he landed right in the political ring, shouting, "Into 'em Teddy, and into 'em plump!" and the poor politicians went down in a lump. He watered his pinto and fed him some oats, and then remounted and hunted for goats. He found him some people who didn't agree. With all of his notions, and gave a whoop-pee. Yelling, "Into 'em Teddy, An' into 'em hot!" And he knocked them all into The pitiless bot. He hobbled his charger and gave him some grass, and then he went after someone in his class. He put up a lion with blood in his eye, and he clapped on the spurs with a terrible cry, saying "Into 'em Teddy, an' into 'em hot!" and the lion passed on to his final reward. He breathed his good mustang and looked him around, but further adventure was not to be found. So he pulled up his trousers and pulled down his vest, and slowly rode back to his old-time West. Shouting, "Back to 'em, Teddy, An' back to 'em proud!" And they gathered about him And solemnly bowed.

Its present place in the calendar, and the football season will revert, and the center rush will pay the dirt. He'll wake the natives with his roar and howl for victory and gore. The piled-up dying and the dead will mass against his butting head, and he'll spin the planet in his rage just like a squirrel in his cage. Alas for those who calmly sit devising to denature it, and all the college renegades who think to temper it for maids! The students and the teachers howl, and the rooters and the bleachers yowl, and damned be he who does not rise and kill somebody twice his size. The acroplanes will cruise the air above the old-time county fair, and the lucky winner will be he who wins the best two falls in three. The farmer in his limousine will tool around upon the green, and the hired man will seize the chance to wear his other pair of pants.

the pheasant will intone his drum upon the sad and drowsy wind in the solemn manner of his kind. The booming frog will sniff the breeze and fall to digging on his knees, and the hunchback cake will take a crack at this fool thing of coming back. It may be Jeffries and his strain are never quite themselves again, but the pickled pig's foot and the rest are always equal to the test. They never dissipate a bit, but spend the summer prime and fit, and let the frost succeed the dew, and they're there, you bet, as good as new. The doughty oyster on his shell, the brittle looking strong and well, and clear and resolute of eye, the hardy brands of winter pie. The applebutter, juice and flake, the same that a mother used to make, and the crackling of our youthful lot the cook and captain of the pot.

Until the 23d of the month, October will be under the influence of Libra, the Balance, which is the seventh sign of the zodiac. This will enable everybody ruffling for office to keep on the fence pretty well as to the real issues of the campaign, but when the sun passes out of that constellation on the following day they will begin dropping on one side or the other and it will be easier to make out who the true friends of the people are. After the 23d we will be influenced by Scorpio, the Scorpion, which is almost meaningless now, but in early times typified the manner in which the north wind stung the old Greeks, who were in the habit of going until very late in the season without having on any year to speak of, either over or under.

A bit of Fall is as nice a thing

As I know anything about— When the pumpkin is ripening, And the time is opportune for kraut, When the hunter sets his trappings out, Awakened by the time of year, And the farmer, furious without, And hot within, begins to shout, "Get on-a-out of here!" "Get on-a-out of here—dabblane your skin!" Ah, that's the proper time to sigh— When the squirrel gets his doodles in Against the winter by-and-by. When the bending reaches of the sky Are very soft and very near, And the farmer, with a watchful eye, Begins to hop around and cry, "Get on-a-out of here!" "Get on-a-out of here—you blanky-blank!" Ah, that's the season of them all— When winter hangs upon the flank Of the wild goose passing in the fall. When the plaintive quail begins to call Across the golden fields and see, And the farmer bursting from the tall With wags and bonds begins to bawl "Get on-a-out of here!" The melancholy days will come, and

The softer weather will defy

The blandishments of June, And the month will give us by and by The officeholder's moon. A chop will cost four bits a pound And beef a buck a bit, And the wolf will wear a groove around The cabin every night. The 48th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus will be celebrated on the night of the 14th by the seven Guggenheim brothers. Mr. Roosevelt will be stage manager again this month. The villain will be the Pemon Run. Mr. Bryan will be the father of the stolen child, and Mr. Cannon, who made the password Hell last month, will change it to read Hell-!

And then November will return

With cold and chilly draft, And the wild goose going down the line With Winter biting aft.

COUNTY FAIR "BEST EVER"

FOURTH ANNUAL OPENS ITS GATES WITH EVERYTHING FULLY PREPARED.

BIG CROWDS ATTENDING

Every Department Has Fine List of Entries, Comprising The Very Best Produced in Clackamas—Races are Good.

With a large list of exhibits in every department, fast horses on the track and in large crowds in attendance, the fourth annual Clackamas County Fair opened yesterday morning at Canby under most promising conditions, and the "Best ever" prediction is well carried out by those in charge. All arrangements were completed, and all signs of preparation were removed when the big gates swung open to receive the throngs of visitors from all parts of the county.

On Tuesday, horses, livestock and exhibits commenced arriving on the grounds continuing until late Wednesday afternoon. The big Pavilion, where several business houses are represented as well as granges and organizations of the county have exhibits beside the fine display of fruits, vegetables, fancy work, etc. is well filled. The interior of the building is prettily decorated with the national colors and other bright colors which blend beautifully with the evergreens and autumn leaves. The grounds, where queen Ora is stationed, is formed of the national colors. She has chosen as her attendants the following young ladies of Clackamas county: Miss Leah Smith, Macksburg; Miss Olga Howe; Barlow; Miss Huffman, New Era. The throne of the queen is on the second floor, but is so arranged that the visitors on the lower floor may view the queen and her maids.

During the past two weeks President Smith has been on the grounds with workmen constructing buildings and cleaning the park of rubbish. E. M. Morris, of Macksburg, was superintendent of the construction. Two long livestock and poultry buildings were constructed this year. A machinery hall has also been built on the grounds. Last year, it was necessary to use part of the pavilion for machinery, but as the space in that building was at a premium the office of the Association found it necessary to erect a building for the accommodation of the companies exhibiting machinery.

Never before was there a better display of the rosy cheeked apples than at the fair, which compare favorably with the renowned Hood River apples. Many of the prominent fruit growers of Clackamas county who are making a success of raising fine apples, have taken quite an interest in this year's fair and have brought many of their best apples. A. J. Lewis, of Maple Lane, R. S. Coe, of Canby, and G. U. Waldron, of Clackamas Heights, have exhibits of apples that are attracting no little attention by the hundreds of visitors.
