

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a pallor check, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of successful use. There is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

EASTERN CLACKAMAS

SANDY.

Sandy is still on the boom. The nearer the Mt. Hood Electric Road advances to Sandy the bigger the town and surrounding county grows, and the old moss back is looking with amazement on all around them, causing them to scratch the moss off their backs so that today the sun of progress shines where it never shone before.

P. T. Shelly has a large force of carpenters at work building the latest business building in town, which when completed will be occupied by a barber shop.

Mr. Shelly has a handsome bungalow building, which is not complete.

J. R. Maroney has a force of carpenters at work building a residence on Meinig. He will probably erect two more houses this summer.

Mrs. Dora Dahrens, Sandy's fashionable dressmaker, will erect a handsome residence costing several thousands of dollars.

Sandy grange will build a big new hall this summer.

P. R. Meinig has started work on the foundation for his big new store and will move the old building and remodel for a furniture store.

The new bank building is completed and ready for business, a handsome building and a great improvement to the town.

Real estate is moving at a lively rate. Many home seekers seem to find Sandy and as a rule make their home with us. From the way the town builds up, Sandy will have 500 people before 1912. Hurrah for Sandy.

A new addition on the Sandy bluff has been added to Sandy in town lots and acreage on the old Phalen place, which is now open. This some day will be the well residence section of Sandy. It has a most slightly location overlooking the Sandy river and valley and the Cascade Mountains. Also east of Sandy is Cedar Creek park, a new addition and an admirable place for summer homes.

The roaring of the blasting and the snorting of the big steam shovels and pounding of the pile driver keeps up day and night on the Mt. Hood road and a stream of laborers among work, and going to and from night and with the many saw mills running full blast makes things exceedingly lively about Sandy.

The Mt. Hood Electric Railway Co. has begun work on a tunnel under Backbone Mountain. Its a mile long, and will convey the water of the big Sandy River into the little Sandy River and hence in a monster flume to Bullrun Lake or dam.

St. Patrick day was gaily and profitably observed by all the farmers gathering in town to listen to a most instructive lecture given by different professors of Oregon's greatest school, The Oregon Agricultural College, on horticulture, floriculture and agriculture, which was most attentively listened to by a large crowd of farmers. It would have been much bigger had it been advertised more, a good many didn't know about it until it was over with. These lectures should be offered, as a great amount of good is done by such meetings.

Sandy Grange held a rousing meeting, the afternoon session being an address by county superintendent Gary.

Sandy Odd Fellows will have a big initiation Saturday, March 25th. All Odd Fellows are requested to be present.

Sandy Commercial Club is doing something every meeting that reflects honor to its members. One of the best ever done is that of having 500 pamphlets printed with numerous illustrations and descriptive write-ups of Sandy.

Something doing at Sandy every minute. Next will be a "market day," which will take place in the near future. F. Lohman, W. Talmage and P. T. Shelly compose a committee appointed by the Commercial Club to push the undertaking. Here it will be possible to buy anything from the store of hay to a piano or sell as you like it.

C. Junker and P. Dolzer will establish the third saloon in Sandy.

O. Dahlgren is busy building a fence around his lots.

Rev. Read, of Sandy M. E. church, is holding singing school every Tuesday evening at the church. Every body is invited to attend and take advantage of first class instruction in vocal music.

Martin Mickelson is busy clearing his acre tract and will soon build a house. Looks like Martin will need a cook when his new home is done.

Chas. Prehs, road boss, is busy with a force of men fixing up our roads. Something that makes everybody smile.

Work will be resumed on the Mt. Hood auto driveway from Sandy to Mt. Hood. Good many hundreds of dollars were spent last year and the same will be done this year and every year hereafter until this road will be one of the best and greatest scenic auto driveways in the west.

P. T. Shelly has gone to Hood River on business.

Pete Dolzer has gone to Oregon City on business.

Frank Langersand has been on the sick list.

The store formerly conducted by Geo. Ketch in the Odd Fellows building has its doors closed. An attachment was filed against him. The store is now for sale, an ideal place for a store and the right person can't help but make money.

A Request for Assistance

TO THE PUBLIC:

The stockholders in the Stone oil well, owned by this company, have put many dollars into the work of drilling for gas and oil at Stone. This has been done for a two-fold reason. The men investing have hoped to strike oil or gas, or both, in paying quantities, and to make a good thing of it. It has been the belief that there was oil or gas, or both, in paying quantities and to open up the territory meant not only the benefit of those who first found a paying well, but a good to the whole community as well.

With the first idea in view the stockholders in the company have invested liberally and the work already accomplished attests the liberal expenditure of the money raised. The well is down 1050 feet, and the drill is still sinking into the earth. But with the disappearance of the drill into the earth there has come the disappearance of most money also. As a result the company has nearly reached the end of its paid in capital, and consequently the end of its search after treasures in the earth. There is but one way to continue and that is to get more capital.

Those who have considerable money already invested do not wish to see the work stop and intend to take more stock in an effort to keep the drill going down until oil or gas, or both, is found in paying quantities. But to do this it is now asked that those who have not yet invested take a little stock to keep up this search until it is known for certain whether or not there is oil or gas in quantities sufficient to pay.

The par value of the stock of the company is one dollar a share. Stock has been sold at 50 cents on the dollar in the past. But now that the well is so nearly completed, and the desire is so strong to know for certain what is in the ground at that point, the company has set aside 50,000 shares of this stock which will sell at 10 cents on the share, in sums of not less than $5, the company reserving the right to at any time withdraw the stock not sold from the market—which will be done once oil is found. This puts the buyers on the same basis as the original stockholders—otherwise it lets them in on the ground floor.

This is the time to come in and assist in a worthy cause—the determination as to what is in the ground to a depth of 2000 feet at the Stone oil well. You are invited to make a small investment, which will not distress you but in liberal numbers will aid the company. This price will be maintained—nothing to the contrary occurring—up to April 5, the date of the annual meeting of the directors of the company.

Come in and aid in this development of the country. We have a good plant, up to date, and it is costing us but little to do the work that may make for wonderful development in Clackamas county.

Five dollars will aid us a little, $50 will aid us more—and a few business men in the county will not miss the larger sum, while there are scores who can afford the lesser. The plant is being operated at a close figure so that you can feel secure in the fact that your money will be economically invested, and the most possible accomplished in making an investigation at this point. A few dollars for a last effort is often the very thing that saves the day and makes for a handsome profit. If we are successful it will be nothing to pay $50 for one, and many instances are on record of an hundred and even a thousand.

Please think this matter over and see if you do not think it is worth the risk of a few dollars to know whether or not there is gas or oil at Stone, where we are drilling to find out. Prospects are good, for we have found both gas and oil, and at several depths. We are in hopes it is there in paying quantities and that we will strike it just right before we are forced to quit.

These services will continue through the week and will be concluded next Monday evening, March 27, when the service will consist of illustrated songs, a stereopticon being used, and more than two hundred pictures will be thrown on the canvas. A small admission charge is being made to help defray the expenses of these meetings.

Oregon City people testify.

Here's one case of it:

Theodore Huert, Park Place, Oregon City, Ore., says: "I found Doan's Kidney Pills to be just as represented and I consider them worthy of endorsement. For a long time I suffered from lameness across my back and there was a steady ache over my kidneys. The trouble was not severe enough to lay me up but it caused great distress, especially when I stood or lifted. On a friend's advice, I was finally led to use Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Huntley Bros' Drug Co., and they removed every symptom of my trouble." (Statement given January 27, 1906.)
