"Ladies Night" was inaugurated at the Oregon City Commercial Club Tuesday night, and the affair was so successful that evenings of this order will be features of the present winter. Two hundred people were present at Tuesday night's entertainment, and a delightful evening was enjoyed by all. HUCKLEBERRIES MIX IN A DIVORCE CASE

The Circuit court for this county, like all other tribunals of justice in the state, gets its full quota of unusual surnames, but it remained for Hon. Grant B. Dimick, as attorney, to add the one needed to complete the gamut. The Huckleberrys are the principals in the case, Minnie Huckleberry seeking a divorce from David E. Huckleberry. The couple were united in Indiana in 1897, and four small Huckleberrys grace the family tree, or bush. Mrs. Huckleberry charges her spouse with treating her in a cruel and inhuman manner, and says he has a very jealous disposition. In the complaint, she charges that she has done everything possible to make home life happy for her husband, even taking in washing to help support the children, but all of her efforts were of no avail, as he deserted her three months ago. Mrs. Huckleberry asks a divorce and the custody of the two youngest children.

TO THE VOTERS OF OREGON CITY, OREGON. Having announced myself to be a candidate for Mayor, at the election to be held in Oregon City on Monday, December 5th, I wish to say that I was born in Clackamas County, Oregon, in 1859, and lived on a farm until I was nineteen years of age, then I moved to Oregon City and learned the blacksmith trade, which I followed for six years, after which I was in the livery business for seven years under the firm name of Cooke Brothers. I was engaged in the grocery business for a short time, and in 1891, I bought into the hardware business with R. D. Wilson under the firm name of Wilson & Cooke. In 1898 I was elected Sheriff of this county, and in 1900 re-elected. Should I be elected to the office to which I aspire I will use every effort to give this city a good clean business administration. J. J. COOKE. (Paid Advt.)
