STRAIN OF THE CANUCK.

The attitude of Oswald West, the Chamberlain-Bourne machine candidate for Governor, two years ago when James Withycombe, of Corvallis, was the Republican nominee for Governor, and his position now, can hardly be harmonized. Four years ago West was one of the Chamberlain Democratic boosters who waited all over this State and told the people that Withycombe was English born and used that fact as an argument why Republicans should vote for Chamberlain, and the Republicans did.

Now Mr. West, who was born in Canada, and who did not take out his naturalization papers until he reached the age of 27 years, finds himself in a peculiar position. If the people take his advice of four years ago and vote for an all-American Governor, then how can they vote for West? The out-cropping of the Canuck strain in West is not fancied by loyal Republicans, who will not allow themselves to be influenced by the nefarious combination of Jonathan Bourne and George Chamberlain.

The friends of Grant Dimick, in Clackamas County, are going to resent the friendliness of the Bourne people to Hofer in the primaries. Dimick was the first man in the State to come out for the gubernatorial nomination. He stood firm for the Direct Primary Law. He did not go into the Republican Assembly, and he had a perfect right to expect the support of the true followers of the Direct Primary Law.

Did he get it? The vote shows. Thousands of Bourne votes went to Hofer, and they were directly influenced by the Oregon senator, the man without a party, who hoped to split the Republican party in the primaries to such an extent that West could win from the plurality nominee. This was a smart game and it has worked so far. It has been successful in landing Bourne and Chamberlain in the United States senate. We admire the nerve of the men, and especially of Bourne, who has the audacity to claim Republicanism as his party, while bolting the head of the ticket, and who is trying to tear down the Primary Law in order to elect his Canadian creature to the Governor's chair.

Will the people of Clackamas County stand for it?

BOWERMAN FOR DIRECT PRIMARY.

It has always been the history of the Republican party, under whose guidance and control this Government has become the greatest in the history of the world, that the majority within the party has always decided the party principles and the party creed.

September 24 the Republicans of Oregon, at their primary election, decided that the direct primary, which includes Statement No. 1, or the election of United States senators by the people, is irrevocably a party creed and all believers in Republican principles and doctrines will accept the decision of the party as such.

Regarding the primary, Jay Bowerman, Republican direct primary nominee for Governor, has repeatedly said: "I have always stood with the primary law. I have had opportunity after opportunity to alter it but when ever it becomes necessary to amend, alter or repeal any statute written upon the books by the people it must be done by the people themselves, and I will not stand as a party to the amendment unless the people desire it."

Mr. Bowerman, in a public address delivered at Salem on the night of October 9, at which Colonel E. Hofer, president, and State Senator Dan J. Mallarkey and Thomas B. Kay were also speakers, said: "The Republican party shows a disposition to stand together now more than it ever has before in the history of the State. It is practically a unit except for one man who holds an office as a gift of the people and this man's attitude is absolutely untenable. The only reason why the senator from Oregon does not wish to support me is because he desires to use the Governor's office for his own purposes."

"I have been at the state house for six years and I invite the closest scrutiny of every portion of my record. If I am elected, I assure you that I will make every exertion to fulfill every promise that has been made."

Irrespective of party, voters are prepared to voice their disapproval of the wholesale scheme to create new counties by voting "no" on every county division and annexation plan on the ballot at the November election. There are no less than eight separate and distinct propositions and none has anything to commend it, save a desire on the part of residents of small towns to live at a county seat. The practice is a dangerous one, and should be promptly and effectively punished. The counties of Lane, Douglas, Clackamas, Washington, Umatilla, Crook, Grant, Harney and Malheur are affected by the proposed schemes. The boundaries projected are atrociously planned. If the new counties of Nesmith and Williams are created, Lane will be left in the shape of a big hour glass and its choicest territory cut off.

Senator Bourne, in a published interview recently, advised Republican voters of the State to support West, the Democratic nominee for Governor, in preference to Bowerman, the Republican direct primary nominee.

The course on the part of Bourne can only be construed as a repudiation of the direct primary law—the very same law under which he was nominated and elected United States senator. If the direct primary law was such a good thing in 1906 when Bourne received the popular vote for senator and was elected, why should not the nominations made under the same law this year be entitled to the same support from the Republican voters of the State? This latest attempted feat of political legerdemain is entirely too transparent to fool the Republican voters of the State. It will not work.

It is a noteworthy fact that Senator Bourne has made no response to the open letter of Jay Bowerman, Acting Governor and Republican direct primary nominee for Governor. In his letter, Mr. Bowerman very frankly pointed out the duplicity of Bourne and specifically alleged that the combined efforts of Bourne and Chamberlain to elect West, the Democratic nominee for Governor, was only a step towards perpetuating the Bourne Chamberlain machine in this State. Will the Republican voters of the State longer allow themselves to be deceived by such self-appointed dictators as Bourne and Chamberlain? We think not.

The Lane County Apple Show, to be held at Eugene October 20, 21 and 22, under the auspices of the merchants and the Commercial Club of that city, promises to make a fine showing of Willamette Valley apples. A long list of prizes has been arranged and there is no fee for entries, of which there will undoubtedly be a large number. Lane County is growing apples that would be hard to beat anywhere, and the visitor to Eugene on the above dates will see these Valley beauties in their perfection.

LARGE MAJORITY CERTAIN.

W. L. Mulvey Has Practical Experience for Office of County Clerk.

W. L. Mulvey, who was nominated by the Republican party by a large majority, and who for the past three years has held the position of deputy County Clerk, is a man who has at-ways given the business of that office his strict attention. He is obliging and efficient, and his practical experience there especially fits him for the office, which is one of the most important of the County. His past record there has fully demonstrated his ability to perform the duties incumbent upon the County Clerk and he will no doubt be elected by a large majority at the coming election.

CHICAGO LAWYER DEFENDS LIQUOR

CLARENCE DARROW SAYS MOVE AFFECTS MAN'S LIBERTY NOT FINANCES.

SHIVELY'S THEATER IS CROWDED

In Well Delivered Address, Spiced With Many Witticisms, Home Rule Association's Stand Is Defended.

Declaring the prohibitionist to be a good man, who, unknowingly, was trying to deprive others of their liberty, Clarence Darrow, the celebrated Chicago attorney Sunday night addressed a packed house at Shively's Theater. He spoke against state-wide prohibition and in favor of the Oregon Home Rule Association.

Darrow denied the White Ribboners' oft repeated charge that nearly all of the crimes committed are caused by liquor, and instead, said that the majority of them may be laid at the door of poverty and want. The only sensible way, according to the speaker, to stamp out crime, is not to attempt to suppress the liquor traffic, but to give everybody a chance to earn a decent living.

He contended that the question is not one of a financial nature but one which affected the liberty of mankind. "A free man, perfectly able to transact business," said Darrow, "certainly ought to be allowed to select the food and drink he desires without having to wait for a town meeting to decide the matter for him. Of course, if he orders for himself, there is a possibility that he may select some article that may not be beneficial to him. However, if he must have only what others select for him, he is liable to consume a number of articles that are not good for him. If man is free, he certainly ought to be allowed to choose what he wishes to eat and drink without being dictated to by others."

Throughout his address, Darrow interspersed many witticisms, and kept an enthusiastic audience in the best of humor all evening.

E. C. Hackett has been a part and parcel of Clackamas County for all his life, and has assisted in the up-building of the same and is a worthy son thereof. The Republicans have selected him at the primary as their candidate for Sheriff, and thus say that he is entitled to the support of the people and of all loyal Republicans.

He is qualified to fill the position, having served as chief deputy for the late J. R. Shaver, and having experted the books of the County several times, and once for the State.

He is a believer in our Direct Primary Law and would like to see all servants of the people elected by a direct vote of the same, and commencing with our President and coming on down to Constable. The office of Sheriff now requires a man of some experience and ability and Hackett is the man who knows how. If you consider the matter seriously, you'll find it to your interest to vote for him.

STAFFORD.

We have had some ideal days with a soft smoky atmosphere like the Indian summer of some of the favored states of the middle west, and we have had just enough rain, mostly at night, so that hired men can rest.

All farm produce brings a good price, and we favored ones of this country, where there is an abundance of fresh fowl and fruit, can but wonder how poor people live in the big cities.

Our reporter last week did not return with his budget of news, until after the items had been sent off; therefore we failed to chronicle a few of the happenings of the week before.

Among them was the delightful surprise party given to Miss Julia Weddle, upon the eve of her departure. She is teaching at the Brown school house below New Era, and we sincerely join with her many other friends in wishing her a pleasant and profitable year.

Speaking of surprise parties, the very cap-sheaf of them all was given to Mrs. Gage last Monday evening, when neighbors to the number of 35 or 40 appeared at her door, demanding admittance. They played games, visited and had a grotesque wedding, the couple, who were old school mates at the Stafford temple of learning, being married by the old Levitical law. At midnight a bountiful lunch, provided by the visitors, was served, and all departed to their homes wishing their hostess many pleasant returns of the day, it being her seventy-fifth birthday. Mrs. Powell presented her with a beautiful hand-bag of alligator hide, trimmed with gun-metal, and Miss Isabel Miller brought her a pretty burned wood handkerchief box and many very pretty were the birthday cards received that night and during the week following.

Mr. Gus Gelhardt has not returned from Alberta yet, and he may be a full-fledged Englishman by now. Private letters from there say the crop was almost a failure the past year, as the rains descended just at harvest and rotted a good share of the wheat, but if everything is "conserved" for the future generations, the present generation will have to migrate somewhere.

Jack Schatz went over the line of the Pacific States Telephone from Gage's to Willamette last week, and the bells, which have been silent for months, have resumed their merry clang, which we all enjoy as we rush to rubber at their call.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Seedling has been quite sick, but at last accounts was on a fair way to complete recovery.
