O.A.C. MAN TELLS HOW TO KILL GARDEN PESTS

BULLETIN ON SPRAYS TO SAVE VEGETABLES AND FLOWERS TO BE ISSUED.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, May 19.—

Ways to control the common pests of the vegetable and flower garden are described in a new bulletin which is in preparation for publication by W. F. Wilson, assistant entomologist at the Oregon Agricultural College.

"The nearest approach to it was in 1903, when the monthly mean temperature was 1.2 degrees higher. The mercury dropped below freezing nine times during last month. In previous years it has not fallen below the freezing point more than three times. The minimum, 25 degrees, is 3 degrees colder than any in the past 13 years.

"At 6:30 p. m. on the 12th the dew point, as determined by the wet and dry bulb readings, was 32 degrees, and the hard freeze the morning of the 13th was not unexpected. Frost may be expected when the dew point is found to be within about 5 degrees of freezing at 5:30 p. m. and the other conditions are favorable to frost. Seven degrees below freezing is about the extreme amount that might be combated by smudges, but it is possible that damage might have been prevented in some cases had smudges been used.

"Peaches are reported to have suffered most, while cherries and other fruits were injured in certain localities.

"The total precipitation for the month was 3 inches, a departure from the normal of .15 inches. The greatest rainfall in any 24 hours was 1.05 inches. The deficiency in the normal rainfall for the year to date is 3.92 inches. The snow which fell was the only April snow in the past 13 years.

"There were 13 clear days, 6 partly cloudy, 11 cloudy days, and 9 days on which the precipitation was .01 inch, while the prevailing winds of the month were southwest.

"The monthly mean temperature was 46.5 degrees, a departure from normal of 2.5 degrees. The highest temperature was 89 degrees, on April 23, and the lowest, 25 degrees, on the 13th. The greatest daily range was 45 degrees, on the 23rd. The dates of heavy frost were April 2, 5, 12, 13 and 14."

WILSON INDORSES "OREGON SYSTEM"

DISTRUST OF LEGISLATURES IS CAUSE OF DESIRE FOR NEW ORDER.

PEOPLE DEMAND PURE GOVERNMENT

New Jersey Executive Says No Man Is Big Enough To Decline Nomination For President.

PORTLAND, Or., May 18.—(Special)—

Woodrow Wilson, governor of New Jersey and the new Democratic leader, at a banquet at the Commercial Club tonight endorsed the "Oregon System." He, however, said it needed practical testing.

Governor Wilson said the suspicion in which legislatures are held was the cause of the demand for the initiative and the referendum.

The New Jersey Governor made a public address in the armory tonight and was given a reception at the Press Club. He leaves tomorrow night for Puget Sound.

Governor Wilson was met upon his arrival in Portland by a committee consisting of Harvey Beckwith, president of the Commercial Club; State Senator Ben Selling, State Senator A. Miller, of Linn county, who is also on the national Democratic committee, A. L. Fish, W. J. Hoffman, B. O. Snuffer, W. A. Montgomery and others. He was accompanied by his secretary, Frank Stockbridge, and McKee Barkley, a political writer.

Governor Wilson was taken to the Hotel Portland by the reception committee. There he talked about progressive, pure government.

"In the East I am counted intensely progressive," he said smilingly. "In Oregon I am not so sure."

"But I am a great admirer of the Oregon system. It is proving a model for other states. Whether all other states will adopt the Oregon form I doubt, but the principle, I am convinced, will extend to all, as it has already extended to a few. The adoption of the form of government used in Oregon in other states is largely a question of expediency. The principle is the restoration to the people of really representative government."

Governor Wilson went on to say that his tour has opened his eyes to a very wonderful condition of affairs in the United States.

"The people are getting back to representative government. Never before was there such a popular awakening. Progressiveness need only to come forth in the name of pure government to gain sweeping victories. Party questions are no longer first questions. The country is growing together as never before. The marvelous thing, too, is the way some of the once obstructionists, called 'interests' and by other names, are coming around. They are doing this not only because they have to but because they recognize the necessity.

"No part of the country is afraid of anything constructive.

"After telling how he has promised himself the Western trip for a long while, how alumnus of Princeton first invited him, then others as he came into political life, Governor Wilson went on to say for himself:

"It may seem a little strange to hear a man of books speak as I do. You are expected to lay hold of theory to the expense of the practice. But I am shy of theories—impatient of them. Facts alone interest me. It is not now a national question as to theory. Any method that will work, that will restore representative government to the people, that will gain independence from the sinister combination between politics and the business world, will be accepted. That may not be the Oregon method but it will assuredly be the Oregon principle which is the principle of all pure, representative government. 'The people are out to get the goods; the method remains to be seen.'

Governor Wilson did not attempt at any time during the interview to answer evasively any question involving governmental issues or his own attitude before the people.

Concerning the prospect of his being the next Democratic candidate for the presidency of the United States he said:

"I think no man should be so important as to seek the nomination. I know no man big enough to refuse the nomination if offered."

He did not speak with full approval of Oregon's recall of judges. He said he believed that the recall could be obviated by the use of the short ballot, letting the governor appoint the judges as is done in New Jersey, where the system has been found extremely satisfactory.

"You hire a man to tell you what is the law. He does tell you and the information doesn't sit well on your stomach. Should you then discharge the man? Better make the law right; change the law rather than recall the judge."

CHARLES F. WALSH SOARS EIGHT MINUTES AND SIXTEEN SECONDS—CONTROL PERFECT.

WIRELESS CALLS FOEMEN TO ARMS

Kinks To Be Rubbed Out of Arms, Charley Horse To Be Given Colic Medicine, and Then —The Big Game.

PORTLAND, Or., May 22.—(Special)—

Rising from the ground with the ease and grace of a gull, Charles F. Walsh of Los Angeles, made a successful aeroplane flight at the fair grounds near Rose City Park this afternoon, flying for three and one-half miles at the rate of nearly a mile a minute.

The flight took place shortly after 2:30, and was witnessed by a small crowd of spectators who enthusiastically cheered the daring young aviator when he successfully and with hardly a jar brought his machine to earth and alighted from the seat.

The machine used was a Curtiss biplane, and is one of the three used by the Pacific Aviation Company, who will give an exhibition of flights in the northwest, today's being one of the preliminary flights.

The exact time for the flight of three and one-half miles was three minutes and 16 seconds.

Shortly after the first flight, he again rose, making long swings to the east and west, coming down after 8 minutes and 16 seconds, which breaks the seven minute Portland record made by Hamilton.

WIRELESS CALLS FOEMEN TO ARMS

THE BASEBALL SUPREMACY OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY SO FAR AS THE PROGRESS OF THE TEACHERS ON ONE SIDE AND THE LAWYERS, MINISTERS AND PHYSICIANS ON THE OTHER IS CONCERNED IS TO BE SETTLED ONCE AND FOR ALL.

The baseball supremacy of Clackamas County so far as the progress of the teachers on one side and the lawyers, ministers and physicians on the other is concerned is to be settled once and for all. From time immemorial, or ever since this county was given a place on the baseball map—and that was some forty-five years ago—the teachers have been anxious to meet the lawyers, physicians and ministers on the diamond, and members of the last three named professions have been just as eager for the fray, but always something has happened to prevent a meeting of the clans. Now, however, in the words of one J. Caesar, who was a good bridge builder, could fight some when occasion demanded it, or otherwise, and wasn't a bit too modest to leave to posterity a carefully written history of what he had done, "The die is cast."

The teachers through their doughty leader, Superintendent Gary, believing it possible at this time to marshal their full strength, and relying to some extent upon the twisters, fade aways, spitters, disappearers and what not, of one of the leading followers of pedagogy in Clackamas County—Slevog, by name—on Saturday in secret conference—the lawyers would say in chambers—and there and then boldly, fearlessly, yes, even defiantly declared that the time had come, the physiological moment as it were, when the fell blow must be struck. And from that conference, which it is declared will mark an epoch in baseball matters in this part of the country, came a challenge to the lawyers, ministers and physicians to get their willows ready, have the kinks rubbed out of their arms, give old Charley Horse a dose of colic medicine, and come forth in the open to defend themselves, their professions, their reputations, on the baseball diamond at Clatskanie on July 4, when the Chau-tauqua begins.

There is a suspicion among some of those who were challenged that the teachers planned a coupe d'etat, which means, in this particular instance, a ride to championship honors without a struggle. In other words it is hinted that the challengers had an idea that their boldness and the suddenness with which they struck would cause in some quarters in the rank of the enemy, and before the line could be re-formed the game would be declared forfeited. But the gentlemen who are employed to train the pliable minds of the young, retrained without their host. They little dreamed that the professions challenged virtually numbered among them men who were in the great national game and saw the first curved balls sent whizzing over the plate. H. E. Cross, for instance. They little dreamed that there were men here, who in the halcyon days of baseball, had their praises sung throughout the width and breadth of the great State of Oregon. So hardly had the challenge been sent upon its way before there was such an uprising as has not been known since old Chief Bravenom was used to summon his Braves for an expedition, or Rhoderick Dhu used to cause men to rise up out of the ground by tooting his whistle.

C. Schuebel—some ball player himself, on to all the latest wrinkles and systems anyway. If propinquity means anything—as the first to hear the messenger's clarion voice proclaiming the challenge, and forthwith the aforementioned and said Schuebel, being one of the party of the second part, sent a wireless message to every lawyer, doctor and minister in the good old County of Clackamas, with instructions to send by wireless their answers at his expense. The message conveyed the information that the teachers had challenged, and it urged every member of the challenged professions to prepare for the fray. Mr. Schuebel was so anxious, so enthusiastic, and so determined to have a full representation that he closed his message with a quotation, or a medley of quotations, in fact, that one P. Henry and one W. Scott might recognize, if they were present. The quotation or quotations were as follows:

"I know not what other gentlemen may wish, but for myself this rock shall fly from its firm base as soon as I."

As the golden sun peeped over the horizon in the East, bringing into being a glorious Sabbath day at a secluded spot in the environs of Oregon City gathered a band of determined men. Never since the days when the pioneers fought back the savage red men has the county had an assemblage of men with sterner countenances, with more of the determination to do and to dare written upon their faces than this one. Almost all the lawyers and doctors hereabouts composed that august and important assembly and, it was whispered, that several of the most prominent residents of the county had been invited and upon motion of Dr. Fox, who declares that he will be on hand at the required time to hold the inquest over the teachers, Gilbert L. Hedges was made captain. The motion was carried without a dissenting voice, and inasmuch as Mr. Hedges is pretty well informed as to all of Mr. Blackstone's curves, it goes without saying his team will be one of the best ever called upon to do battle with a foe in this county. After the sustaining of a few demurrers, the quashing of several motions, and some maddening and intemperate talk to say nothing of the performing of a few surgical operations of a parliamentary nature by the learned physician, Mr. Hedges was instructed to issue a challenge. Then those present, folded their tents like the Arabs and silently stole away, so to speak.

Mr. Hedges' challenge is as follows: "On behalf of the lawyers, doctors and ministers, we accept your chal-

PARKPLACE WINS DEBATE CONTEST

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE DECIDES TO PROTEST AGAINST OREGON CITY.

PROFESSOR JAMES, HOWEVER, ERRED

BOY KILLED BY GUN DRAGGED FROM BOAT

THIRTEEN-YEAR-OLD COMPANION MAKES FUTILE EFFORT TO SAVE LAD.

MANY OREGON ACRES READY FOR ENTRY

PART OF LAND IN NEW IRRIGATION DISTRICTS—SECRETARY ISSUES ORDER.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(Special.)

The debating team of the Parkplace High School was declared Saturday night by the Executive Committee of the Clackamas County School League to be champions of the league. The decision was on the protest of Superintendent of City Schools Toose against Parkplace being declared the winner, on the ground that Prof. H. M. James, principal of the Estacada High School, had used his influence as head of the debating department of the Clackamas County School League to deprive the Oregon City High School of an opportunity to take part in the race for the championship.

The decision was rendered by three members of the Executive Committee: Brenton Vedder, T. J. Gary and L. C. Durward. The following is the decision:

"To the Oregon City High School: Regarding your protest against the treatment accorded your school by the authority in charge of the Debating Department of the Clackamas County School League, the Executive Committee finds as follows:

"First—That the visit to Parkplace by two members of your debating team on the evening of March 3d, 1911, was, according to the rules of the State Debating League, a dishonorable act."

"Second—That such act, although dishonorable, was, according to eminent authority, not sufficient reason for countermanding the debate of March 10, between your school and the Estacada High School.

"Therefore the debate of March 10, should be forfeited to the Oregon City High School, if there were no extenuating circumstances. Prof. James maintains that on March 5th Prof. Toose voluntarily relinquished all rights to compete for championship honors, but Prof. Toose claims that such rights were not relinquished. As these men are both of high repute, and its appearing that there is a grave misunderstanding, we do not feel competent to render a decision on this point. This may not be law, but it seems to us to be justice.

"Third—That the head of the debating department of the League had no right to render a final decision until your protest had been decided by the Executive Committee.

"In conclusion, as Parkplace has acted in good faith, we think, notwithstanding the various irregularities, that the championship should be awarded to that school.

"Signed "BRENTON VEDDER, "President. "T. J. GARY, "L. C. DURWARD."
